JERSEY VOTE

Northern Portion of State Is Battle Ground of Hoover and Smith

HUDSON-CO SUPPORTS AL
Newark Also for Governor but Essex-co Will Declare for Hoover

Newark, N. J. — Northern New Jersey is the true battleground of this state. Two counties — Essex and Hudson — will decide the issue.
Essex includes this city, which will go for Smith, but the county will not. Hudson will go overwhelmingly for Smith.

The problem is merely one of discovering how much Hoover will get in all the counties outside of Hudson. For if he comes to Hudson with 100,000 majority, the vote in Hudson may wipe out his chances of carrying the state.

Preliminary surveys and comparisons of the figures of the rival campaigns would seem to indicate that Hoover is going to carry practically all of the south Jersey and central Jersey counties but by a reduced vote over that of four or eight years ago. He should get a substantial majority in Essex, which includes the Oranges and the large commuting population whose interests and inclinations are those of the pro-Hoover business and financial district of New York City. But how much will Hoover get in Essex and will it swell his margin sufficient to help overcome the vote in Hudson?

On paper, taking county by county and discounting the relative weakness of Hoover as opposed to Coolidge or to put it another way, taking full account of the increased strength of Smith one finds the Republican nominee coming to Hudson with about 185, 000 majority.

SURPRISE LIKELY
Hudson may give Smith as high as 125,000 and there are some who figure it at 150,000. Thus it will be seen that New Jersey is close. A state that is going to have its electoral vote decided by a majority of 75,000 or thereabout, when ordinarily it has been running from 200, 000 to 300,000, may furnish a surprise.

The surprise, of course, would be Smith's capture of the electoral vote. For he surely is going to have a moral victory in reducing a big Republican majority Whether he can get the electoral

Columbus, O. — (AP) — From Ohio's capital, Senator Curtis, the Republican vice president nominee, Friday hurried back and forth to several circles on the second day of his campaign in that state. He came here early Friday from Akron and before starting on the day's swing had an engagement to attend a woman's meeting.

Leaving Columbus after lunch, Senator Curtis was to go to Cedarville by special train, then by motor to Clifton and perhaps Yellow Springs. Returning again to Columbus, he was to visit Mr. Vernon for a night meeting.

Smith Ready For Tilt In Vare State

Labor or Foreign Relations May Be Subject of Philadelphia Address

New York — (AP) — Governor Alfred
E. Smith set Friday aside to confer with party chiefs and to collect new ammunition to be hurled verbally at his Republican foes.

The Democratic nominee also arranged to give a last look to the speech he has prepared for delivery Saturday night in Philadelphia, the home city of William S. Vare.

The governor has not disclosed the subject of this address, but it may be upon either labor or foreign relations as he has announced that both of these questions will be touched upon between now and election day.

The nominee's drive into Pennsylv-vania, normally one of the citadels of Republican strength, will be one of the few times in recent national campaigns that the Democrats have made a determined bid for the 33 electoral votes of the Keystone state — a political plum coveted by both parties.

CHEERED BY CROWDS
On his trip through Rhode Island and Connecticut, the nominee was the center of a yelling throng in every city, town and hamlet through which he passed, either on board his special train or in an automobile parade. The tumult and the shouting began on his way to the train in Boston.

An hour out of that city he detained at Blackstone, Mass., and traveled by motor through one crowd after another until Providence was reached.

Once through the jam in Providence, where he passed through storm clouds of fluttering paper, the nominee greeted audiences from the rear of the train until Hartford was reached. Here there was another parade; another paper storm; more cheering people; and a throng so thick at the station that a dozen or so newspaper correspondents were left behind. The nominee's train, however, backed back and picked them up.

SCHWAB SEES GOOD BUSINESS OUTLOOK Favorable Sentiment Despite Presidential Election, He Declares

New York — (AP) — Charles M. Schwab in an address Friday before the American Iron and Steel Institute, of which he is president, declared the United States "as a whole is still in the high tide of prosperity and prospects for the immediate future are exceptionally favorable."

"The unemployment which existed in some measure a month ago has lessened," he said. "Workers generally are now fully employed and at good wages. The relations between labor and management were never more harmonious, due to the new attitude of cooperation and conciliation existing on both sides."

"Business sentiment is good. This is particularly reassuring in view of the fact that we are to elect a new president in the United States within two months. It indicates that there exists little apprehension as to the results of the election and their probable effect on business."

SALOON AT MILL CENTER

Green Bay — (AP) — Sweeping down upon a well-filled dance hall, with an equally well filled bar, adjoining federal prohibition agents
Thursday night raided Kropp's
"Place of Mirrors," on Highway 29, near Mill Center, and arrested Philip Kropp, proprietor, and his son, Alvin Kropp, 18, in whose name the license was issued. A quantity of alleged illicit liquor was seized.

Kropp and his son were arraigned Friday morning, and their hearings set for Oct. 31. Drinking was freely in progress when the half-dozen more agents entered, according to their story, and the bar was doing a rushing business.

When the identity of the new victims became known, consternation prevailed among the many guests, but only the two Kropps were arrested.

SMITH PARTY SEES MOVE AS
G. O. P. TRICK

Proposed Action on Grounds of Illegal Registration in Al's Territory

Newark, N. J. — (AP) — Forty thousand and registrants in the election districts of Hudson and Essex-cos Democratic strongholds, Friday faced the prospect of having their names stricken from the voters rolls on the ground that they were illegally registered.

Proposed action against them was announced after the decision of the New Jersey Supreme court Thursday upholding the constitutionality of the state law which gives to superintendents of elections the right to strike from the lists the names of citizens they believe to be illegally registered.

The law giving the superintendents such power was passed by the Republican legislature early this month, vetted by the Democratic governor, Harry Moore, and re-passed over his veto.

FOLLOWING INVESTIGATION
The act was the outcome of the investigation of Hudson-co conditions by the case legislative committee which is still under way. Hudson is the home of Frank Hague, mayor of Jersey City, vice chairman of the Democratic National committee and long a power in New Jersey politics.

Democratic leaders interpret the action as an effort to defeat Governor Smith. They say that the redaction of names from the lists means little as time is so short before election that only a small part of the 40,000 will have an opportunity to be heard. They also have asked an investigation of the registration in Atlantic City, one of the strong Republican cities where 76 per cent of the estimated population is registered.

Prosecutor Louis Repetto of Atlantic-co, has charged that children too young to go to school, persons long since dead, parrot, cats and dogs have been registered. He is moving to have over 2,300 names of voters stricken from the list.

MOVE TO TAKE PLUMMER CASE TO DANE COUNTY

Madison — (AP) — Attorney for Walter Plummer, ousted sheriff of Winneba-go-co Friday served a writ of certiorari on Governor Fred R. Zimmerman, under which the removal case against the sheriff will come into Dane-co Circuit court.

The writ, compelling the governor to certify reasons in the case to the court of Judge A. G. Zimmerman sisted several reasons for Plummer's belief that the governor acted without authority in removing him. He was ousted after charges of malfeasance and misfeasance in office had been filed against him by Frank B.
Keefe, district attorney of Winneba-go-co.

The writ held that the governor's decision was erroneous for the reasons: because of the petition of Mr. Keith was not verified; because the governor had no jurisdiction under the law to issue a commission to Herbert Piper, Milwaukee attorney, to investigate the case; because Piper was not permitted to submit his conclusion and findings to the governor;
because the governor had no authority to remove the sheriff and was unauthorized by the statutes.

MINISTER GETS WORK AS FREIGHT WALLOWER

Milwaukee — (AP) — The Rev. William Irving Blair, pastor of Grace Presbyterian church, who went to New York recently to look for a job as a vacation adventure, and to gather sermon material, has found employment, but not exactly of a clerical nature, he informed Mrs.
Blair in a letter Friday.

To use his own expression, the Rev. Mr. Blair is "wallowing freight" on the Lackawanna railroad docks.

The job in New York for two weeks or more. Then he will motor back to Milwaukee to resume his pastoral duties and to preach sermons on his experiences.

FIVE ALLEN-A WORKERS FIRED AT FROM AMBUSH

Kenosha — (AP) — Five employees of the Allen-A company on their way to work Friday morning, were fired from ambush two miles south of this city. One of them, George Hal-lauer was hit in the face by a charge of bird-shot.

New Records Set During Flight To Pacific Coast

Los Angeles — (AP) — A monopoly on transcontinental non-stop air records was held by Harry Tucker's trim little Lockheed-Vega monoplane
"Yankee Doodle" Friday following the plane's successful flight from New York which ended at Mines field here Thursday afternoon.

The "Yankee Doodle" with Captain C. B. D. Colyer, co-holder of the controls and Tucker in the passenger seat, set a new east-to-west non-stop record of 24 hours, 51 minutes when it came to earth. The previous record of 26 hours, 50 minutes was made in 1923 by Lieutenants John MacCreedy and Oakley Kelley.

With Art Goebel, Pacific flier, at the controls and Tucker aboard the cigar-shaped craft flashed to an astounding west-to-east record of 18 hours, 55 minutes a few weeks ago.

The flight was from Los Angeles to New York, and the flier later announced a new and shorter route had been discovered, which, with a brisk wind at the ship's tail, accounted for the fast time.

The course of both flights lay over McKeesport, Pa., Columbus, Indianapolis, Terre Haute, Ind., Wichita, Albuquerque and through the San Bernardino mountain pass.

The west-east flight was the only successful non-stop hop ever made, while Thursday's flight was the second non-stop flight westward across the continent.

The latest successful flight for the fleet little monoplane was a decisive victory over adverse wind, fog and rain above the Rocky Mountains that threatened to send it down short of gasoline before the goal was sighted.

NEW LONDON CHILD DIES IN ACCIDENT

Norman Block Killed When Struck by Automobile
While Crossing Street

New London — Norman, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Block, 15 W. Washington-st., was fatally injured when a car driven by Frederick Belle, a high school student, struck him when he ran ahead of his mother as the two were crossing the street at 4:30 Thursday afternoon.

The little boy and his mother was on their way to the Block car which was parked near Vandere's store.
He ran immediately before the oncoming car, the driver of which was unable to avoid striking the child.
He was rushed at once to the Community hospital but was pronounced dead before reaching there. Death was caused by a broken neck.

Belle reported at once to Chief of Police Andrew Lucke. City officials declared that he will be held for questioning by the district attorney, but that witnesses of the accident attached blame to him. D. B. Egan and Floyd Granger were among the first at the scene. Mr. Granger picking up the little boy from the pavement.
Mrs. John Burns took the child to the hospital, and the family physician followed in his car.

Friends of the family on Thursday night were trying to locate Mr.
Block who is a traveling salesman for the Atlantic Stamping company of Rochester, N. Y. Mr. Block was thought to be in the vicinity of Madison. The child is survived by his parents and three brothers William, Robert and Burton, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Geisler, W. Washington-st. Mrs.
Block was prostrated on Thursday evening and was attended by her physician and friends of the family.

GIVEN DIVORCE DECREE

Edinburgh, Scotland — (AP) — A decree of divorce has been granted
Lacy Northesk, the former Jessica Brown, from the earl of Northesk.
The suit was undefended. The ground of the action was misconduct by Lord Northesk in Paris in January of this year. The couple was married in Chicago in July, 1923.

Jessica Brown of Buffalo, who at one time danced in the Ziegfeld Follies, and the Earl of Northesk, young British peer, were married in Chicago July 19, 1923. By the marriage the American girl became the eleventh countess of Northesk. During the past year it became known that the titled Englishman and his American wife had become estranged and had separated.

druggist prominent in the American legion and former Elmhurst man had been mysteriously attacked in the alley near his store, police set out Friday to follow clues which they hoped would reveal the identity of the assailant and his motive.

Phalen is a serious condition.
Physicians said Phalen had a fractured skull, severe body bruises and cuts on his face. He came here last March from Shiloh, where he had been commander of the legion.
Phalen "old police" when he re-

But Badger Senator Has a Few Kind Words for New York Governor

Madison — (AP) — "Neither the Republican nor the Democratic party is on record, as a party, in favor of the Progressive principles" for which the group has fought in the past, said Senator Robert M.

LaFollette in a signed statement in LaFollette's Magazine Friday.

He declared he has "disassociated myself from the Republican national ticket and platform throughout the campaign," and that Governor Smith "has made public declarations and definite commitments which are in substantial accord with the Progressive view on water power, farm relief, the injunctions in labor disputes, corruption in the public service, and abuse of presidential power in Nicaragua."

His magazine statement, headed "Progressive Group Keystone of Representative Government," was largely devoted to delineation of Progressive principles as he has applied them, historical notes from the career of his father, the late Robert Marion LaFollette, Sr., an endorsement of Progressive senators and congressmen.

He endorsed the stand of Senators Howell of Nebraska, Brewster of North Dakota, and Shipstead of Minnesota on farm relief legislation in the national legislature.

SUPPORTS PROGRESSIVES Rediteration of his disapproval of the platform adopted by the Kansas City convention was included in the statement, as were his reasons for campaigning for Senators Ship-stead of Minnesota, Wheeler (Dem.
Mont.) and Frazier (Rep. N. D.).

The reason he said, that "if these pledges (Progressive action on various issues) are to be fulfilled, considerable support must be given to the support of the men and women throughout the nation and candidates for public office must be elected whose public records and commitments square with them."

In addition, he said, he had "likewise publicly urged the reelection"

$2,260,000 PAID TO REPUBLICAN PARTY

Total Disbursement of $2-124,000 Is Reported Up to Oct. 24

Washington — (AP) — The financial statement of the Republican national committee for the period between Oct. 1 and Oct. 24, published Friday by party headquarters, disclosed receipts of $1,516,053.42 and disbursements of $1,162,965.50 during that time.

Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer, in his report for the house and senate campaign funds committees, said that total receipts up to Oct. 24 were $2, 261,506.93 and disbursements were
$2,123,924.64. The balance on hand
Oct. 24 was placed at $137,581.29.

The contributions were received from 52,215 persons, said Nutt.

The national treasurer, acting as agent for the national committee, said he had received in addition since the beginning of the campaign $1,015,611.72, "which has been returned to these states as collected." He said this sum had gone to the states "as their share of the joint solicitations made for states and national campaign purposes," and that in addition to the expenses of the national committee for the purpose, he had collected and paid $209,123.14 to various state committees, and also handled over $229, 500 to the Republican senatorial and congressional committees.

SHERIFF HAS REAL PROBLEM TRYING TO ENFORCE DOG RULING

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. — (AP) —
Charges made by Dr. John F.
Deadman that Sheriff James A.
Douglas is failing to enforce the mad dog quarantine in Chippewaco resulted Thursday in a written request to the attorney general department by Douglas for instructions as to how to proceed.

"The rabies threat is growing in this county," Dr. Deadman said, "and there is apparently no effort on the part of the sheriff to do anything about it."

The sheriff said that he and his deputies would "get in bad" with the farmers of the county by canvassing the dog situation and that there are no funds available to pay for the quarantine service if he should do so.

ROBINSON CALLED FOE
OF SENIOR LA FOLLETTE

Racine — (AP) — "Senator Robinson was one of the active leaders in the fight against 'Old Bob', was made by Congressman John C. Schafer of Milwaukee, here Thursday night.

"And now here in Wisconsin we find Senator John Blaine and his little group of former appointees and followers seeking to convince Progressives that they should rush to the support of Smith and Robinson.
I demand to know on what ground
Joe Robinson and John Blaine can ask followers of Old Bob to turn traitor to his memory by voting for a man who fought him most viciously when his political life was at stake."

Mr. Schafer quoted from several places in the congressional record to prove the Democratic vice presidential nominee's stand against the elder LaFollette.

Sticks to Set Issues and Keeps Clear of Exchanges With Smith

BY JAMES L. WEST
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington — (AP) — Events of the presidential campaign down to the present time have caused no change in Herbert Hoover's major political strategy of confining his speeches to a discussion of what he conceives to be the issues and to keep clear of exchanges with his Democratic opponent and others.

As has been the case in the past, party leaders and speakers are replying to the latest attack on Governor Alfred E. Smith. However, in his next address at St. Louis on the night of Nov. 2, Hoover will take up two subjects which Smith has emphasized — waterways development and farm relief.

CONSIDERS EXTRA SESSION
Whether he would call an extra session of congress to tackle the problem has not yet been decided.
It was stated in an official statement made public at the candidate's personal headquarters Thursday after Governor Adam McMullen of Nebraska, had stated that Hoover had informed him he would call the new for this purpose.

Additional details of the final western trip which will take Hoover to his California home to vote are now being worked out and the nominee will make a number of addresses aside from the one at St. Louis during his four days' journey to Palo Alto.

The first of these will be at Cumberland, Md., within a few hours after the journey begins at 5 o'clock next Thursday afternoon. Hoover will speak there from a stand in the town square. His second talk will be at Louisville, Ky., on Nov. 2, his train stopping in that city for an hour and ten minutes.

Crossing the Ohio river, the nominee's special train will pass through Indiana and Illinois during the afternoon of Nov. 2, before arriving at St. Louis at 7:20.

The departure from St. Louis will be at 11 o'clock the same night.
Palo Alto will be reached at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of Nov. 5.

WATCHMAN KILLED IN BATTLE WITH GUNMEN

Duluth, Minn. — (AP) — George Day, 53-year-old coal docks watchman, was killed Friday morning, by bandits who attempted to rob a tool house at the docks.

Evidence collected by the police indicated that Day surprised the robbers after they had broken the lock on the shed and removed a number of tools. Two empty chambers in the watchman's gun gave evidence of his fight with the men.

Football Dope Hot Off The

Football teams of the country will go into action again tomorrow afternoon and the Appleton Post-Crescent will be right on the job to give its readers up-to-date reports on the big battles. In the middle west Wisconsin battles, Michigan at Ann Arbor and Minnesota travel in the Tall Corn state to tackle
Iowa; in the east the Army Mulmixes with the Yale Bulldogs and Old Harvard looks for trouble with Dartmouth. And we mustn't forget that Lawrence battles its ancient enemy at Belloli and Appleton High School plays Oshkosh here. The Wisconsin, Lawrence and Appleton games will be reported in great detail and there will be adequate accounts of all the other important games.

The Post-Crescent football extra will be in the street at 6

PROMISES TO RETURN
Will Make Tour "After Ship
Is Proven by Another Round Trip Flight"

BULLETIN
Lakehurst, N. J. — (AP) — Preparing for the return of the Graf Zeppelin to Germany, Lieutenant Commander Zeno H. Wicks, of the naval air station, Friday made ready to furnish the craft with all the blue gas and hydrogen its commander may desire for the flight across the ocean which is not expected to begin before Monday.

BULLETIN
New York — (AP) — The Central railroad of New Jersey was informed by its Lakehurst representative Friday that the Graf Zeppelin, having abandoned its western trip, hoped to start its return trip to Germany Monday. The task of refueling the dirigible would begin immediately, the message said.

Lakehurst, N. J. — (AP) — Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the transatlantic dirigible Graf Zeppelin, Friday abandoned his plans for a flight to the middle west before returning to Germany. Cancellation of the trip announced after numerous post-ponements caused by unfavorable weather; either at Lakehurst or along the proposed route of flight.

Dr. Eckener issued a statement saying he would "look forward to making the western flight after our ship has been proven by another round trip over the Atlantic."

TO PROVE SAFETY
"The primary object of the flight of the Graf Zeppelin to America," he said, "has been to give a demonstration that modern rigid airships can be operated across the north Atlantic and on other oceanic passages with absolute safety and reliability."

"To accomplish this object I consider it essential that the return Europe be made without unreasonable delay."

A flight over Milwaukee was on the proposed schedule of the Graf Zeppelin.

TELEGRAM TO CHICAGO
The following telegram was sent to Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago:

"I regret exceedingly that by this decision I must disappoint the citizens of so many of your splendid cities in the midwest. However, it is our primary task to complete the round trip of the Graf Zeppelin between Europe and the United States, and I hope to be able to visit the midwest upon the next flight
of the Graf Zeppelin to America.
Please transmit to the citizens of Chicago our heartfelt greetings of appreciation of their deep interest in the success of the Graf Zeppelin.
Commander Hugo Eckener."

MUST KNOW ZONING LAW TO ENFORCE IT, PLANNERS ARE TOLD

Milwaukee Man Says Well-considered Plan Is Sure to Win Cooperation

City planning can be successfully administered, the citizens are ready to cooperate with legislative boards, executives and planners, Leon M. Gurda, Milwaukee building inspector, told about 50 people gathered in the Crystal room of the Conway hotel for the second annual convention of Wisconsin City and Regional Planning association at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

Zoning problems of the Chicago region were outlined by J. M. Albright of the Chicago Regional Planning association. He urged wholehearted public support and stated that unless the public became educated on the subject, the efforts of planners would be futile. A city ordinance must be thoroughly studied before it is ready for administration, he explained.

TOO MANY HOES

Mr. Albright told the demands made on the construction of apartment houses in Chicago, and how the demands far exceeded the actual need.

He also cited the various ways in which the plan commission in Chicago handles building frontage problems.

"Too many people of a city are ready to condemn the efforts of city planners long before their application has been advanced," Mr. Gurda said in his talk on Administration of zoning ordinances. "My observations of the practical application of zoning to the problems arising daily in an inspection bureau lead me to the conclusion that zoning regulation that permits the just, wise, and equitable use of property can be successfully enforced and will meet with the general public approval and a minimum of opposition on the part of those who are engaged in the construction industries for gain."

DEVELOP CITY

"Zoning laws or regulations will in a large measure hasten an orderly development of a city; but a maximum compliance with the same can be realized only when the most friendly relations exist between the legislative, executive and planning officials. The administration officials whose duty it is to enforce these laws can serve the common council or planning boards in an advisory capacity," the speaker continued.

"To secure the most possible compliance with zoning regulations it is important to require first, certified surveys of each parcel of land on which a structure is about to be erected. Numerous errors have been made in permitting the erection of buildings on parcels of land that were not of sufficient area to comply with the regulations."

MUST KNOW LAW

"To successfully superintend the construction of buildings it is necessary that inspectors be informed of and be familiar with all zoning regulations. This is being accomplished by an inspectors' school where zoning and building code requirements are discussed and explained."

"One of the most difficult matters to control is the conversion of residences and buildings accessory thereto for business uses in a residence district, and the changing occupancies of buildings in all the districts. Typical cases are the neighborhood tinmith, garage mechanic, drayage contractors and other similar occupations which are detrimental to the residence district. To prevent further spreading of such conditions a survey of the city should be made and records maintained of the uses of the property in the department so that further deterioration of residence sections will not occur."

"When the whole body of regulations governing the use of property is a single organic subject, we may say that we have reached the point when the further development of the zoning idea is merely a matter of modification and addition to the original body of laws. Such modification and parallel development of building codes and zoning laws should be our aim. The zoning law should not be a thing apart from the building code," the speaker concluded.

CALUMET PROGRESSIVE WILL SUPPORT KOHLER

Chilton—District Attorney Frederick C. Aebischer, who handled the Progressive campaign in Calumet-co during the primary, Friday endorsed Walter J. Kohler of Kohler, Republican nominee for governor.

"Several years ago it was thought well in this state to put on the statute books a primary election law," Mr. Aebischer said. "It was thought that the people of this state should have the power to nominate their own candidates for election."

"The spirit as well as the letter of this law intended that the result of the primary election should be binding on all those who subscribe to Republican principles."

"So now, regardless of our attitude in the primary, I for one shall abide by the result of the primary election."

Mr. Aebischer is chairman of the Republican county committee of Calumet-co. He was a Progressive candidate for district delegate to the National Republican convention in Kansas City.

"During the primary," Mr. Aebischer continued, "I had occasion to run across many statements made by Mr. Kohler and had occasion to pay particular attention to what he said in his talks. And I must say in all his speeches I never heard him make a knock."

"Today Mr. Kohler is the Republican candidate for governor and, as the Republican candidate for governor, I shall vote for him and support him."

H. S. STUDENTS FIND NEW USES FOR THEIR COLORS

The pages of Vogue and Fashions may be cluttered with new styles and the College-ave store windows may be screaming out the latest thing in sweaters, neckties and hosiery, but for the Appleton high school girl there is only one fashion that calls and that is the orange and blue knicker—or armlet, wristlet or kneelet, wherever it happens to be worn.

The novelty is being sold by members of the Tailor-made staff and after a style review put on before the assembly Thursday the entire lot was sold out. The different ways of wearing the bands were demonstrated by eight girls: Mildred Albrecht and Betty Meyer, arms; Hazel Thomas and Marguerite Bushey, wrists; Ruth Gillett and Alice Berglin, knees; and Dorothy Schubert and Nona Nemacheck, ankles. The announcement of the sale was made by Florence Nelson, business manager of the Tailor-made.

12 SCHOOLS ENTER EXHIBITS AT FAIR

Harvest Festival at Shiocton Expected to Stimulate Cooperation

Twelve rural schools will have exhibits at the community fair and harvest festival Saturday at Shiocton.

Agencies cooperating in putting on the festival are the agricultural department of Shiocton high school, A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools and his staff and R. A. Amundson, county agricultural agent.

The purpose of the fair is to encourage the youth in school work and farm business, and exhibits will consist of farm products and school work to stimulate interest on the part of the parents in the work of schools, to stimulate cooperation between parents and teachers and to stimulate cooperation between business in town and country.

F. Colburn, general manager of the fair and Karl Kiehrer is chairman of the finance committee; Ernest Spoehr is superintendent of exhibits; Miss Lucille Wilcox, chairman of the program committee; Raymond Steward, chairman of the publicity committee.

All rural schools within a radius of ten miles of Shiocton were invited to participate in the event. The schools were assisted in preparing their exhibits by Parent-Teachers association, Equity association, homemakers' clubs and others.

Several speeches are to be made during the afternoon and in the evening a program will be presented by local talent from the school districts which take part in the festival.

Partly cloudy to cloudy tonight and Saturday; probably local showers Saturday; slowly rising temperature tonight, and in east and extreme south portion Saturday.

GENERAL WEATHER

The pressure is high from the Mississippi valley eastward this morning, with mostly fair and cool weather, though a few showers fell yesterday over portions of the lake region and upper Ohio valley. The pressure is lower over the eastern slope of the Rockies, with some cloudiness and rising temperatures over the north and central plains. A low should cause increasing cloudiness and rising temperature in this section by Saturday after the "high" moves away and the "low" showers by Saturday afternoon or night.

REPUBLICANS READY TO HEAR KOHLER IN 2 TALKS TOMORROW

Candidate for Governor Scheduled for Number of Talks on Saturday

Plans have been completed for two addresses which will be given in Appleton Saturday afternoon by Walter J. Kohler of Kohler, Republican candidate for governor. Mr. Kohler will appear in Appleton under the auspices of the Outagamie County Republican club headed by W. H. Zuehlke who will have charge of the meetings.

Mr. Kohler will give his first address at the stock fair grounds on N. Walnut-st in the rear of the Gloudehans-Gage store at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The monthly stock fair will be in progress at that time it is expected that Mr. Kohler will have a large audience of farmers.

After the short talk at the fair grounds Mr. Kohler will go to Eagle hall on E. Washington-st where he will deliver an address at 3:30 to the general public. This is Mr. Kohler's second appearance in Appleton as he talked here during the primary campaign to a large crowd in Pierce park pavilion.

Before coming to Appleton Saturday Mr. Kohler is scheduled to give talks at Weyauwega, Winneconne, and Omro and after talking here he will visit Wrightstown, Greenleaf, Morrisstown and New Denmark.

Republicans also are making plans for an address here on Next Wednesday night by Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa and the visit of former Governor Chase Osborne to Appleton on Nov. 5. Both talks will be given in Lawrence Memorial chapel.

LOCAL COMPANY FILES INCORPORATION PAPERS

Articles of incorporation for the Appleton Industrial Loan and Mortgage company were filed Friday with A. G. Koch, register of deeds. The company will have its office in Appleton and will have right to open branches in any other city in the United States or its possessions. It will deal in finances. The firm is capitalized for $100,000 which is divided into 1,000 shares of common stock at $25 and 3,000 shares of preferred stock at $25 per share. Those who signed the articles are John P. Koens, William J. Konrad, Jr., and Karl A. Schuetter.

CITY CLERK WILL KEEP OFFICE OPEN SATURDAY EVENING

Voters Will Be Given an Additional Opportunity to Register

In order to offer voters an additional opportunity to register, the office of Carl Becher, city clerk, will be opened Saturday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock, he announced Friday. This will be the last night that voters will be able to register and registrations will be accepted only three more days, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. After that, the only way non-registered voters will be able to cast their ballot on Nov. 6 is to be sworn in at the polls.

Saturday is the last day on which address changes may be registered with the city clerk and still permit the voter to vote at the coming election. Mr. Becher pointed out. The law provides that a voter, to be eligible to vote, must reside in his precinct at least 10 days prior to an election. Persons changing addresses after Saturday consequently will not be able to express their preference at the polls at the approaching election.

City officials as well as county officials are surprised at the large number of registrations recorded daily by the clerks. More than 130 persons registered with the city clerk Thursday and more than 100 of this number were women, Mr. Becher reported Friday.

"I can't understand where they all are coming from," he said. "Evidently the population of Appleton is considerably larger than most of us think."

Thursday's applications for registration were not more numerous than usual, as the daily average has exceeded 100 for 10 days or more, the clerk estimated.

As an encouragement to women who still may not have registered, Mr. Becher reminds that the applicant is not asked her age. Name, address and place of birth is all the information required of the applicant. No mention is made of date of birth. This fact is recalled again because

NO CLEWS TO THEFT OF PURSE CONTAINING $133

No further information has been uncovered by police in connection with the theft of $133 Thursday morning from Miss Georgia Bently, 431 E. South River-st, in the lavatory at the Pettibone-Peabody store on W. College-ave. Several people outside the room when the theft occurred were questioned but they said they hadn't seen anyone enter or leave the room. Miss Bently hung her pocketbook, with the money, on a hook and a few minutes later she missed it. It was recovered later in a lavatory at the Green Dry Goods Co., store on E. College-ave. The money had been removed but nothing else in the purse was disturbed.

ROBINSON ASKS HOOVER ABOUT RELIEF PROGRAM

En Route With Senator Robinson to Duluth—(AP)—Herbert Hoover stood challenged by Senator Joe T. Robinson Friday "to speak for himself" regarding a statement by Gov. Adam McMullen of Nebraska, that the Republican candidate intended to call a special session of congress to deal with the farm problem. Senator Robinson also demanded that Mr. Hoover "tell the people in plain language just what his farm relief plan really is."

The Democratic vice presidential nominee issued his challenge in a speech at Fargo, N. D. Thursday night before an audience which gave him a prolonged ovation when he declared that Hoover's promise, as stated by Governor McMullen, to do his "utmost for agriculture" was a repetition of broken promises made whenever running time is near.

MEMBER DRIVE OF WALTONIANS WILL END ON SATURDAY

Teams to Make Final Effort to Reach Goal of 400 for City

With more than 100 new members pledged Friday morning workers in the 1928-29 membership drive of the local chapter of the Isaac Walton league girded their belts for a final effort to meet the goal of 400 new members.

While the drive started early this week the most of the time was devoted to calling on men whose names were contained on a list of prospects but Friday and Saturday were thrown open and workers were advised to make a personal canvass of every sportsman in the city in an effort to reach the goal.

The campaign organization is composed of 10 captains, 50 teams and 100 workers according to J. Edward Murphy, general chairman of the drive.

"All men who are interested in outdoor sports, who believe in conservation of the wild life of our state, who are lovers of nature and who spend some of their time in the open are urged to become members of our organization," said Mr. Murphy Friday morning.

Plans were being completed Friday morning for a meeting of captains at 7:30 Friday evening at the Conway hotel, according to Mr. Murphy. At that time reports on the drive will be heard and arrangements for a concerted effort on Saturday will be made.

The Walton league membership drive is being conducted all over the United States, Mr. Murphy said. The goal for the nation is 50,000 new members, for Wisconsin, 6,000 new members and for Outagamie-co 500 new members. The bulk of this new membership is expected to be secured in Appleton and Mr. Murphy said the committee hopes to reach the 400 mark.

DEMOCRATS LINE UP SERIES OF RALLIES IN COUNTY TOWNS

Precinct Workers Gather Here Next Tuesday for Final Instructions

Plans are being made by the Outagamie-co Smith-Robinson club for a series of political rallies at important centers in the county next week, according to Stephen D. Ballet chairman.

F. J. Rooney, Democratic candidate for district attorney, will be the featured speaker at the county meetings and will be accompanied by other Democratic candidates for county offices.

The only scheduled meeting, to date is at Freedom on Wednesday night but Mr. Ballet said that meetings are to be arranged for next week at Greenleaf and Bear Creek, and the same programs will be presented there as at Freedom.

On Tuesday night all Democratic precinct workers of the county will gather at Eagles hall here for final instructions as to their work during the last days of the campaign. More than 100 workers are expected at this gathering. An outside speaker will be secured but the name has not yet been learned.

On Friday night, Nov. 2, James McGilligan, mayor of Green Bay and Democratic candidate for congressman from the Ninth district, will give an address at Eagles hall. He will talk under auspices of the county organization according to Mr. Ballet.

DRIVE STARTED BY KIWANIS TO GET VOTERS TO POLLS

Club Takes Up Work as Part of Civic Program Without Partisanship

Appealing to voters in the city to do their civic duty and vote at the Nov. 6 election, members of Appleton Kiwanis club have had letters distributed to all school children with the request they be taken home to parents. The drive is part of the club's civic program and does not discuss the political situation from any angle.

The letter follows:
"Does every adult member of your household vote at all elections? If your answer is 'No, why should we,'—here is the answer. In 'Our Country,' all public officers, from president down to coroner, are elected by the votes of the people who vote. Expecting officers appointed, and they are appointed by those who we elect. If none of the people took the trouble to vote we could have no republic. We would be ruled by a hereditary monarch, who would appoint all subordinate officers, answerable to him alone, or we would simply be ruled by those who had the greatest brute force, and that would be anarchy. If you think this through you will very soon see that it is not only the privilege, but is the civic duty, of every adult citizen to vote at all elections.

"Perhaps you have said or thought something to this effect. 'My vote only counts one anyway, so why bother.' But think again. The sum of the units makes up the whole. Enough people don't vote, because of thinking 'my vote only counts one,' to aggregate many hundreds in the city and many thousands in the state and millions in the nation. What are you doing when you take that attitude? Are you not saying 'Let George do it,' and in this case 'George' is often the professional politician, or other person who has an axe to grind. Are you not shirking your civic duty? If you fail to exercise your privilege of helping select our public officers, what right have you to complain of any acts or omissions of those officers?

"It is true that voting requires some time and personal inconvenience. President Hibben, of Princeton College, has said something like this: 'Patriotism is something more than saluting the flag and singing "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner." Patriotism is the willingness to sacrifice for one's own country. If you are unwilling to take the trouble to vote on election days, are you 'patriotic' in the true sense of the word? Perhaps some of you are among the thousands who vote once in four years, that is at presidential elections and pay no attention to the perhaps despised local elections and offices, unless, perhaps, you have a friend running for one of those offices. Let's think again. The question of who is going to be your alderman or school director touches you more closely in your daily life and the lives of your children, and the condition of the ward and city in which you live, than does the question of who is to be the next president of the United States.

"Now just a word specially to the women. Perhaps the men in your family vote and the women do not. Perhaps you have never voted and are timid about it and hesitate to mix with the rough crowd about the polls. Let us assure you that there is no rough crowd. The law prohibits electioneering anywhere near the polls. The election officers are courteous ladies and gentlemen, perhaps your friends, certainly your neighbors, always ready to assist you if necessary. And voting is simple and easy. If you have not yet registered we urge you to do so at City Clerks office without delay. This will save much time and some annoyance at the polls on election day.

"Now perhaps you are asking, 'Who is doing this? Where is the bigger in the wood pile?' Here is the answer. One of the objectives for 1928-29 of Kiwanis International is:

"To promote an intelligent, aggressive and serviceable citizenship through a better understanding of public problems and fundamentals of government, to the end especially that there shall be a sound and more general exercise of the franchise."

"We are trying to carry out that objective in Appleton by awakening in our fellow citizens, both men and women, who have not been in the habit of exercising their privilege of the franchise, a realization of their absolute civic duty to do so. We said above that this is not a political appeal, and it is not. We are not concerned with how you vote, we only seek to awake your civic conscience, with the result that you will carry through your civic duty to vote, not only at the coming, but at all subsequent elections, be they large or small. We have absolutely no ulterior or selfish motive. We are putting much of our time and some of our money into this effort. If you do not believe us, or if we have failed to convince you, we are sorry. Will you not help, at least to the extent of casting your vote at this and subsequent elections, not merely for the sake of piling up the greatest percentage of votes of any city in our state, but from a heartfelt conviction that, in this beloved country of ours, it is not only your privilege, but is your imperative civic duty to inform yourself and vote at all elections?"

MANY GOLFERS USE MUNICIPAL COURSE

Appleton golfers who are making use of seasonal fall weather to get in a last few holes of golf still are making use of the municipal course in the Fourth ward, according to reports. Between 10 and 15 groups daily use the course when weather permits. The course will remain open until Nov. 1, when flags and cups will be removed and playing prohibited.

Local Man Has Music Box More Than 50 Years Old

An antique music box, approximately 50 years old, owned by Lewis J. Waterman, 607 W. College-ave, has features similar to those of our modern phonographs. The machine was brought here from Chicago by Mr. Waterman after an uncle had given it to him. The antique was purchased about 50 years ago and was manufactured by the Regina Music Box company at Rahway, N. J.

The machine runs for 45 minutes with one winding and plays a set of 12 records automatically. It is governed by air and is operated from a large steel spring. The records are placed in a rack with twelve slots and are changed automatically after they have been played. The carriage operates on a trolley. The records are steel disks about 15 inches in diameter and the music is similar to that of a player piano except that it has an after-tone similar to chimes. A steel comb is mounted on a solid steel rack is the musical instrument. It has 156 teeth or reeds which are operated from the perforated steel disk. The machine also has an attachment for a banjo.

The cabinet is constructed of solid oak and is about six feet high. A door with a curved glass window serves as the outlet for the music. Openings encased in wrought iron serve as amplifiers. When the music

REPORT STREET LIGHT TROUBLES TO POLICE

When street lights are not lighted the proper place to make reports are at the police headquarters according to Police Chief George T. Prim. The address of the light is written in a book and attention is given to the matter the next morning by workmen of the Wisconsin-

Michigan Power company. Sometimes people report to city officials when street lights are not working and these reports bring no results. The police department is detailed to take these reports and citizens will find they receive quickest attention by calling the department when there is trouble, the chief said.

CITY TO REBUILD CONCRETE WALK IN FRONT OF THEATRE

Council Votes to Advertise for Bids Which Will Be Received Monday

Menasha—At a special meeting of the common council called by Mayor W. E. Held Thursday evening to take up the matter of rebuilding the concrete sidewalk in front of the new theatre building, it was decided to call for bids returnable next Monday. In order to make the corner absolutely safe for traffic the theatre owners made it possible to set the curbing back 10 feet by a donation to Menasha. This makes possible a rounding curve approximately 85 feet in length. The new walk will be put in as soon as the contract is awarded.

The blockading of W. Water-st with crushed rock and sand for the new Tayco-bridge came in for a spirited discussion. With the street blocked Paul Thelmer, chief of the fire department, was unable to offer proper fire protection to adjoining property. The argument resulted in a decision to keep the street open.

With the improvements that are being made in front of the new theatre building Wisconsin Michigan Power company was requested to remove the interurban track at once from the site of Tayco-bridge north on Tayco-st and east on Main-st as far as the theatre building extends. A representative of the Power company assured the council this work would be done at once and promised that the entire track would be taken up as soon as possible.

Upon the suggestion of Alderman Kolasinski the old Second ward school building was sold to Mr. Thurston for $51 with the understanding that he will remove it at once.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha—Miss Marjorie Ellingboe entertained Thursday evening at a hallowe'en party at her home on Keyes-st. A 6:30 dinner was served after which card games were played. Prizes at bridge were won by Miss Marian Elliott, Miss Lorraine Wheeler and Miss Celeste Hyland.

At their meeting Thursday evening the Fraternal Order of Eagles decided to give a series of card parties and socials the coming winter and appointed a social committee to make the necessary arrangements consisting of Carl Meier, chairman, E. T. Jourdain, secretary, Carl Drexler, William Bauerfeind, Matt Zoellner, Peter Berrens and George Laux. At least two card tournaments will be given, one before and the other after the holidays.

The twelfth annual bazaar of St. Mary church closed Thursday night with an attendance that broke all former records. Practically everything offered for sale was disposed of. Twenty tables were in play at the card party in the afternoon and 53 in the evening. Prize winners at schafkopf in the afternoon were Mrs. Ruth Pauer, Mrs. Prange, Mrs. Handler, at whist Mrs. Hardt, Miss Mary Bayer; and at bridge, Mrs. Fred Stille and Mrs. P. McGrath. In the evening the honors at schafkopf went to Philip Dietrich, Martin Weyers, Mrs. P. Pruchonicki, Mrs. Mary Walbrun, Mrs. Apitz, bridge, Mrs. Marie Rippl, Mrs. L. Remmel; Mrs. Fred Stille; whist, Mrs. Mary Bayer, Mrs. A. Ganzky, Mrs. Beach, Miss M. Conrady. The latter part of the evening was given over to the distribution of gifts. The next card party to be held by the ladies will be on Wednesday, Nov. 7.

NEW CHIMNEY STARTS LOOMING INTO SKY

Menasha—The immense new chimney of John Strange Paper company which replaces a former brick one that was torn down is beginning to loom up. It is of cement construction and will be one of the tallest in the twin cities.

YOUNG MEN'S CLUB TO ORGANIZE CAGE TEAM

Menasha—St. Mary Young Men's club discussed the organization of a basketball team at its meeting Thursday evening and decided to go ahead with the project, providing St. Mary auditorium can be secured for both games and practice work. Twenty-two applications for membership have been received and about half the candidates were admitted to the last meeting. The other half will be admitted at the next meeting. Members are planning to present a play, "When a Fellow Needs a Friend," the latter part of next month. The club is adjourned early so as to permit members to attend the annual bazaar.

HEAVY TRAFFIC SHOWS EFFECT ON BRIDGE

Menasha—The heavy traffic of federal highway 1-10 detoured by way of Tayco-bridge, is not only having its effect on the bridge but is also grinding its way into the concrete pavement at the north end of the structure. Opposite Hotel Menasha near the corner of Main and Main-st several holes have been worn into the pavement. At certain hours during the day, particularly during the noon hour and when the industrial plants close late in the afternoon, there is a constant stream of automobiles and trucks passing over the street which daily require the services of traffic officers.

MENASHA BOWLING

CITY BOWLING LEAGUE
Menasha—Frank Kassel, a member of Holly Baking team, rolled the highest individual score, 231, Thursday evening in the weekly match of the City Bowling league at Menasha alleys. High series, 611, went to W. H. Pierce, a member of Pierce Agency team. The average bowling of the league is improving as the season advances. Quite a number of scores of more than 200 were recorded Thursday evening.

CAN'T FIND CLEWS TO POSTAL ROBBERS

Police Believe Robbery Was Committed by "Professional" Burglars

Neenah—No new clues have been found to point to the robbers of the postoffice Wednesday evening. Police worked all day Thursday with postoffice officials. It is believed the robbery was the work of "professionals" who had been in the vicinity for several days studying the territory, as two or three men had been seen prowling about the postoffice property. These men came in an automobile shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning and left within 15 or 20 minutes later. It is also believed that it is the work of the same gang which robbed the postoffice two years ago when the vault was blown open. This time the vault was only pierced by torches which set off a gas bomb. The steel door on the vault in the postmaster's office was the only damaged property.

KOCH GLASSES LEADING LADIES BOWLING LEAGUE

Neenah—In a big upset Wednesday night during the weekly bowling of the Twin City Ladies' league, Kassel Builders won two from Tri-City Nash, thereby dropping the Nash team to second place. Koch's Glasses, by taking three from Lucky Strikes, went into first place. Andy's Five took two from Merry Widows. Mrs. Bell shot a high individual game with a 199 score, while Eva Jensen with 489 shot high series.

DRUNKEN DRIVING CASE ADJOURNED TO NOV. 2

Neenah—The case of Robert J. Thompson of Oshkosh, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, was adjourned Friday morning to 10 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 2 in municipal court. Thompson was arrested last Saturday after his car had collided with a car driven by C. F. Borens of Neenah, on the lakeshore road a few miles south of the city limits. Irving Borens, 10, son of the owner of the Neenah car, was painfully injured in the collision. Thompson was taken into custody by Neenah authorities and held there until county authorities arrived to take him to Oshkosh where the next morning he pleaded guilty to the charge. His bond was fixed at $200.

REPUBLICAN PARTY SPLIT IN '12 AND WILSON WON OFFICE

Won Nomination Over Champ Clark Through Power of Embattled Bryan

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
(Copyright, 1928, by Post Pub. Co.)
Washington — The Roosevelt bolt had almost assured the election of a Democratic president in 1912, but it was William Jennings Bryan who made the Baltimore convention nominate Woodrow Wilson and thus halt Roosevelt inroads on the Democratic progressive vote.

Thanks to Bryan, Speaker Champ Clark of Missouri became the first candidate since Van Buren to obtain a convention majority and yet lose a nomination.

Wilson had his eye on the presidency even before he ran for governor of New Jersey. Elected, he crushed the New Jersey bosses, Smith and Nugent, bent a legislature to his great will and became renowned for his clear, forceful speeches. Col. George Harvey began to spread the slogan, "Wilson for President."

Acting on good advice, he went on a cross-country speaking tour, making a large hit with the public.

Other Democratic candidates were Clark, Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama and Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio. Bryan virtually eliminated Harmon and Underwood by publicly branding them as reactionaries.

Soon the Wilson-Clark fight was translated into a struggle of progressives vs. reactionaries, the people vs. machine politics. Clark had the support of the congressional Democrats and of William Randolph Hearst with his string of publications. He had made a secret deal with Tammany. He had much more in common with the party politicians than the scholarly Wilson.

But perhaps partly as a result of the spectacular Taft-Roosevelt clash, that was one year when the people themselves were intensely interested in party politics and it developed that most Democrats were for Wilson.

Clark was the favorite as the convention opened, but Bryan was the central figure. Clark showed a willingness to compromise with Tammany on choosing of a keynoter and Bryan went up in the air.

Bryan led the crusading element which demanded war on the trusts, tariff reduction, income tax, child labor abolition, "restoration of government to the people," direct election of senators and other progressive measures. When Wilson tackled the keynoter issue with a strong demand that this be a "convention of progressives," Bryan knew which way to turn, even though he was instructed for Clark.

When Parker was nominated for temporary chairman, Bryan rose dramatically to oppose him. The cheering was mingled with the curses, hoots, threats and imprecations of Tammany and her allies. He stood silently for many minutes until his enemies gave up and the tumult died down.

It was one of the most dramatic moments of Bryan's life. He delivered a terrific indictment of the interests behind Parker and he made the convention listen until he nominated John W. Kern of Indiana.

In the uproar Parker was elected 579 to 508, proving that the Clark, Underwood and Harmon factions dominated the convention.

But suddenly an avalanche of telegrams began to reach the convention. The many Wilson clubs and the minor politicians at home had been set to work. Anti-Wilson politicians were astonished.

Clark managers frantically tried to persuade Bryan that Clark was really a red-hot progressive after all. They even offered him the permanent chairmanship, but Bryan refused.

Suddenly Bryan offered a resolution denouncing J. P. Morgan, August Belmont and Thomas F. Ryan. Belmont and Ryan were delegates and Bryan's resolution provided that they be sent home, although Bryan withdrew that part of it during the confusion. They were the party's two big multimillionaires.

Bryan demanded a roll call and got it; again the convention failed to howl him down. The resolution passed, nearly five to one.

CLARK LEADS
Facing this progressive reaction, politicians desperately began to pull wires and intrigue for something else than defeat. The first ballot went: Clark 440, Wilson 324, Harmon 148, Underwood 118, Marshall 31, Baldwin 22.

No large change followed until the tenth ballot, when the big New York delegation swung from Harmon to Clark.

Clark then had 556 and his passage of the majority mark was generally supposed to mean his nomination. All previous candidates but Van Buren had been given a two-thirds vote after getting a majority.

leaped to the breach. More pro-Wilson telegrams poured in. Bryan announced that so long as New York had gone for Clark he'd vote for Wilson and broke his instructions, giving the cue to other pro-Wilson delegates.

From the tenth ballot Clark's strength slowly went down. Wilson passed the two-thirds line on the 46th with 990 to Clark's 84. Gov. Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana was named for vice president and Bryan fixed up a strong platform. Democrats everywhere expressed unbounded enthusiasm.

The marvel of the campaign was Wilson's series of brilliant and inspiring speeches, sprinkled with epigrams. He told the country that the rights of the lower middle class, hard-pressed farmers and city workers was about to be restored. Refusing to discuss specific measures or programs, he held the party's progressives without frightening its conservatives as Bryan had.

Taft did not follow his opponents on the stump, leaving his campaign to the youthful Charles D. Hilles of New York.

DEMOCRATS IN

The election brought the Democrats in out of the desert in which they had wandered for 16 years with both radical and conservative candidates, but Wilson's vote fell lower than Bryan's in any of the latter's campaigns and was 2,000,000 below the combined total of his opponents. Nevertheless his electoral college victory was devastating. He carried 40 states, losing Pennsylvania, Michigan, Minnesota, South Dakota and Washington to Roosevelt and only Utah and Vermont to Taft. The popular and electoral vote:

Wilson	6,285,000	435
Roosevelt	4,125,000	88
Taft	3,484,000	8
Debs	897,000	—

1,553,927 MAY VOTE IN STATE, OFFICE BELIEVES

Estimate Is Made on Basis of Population Estimate on July 1

Madison—(CP)—There are probably 1,550,477 people eligible to vote in Wisconsin, the secretary of state's office has estimated. This led the officials to estimate that there would be about 950,000 votes cast in the November election, having added 10 per cent probable increase to the 1920 census, which showed 1,527,661 persons in Wisconsin, making an estimate population now of 1,680,477.

From this deducted 100,000 the estimate number of foreign born who are not naturalized, 14,500 inmates of institutions, 100,000 other incompetents, discharged prisoners and insane who have not regained citizenship, for a total of 126,500 of the population that will not be eligible to vote this leaves the voting strength of the state estimated at 1,553,927.

Because of increased interest among women, the secretary of state's employees estimated, first that there would be more than 840,000 votes cast, then on the basis of a revision of the estimated population raised the total number of estimated votes to about 950,000.

Voters will find the same regulations in effect at the polls generally that applied at previous elections. By law, the voting places are to be open from 6:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m. in cities of 5,000 population or over. In towns, villages and cities less than 5,000 population the law says that the polls shall be open from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. but this may be changed by the town board. A previous provision in law said the polls in the smaller places could be opened earlier and closed later by petition of the voters, but a recent opinion of the attorney general made it possible to open them earlier or close them earlier by mere action of the town or village board or the city council in cities of less than 5,000. There is no statute for change in hours in the larger cities.

Officials in the secretary of state's office have published in the election methods booklet of that department a form that has been followed in opening the polls in some places: "When the inspectors are ready to receive votes, one of their number will go outside the polls and make the proclamation in loud voice: 'Hear ye! Hear ye! Hear ye! The polls of this election are now open and will continue until... o'clock.'"

The state department officials were not certain how widely this is used over the state now.

One section of the state law prescribes that the inspectors "in the presence of the electors," shall turn all ballot boxes upside down to prove that they are empty before they are used. Then the election inspector may lock the box and it may not be opened until the close of the polls.

when time for counting the ballots has arrived."

The state law gives the other legal requirements concerning aid to cripples, blind and illiterates in voting.

CHIEF SAYS AUTOISTS DISREGARD SIGNALS

Warning was issued by Police Chief George T. Prim that many motorists were failing to properly regard the meaning of the automatic signals at the corner of College-ave and On-ida-st and unless better attention is paid to the lights police officers will begin making arrests.

"When the yellow lights are on traffic both ways is expected to stop," Chief Prim said. "At present when the yellow lights flash those people who are being held by the red light begin moving forward on the intersection while those from the other direction also continue across the street. Both lines of traffic must stop when the yellow light flashes."

MR. HOOVER DRAWS FIRE

Mr. Hoover's Madison Square Garden speech was certain to draw fire from Gov. Smith. It gave him the opening he has sought throughout the campaign—a direct debatable issue with his opponent. Mr. Hoover's reference to governmental participation in commercial enterprise—and his distinction of commercial enterprise is to be kept in mind—as socialistic was as a red flag to a bull, and Gov. Smith charged with avidity in his Boston address. He made, and will continue to make, the most of it throughout the remainder of the campaign. Regardless of the merits of the issue, if there is an issue, it will make many votes for Smith. How many it will make for Hoover remains to be seen.

Reference to a policy as Socialistic is, however, nothing to get excited about. It is the fact that counts. Socialism is easily definable, and one of its cardinal aims is to bring about government ownership and operation of all public service, as well as government entrance into commercial enterprise. Mr. Bryan ardently advocated government ownership of railways, a socialistic proposal pure and simple, and he would not and could not have objected to its designation as such. He was not a Socialist, but a Democrat. Government ownership of railways would not set up socialism in the United States, it would simply be a socialistic application in one great field of commercial activity. Mr. Hoover has not called Mr. Smith a Socialist, although the latter tries to make it appear that he has.

In stating his opposition to state operation of commercial undertakings Mr. Hoover has correctly defined the policy as socialistic, and there can be no harm in that, anymore than it is taboo to refer to many activities of government today as admittedly paternalistic. They have been frankly adopted as such, and there is a wide movement to break away from some of them to regain personal liberty, state's rights, etc. There is no wrong, therefore, in classifying a fact or a policy. It may be that some day the American people will adopt socialism in all its ramifications, and if it does the change could not be concealed by calling it something else.

Mr. Hoover does not oppose government ownership and control of water-power development where it is an adjunct of waterway development, irrigation, reclamation, flood control, navigation, scientific research, or national defense. He accepts it as necessary and advisable and so states. In practically if not in every instance, water-power development in the United States on an extensive scale is linked to one of the above government undertakings. Muscle Shoals grew out of national defense, and although it represents a public expenditure of $150,000,000 thus far on which there are no appreciable returns, it is being used for scientific research to try and discover a way to make nitrates for cheap fertilizer, and without success up to date. This does not therefore bar Muscle Shoals from Mr. Hoover's approval as a government enterprise, even though congress does not know what to do with it to make it "pay."

Boulder Dam is in the same category, since it is primarily an irrigation and water supply project. Water power incidentally created would come within Mr. Hoover's definition of legitimate ownership and control. So would power incidental to the control of the Mississippi and other great waterways for flood and navigation purposes. Likewise, water-power from the St. Lawrence Seaway—all would be retained in government ownership and control. In fact it would seem that the great sources of water-power development in the United States would be almost entirely encompassed in the government projects enumerated by Mr. Hoover, viz: waterway development, navigation, irrigation, reclamation, scientific research and national defense. It is noteworthy that government development and control of water-power in New York state to which Gov. Smith referred at Boston was on the Erie canal, primarily a navigation enterprise, and the St. Lawrence river. What Mr. Hoover objects to is the government going into the power business as such indiscriminately, without reference to primary projects of a national character in which it must inevitably engage.

Going to farm problems, it would certainly be a form of paternalism or socialism for the government to undertake to market crop surpluses and levy an equalization fee on producers to meet its losses. Whether it is wise, or not is beside the point, the essential character of the business would remain. That was the reason why Mr. Coolidge vetoed the McNary-Haugen bill, and because of the vast bureaucracy it would set up, a political condition that Mr. Hoover regards as chaotic, detrimental, unsound and utterly at variance with the American system. Furthermore, Mr. Hoover's treatment of bureaucracy in his New York address leaves nothing to be said. No one but a confirmed Socialist could disagree with it. If Mr. Smith is for the McNary-Haugen plan he ought to come out flat-footedly for it. The farm problem is exceedingly complex, but if the governor is sure of himself as to a solution he ought to say whether he will seek this legislation, so that if he is elected the country will know what to expect.

Gov. Smith, we take it from his Boston speech, is opposed to government ownership of railways, for certain obvious reasons—the same reasons—that motivate Mr. Hoover, and there should be no bones about designating the policy as socialistic, for such it would be. Nor is he advocating socialization of the coal mines, oil deposits (except such as the government needs for its own uses) and other God-given resources. Yet the underlying principle is the same, whether the government is in the power business, farm products business, railway, coal, or oil, for the sake of competing with commercial enterprise or suppressing it. The soundness and validity of the doctrines presented by Mr. Hoover at Madison Square Garden are not affected by Gov. Smith's reply. It is a question of which policy the American people wish to follow, assuming that Gov. Smith is for the equalization fee and the McNary-Haugen bill. On water-power there is little difference between the two in practical effect, even though there is in principle. In our opinion, Mr. Hoover's New York speech as an exposition of wise American economic, social and political policy is unassailable, and will stand out conspicuously so when removed from the heat of a presidential election.

What Others Say

MR. DARROW FAILS

(From the Milwaukee Journal)
Clarence Darrow fails, we think, as a supporter of a candidate or a cause. Brilliant, sharp and inescapable when he is condemning corruption at Washington, when he is painting the picture of the men who ought to have been on guard and were not; he is on sure ground. But little things entice and trip Mr. Darrow. He is too much tempted to the quip that "though Mr. Hoover has been in this country 10 years, he is opposed to immigration." People are not voting on Mr. Hoover's years abroad. And Gov. Smith favors no more immigration than Mr. Hoover does. And at least one big thing trips Mr. Darrow. "All the forces of bigotry are on one side," he says. Bigotry, amazing and saddening in a country founded as America was founded has been revealed in this campaign. And it is directed against Gov. Smith. But Mr. Darrow can't get the bigot in one boat. Right as he is to condemn the un-American right or this campaign, that is not a way to go about it. People think faith can somehow be guarded by politics. So thinking, they are not much impressed by Mr. Darrow's view, suspecting he has small respect for Gov. Smith's faith or any other. They are to be shown that religion in politics is wrong, but not by a man who does not think it is right anywhere. A speaker who gets all the wrong in one boat and all the right in the other may win laughs but down at the bottom, it is the very American sense of humor that defeats him.

A new instrument in the Bureau of Standards is so delicate that it can detect the buzzing of a bee on Mount Everest. Just the thing for the Democrats to use against the Whispering Campaigners.

Those who think the clergy incapable of its little joke now and then probably didn't read Bishop Cannon's recent remark that the success of prohibition has been proved by staggering figures.

POST-TONIC

The Remedy is Worse Than the Malady

"SMITH POLICIES MENACE — HOOVER," says a headline. Yes, they do!

In Terre Haute, Ind., an automobile struck a girl. The driver failed to stop and the girl had him arrested. When the case was called in court Tuesday the prosecution asked that it be dismissed, after advising the court that the two had been married while the charge was pending. The court agreed to the dismissal, probably considering that any further sentence would be excessive. Anyway, this should be a warning to reckless drivers.

YEA, VERILY

Charles Evans Hughes believes that Hoover is the best man. Does that mean that Al Smith will be the bridegroom?

"10-Year Budget Plan Discussed by Highway Men," says a headline in the P-C. Their slogan will be "Stand and Deliver," most likely.

NATIONALIST AUTHORITIES in China have issued an edict prohibiting women from wearing ear rings, and are stopping women on the streets to make them remove the pendants. It is pointed out that ear rings mean as much to a Chinese woman as a skirt does to her Occidental cousin. Under those circumstances, how can the Chinese cops detect anything as minute as the ear rings? sagely asks Harold the Seer.

The night was stormy, and the captain's son stood watching his father steering the little vessel. Wishing to consult his chart, the captain said to the boy:

"Here, take the wheel, I'll be back in a few minutes. Steer by the star and you will be all right."

The boy began to steer the vessel, and soon got her out of her course. When the star appeared at the stern instead of ahead, he shouted proudly to his father:

"Come, and find me another star, dad, I've passed that one!"

DIRTY POLITICS

OVER AT OUR HOUSE I listened in on Curtis' speech over the radio last week, and reception was perfect. Later that evening I went to a friend's house, and he was just tuning in on Governor Smith's address. There was static galore. I began to wonder how perfect the Curtis speech had come in over the radio.

With supreme disgust, he exclaimed: "There, I never knew it to fail—when the Republicans talk, everything comes in fine and you can hear every word; but when the Democrats go on the air, all you can get is static. I tell you the broadcasting companies are all Republican. They put the static in the air. Look what they're doing to Smith's chances for election!" And he was serious.

A GOOD MOUTH DISINFECTANT

The childlike faith of some travelers, who in the public lavatory, not only bathe and shave but brush their teeth and gargle their throat and might take care other morbid treatment if the facilities were available, makes travel uncomfortable for a crab like me. I want to utter a mean, sarcastic laugh when I see the poor goof get out his package of "antiseptic" and proceed to rout the germs from his mouth, throat or other cavities, as provided in the circular. His education is frightfully expensive, but probably he enjoys paying for it. From some of the impassioned letters I have received I gather that some people do derive a huge satisfaction out of the fancy that their particular customs or habits keep them "immaculate." The habitual use of alleged antiseptic lozenges, to which many unsophisticated customers have been educated, is akin to the bathing obsession, the sometimes the antiseptic vendor assures customers that a dash of the magic stuff will do away with the need of a bath if one's social demands give no time for the latter rite.

Recent carefully conducted tests made by Dr. E. Rodriguez, D. D. S., of the dental corps, United States army, led to these conclusions:

1. Mercurochrome—20 soluble (2 per cent aqueous solution) is too feeble an antiseptic to be used safely as a surface disinfectant of the oral mucous membranes.

2. The 5 per cent mercurochrome solution in alcohol and the mercurochrome alcohol acetone preparations possess decided advantages over the aqueous solution, but fall in too large a proportion of cases to be considered effective in surface disinfection of the oral mucous membrane.

3. Iodine in dilutions of 2.5 per cent and even in 1.75 per cent strength preferably in glycerin, is an effective germicide from the standpoint of surface disinfection of the oral mucous membranes.

A mixture of equal quantities of tincture of iodine (U. S. P.) and glycerin makes the 3.5 per cent strength, for the standard strength of tincture of iodine is 7 per cent. This mixture is all right for an occasional application to the gums or other parts of the lining of the mouth but it would be too strong for irritating, for frequently repeated application. If one wishes to use iodine daily as an antiseptic in the mouth, it would be better to dilute the 3.5 per cent mixture with another equal quantity of glycerin, which would give a 1.75 per cent iodine strength. Probably one with chronic gingivitis, pyorrhea or other mouth infection should apply this 1.75 per cent iodine only once each alternate day at first. Many years ago a wise physician-dentist taught that the application of a very similar glycerin-tincture-iodine mixture to the gums of children's mouths once a month would prevent tooth decay. The simplest way to prepare this 1.75 per cent mixture would be to mix one ounce of standard tincture of iodine (spell it iodine if you like) with three ounces of glycerin.

I have always believed that a mixture of iodine and glycerin is the best remedy to apply to canker sores—once daily. It smartens for an instant, then seems to soothe and hastens healing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Skeeter Dope

Kindly repeat the formula for keeping mosquitoes away. (Mrs. J. L. E.)

Answer—To apply to exposed skin, or to saturate a cloth and hang in doorway of window to repel the varmints, this mixture is good:

Olive oil

Oil of tag

Oil of cedar

Oil of citronella

Mix equal quantities.

Oil of citronella alone is good but doesn't last, whereas this mixture of four oils remains for half the night or half the day. When mosquitoes become a nuisance around a town or village or farmhouse, it is proof that somewhere within a hundred yards is some stagnant water where the skeeters breed drain the water or sprinkle oil over the surface—crude oil, best sprayed on the ground, and not on the water.

To make a thin film, or stock the pool with minnows or even goldfish which will eat the mosquito larvae ("wiggletails"). Enough water to breed mosquitoes may stand a week or 10 days in an abstruse cave, an old can or bottle hidden under weeds, or a mere cove in the ground. Rain barrels, cisterns or open wells are notorious breeding places for mosquitoes. These may be covered with a screen to keep the water in accessible to the female mosquito when she seeks a place to deposit her eggs.

Not a Very Bad Girl

I do not take any stimulants such as tea, coffee or liquor, but I do smoke one cigar a day and I hale it I might as I never smoke more than one daily. Can this injure my health? I seem to feel well always, but mother fears that because of my nervous temperament the cigar will undermine my health. (Healthy Girl)

Answer—Alpha I believe a woman may use tobacco temperately with as much impunity as a man. I think even the slightest indulgence is likely to injure the health of an immature boy or girl. You give no inkling as to your age or general development.

Chronic Appendicitis

I have been diagnosed as having chronic appendicitis. Is it unusual that I should have... (S. M. F.)

Answer—A symptom or symptoms? I should not call it unusual. But it would be both unusual and unhealthy for our readers to mention 'em here.

"AVAILABILITY"

In nearly every pre-convention political campaign such as those held this year at Kansas City and Houston there is some talk about "availability." A candidate is not by any means always chosen because he is the best man but because he is the most "available." Thus Curtis was made the G. O. P. vice presidential candidate because he came from the farm section which had to be placated. He was "available." For a similar reason Robinson was chosen by the Democrats.

Many who are interested in the output of the publishing houses probably have no suspicion that the same system operates in the publishing of books. It is not at all certain during any given season that the books that are actually published are the best that were offered to the editors; it is quite certain in fact that now and again manuscripts are rejected that are, from the point of view of literature, far better than some others that are accepted and published. The rejected ones were lacking in "availability." Or at least the publishers thought they were, which amounts to the same thing.

In his biography now running serially in Ed Howe tells the story of his early success. "The Story of a Country Town." This book was published forty years ago. Ed Howe, then a young man, sent the manuscript to five of the leading publishers. He prints their names and most of them are still among the leading publishers today. All five rejected the book. Then Ed Howe, who was running a weekly newspaper, decided to print the book himself. In this form it made considerable of a hit and every one of those five leading publishers wrote the author asking him for the privilege of becoming his publisher, offering to bring out "The Story of a Country Town" that they had once rejected. By reason of being a success the book had in the meanwhile acquired "availability" for those publishers.

In first rejecting the manuscript and then offering to publish it these publishers were not guilty of any unethical practice. They were merely trying to be good business men. The kind of thing is happening right along, although it seldom comes out into the open. Recently S. Fowler Wright, an Englishman, personally printed his novel, "De-luge," because the regular publishers were not enthusiastic over it. It made a big hit in that form and then the regular publishers not only graded that book but made contracts for future books. Wright, by reason of his success, had become "available."

You can depend upon it that manuscripts are now and again returned to the authors not because they are not worth publishing but because the publishers see no money in them. It is only occasionally, as in the case of Fowler Wright and Ed Howe that it comes out into the open. In most cases the manuscripts are merely stored away and in due time even their authors lose interest in them.

I for one do not blame the publishers for rejecting a manuscript and later offering to publish it after it has acquired "availability." Publishers are business men and they must use their best business judgment in such a way that they can continue to do business and pay their bills. If a publisher has rejected a manuscript and then something happens to the author that gives him nationwide advertising, making his manuscript "available," it is only good business to try to secure the rejected manuscript.

What I do sometimes blame publishers for is their lack of frankness on this score. The publisher who will frankly admit that he wants to make money out of the books he publishes is worthy of respect. But sometimes a publisher takes the attitude that he is serving literature with a capital L and that he would never dream of rejecting a manuscript that has merit or accepting one that has not. Publishers whose interest is greatest in literature will usually admit sadly that they would like to publish certain manuscripts but that they dare not risk it for financial reasons. Their honesty commands respect.

Women Hear Bishop Talk At Meeting

MRS. Gustave Keller, Sr., Mrs. Otto Wolter and Mrs. John Roach, St. attended the annual conference of the Green Bay Diocesan Council of Catholic Women Thursday at Green Bay. Mrs. Keller went as the chairman of the Appleton deanery and Mrs. Wolter and Mrs. Roach represented the Ladies Auxiliary to the Catholic Order of Foresters.

The conference opened with high mass at St. Francis Xavier cathedral, at which the Rev. Theodore Gersten of De Pere preached the sermon. Father Kersten asked the members to exhibit themselves as ministers to God and to continue their work for purity of dress.

About 80 delegates and visitors registered by noon and the session was opened with an address of welcome by the president, Mrs. Frank J. Van Laanen. She introduced Bishop Paul P. Rhode who explained the purpose of the council. He said, "It exists first to further the religious and social activities among yourselves and secondly it exists to exercise your little influence upon matters that affect the life and welfare of society at large." The Bishop discussed Bolshevism and urged the women to study and know the issues of the day so that they could act intelligently.

Woman's modesty was a subject of discussion at the meeting and a resolution was passed for the purpose to bring about reform. A report given at the meeting showed that there are 2,500 families in the Green Bay diocese, that there are 15 children within the diocese, that 1915 children received summer instruction the last year and that this number is higher than in any other state in the union. Seven hundred personal letters were written by the president in carrying on the work of the council the previous year. Msgr. W. J. Fitzmaurice is dean of the Appleton deanery, which includes 14 organizations.

Y. P. S. MEMBERS CONDUCT CHURCH SERVICE SUNDAY

A group of local members of the Baptist Young Peoples' union and several members from Neenah will journey to Fond Sunday morning to conduct services at the Baptist church. Several local young people will speak, including Harold Eads, and Lucetta Zimmerman. Nell Klausner and Mrs. Kenneth Chappelle of Neenah also will give short addresses.

A quartet composed of Kenneth Chappelle, Harold Eads, Nell Klausner and Frank Thalke will sing several selections. A duet is to be sung by Grace Smith and Lois Lutheran of Neenah. A dinner will be served in the church parlors.

Ballet Dancers in Program Here

Doris Niles and her ballet, New York dancers of great charm and beauty, will appear in Appleton Wednesday, Nov. 14, under the auspices of the Appleton Woman's club. The performance will be given at Lawrence Memorial chapel.

The program will include classical and modern numbers, a group of oriental and character selections, a Spanish suite, and a Granada Night. The ballet will be assisted by Cornelia Niles in solo dances; Rondalia Usandizagas, sextet of Spanish guitarists; and a select orchestra.

CLUB MEETINGS

Mrs. Herbert Schultz of Oshkosh was the guest of honor at a meeting of the Marchita club Wednesday night with Mrs. Lloyd Doerflinger, N. Appleton-st., the hostess. Sewing occupied the evening. Mrs. Frank Apitz of Fond du Lac was an out-of-town guest. Ten members were present and decorations for the party were in pink and white. Mrs. Fred Jentz, Jr., will be hostess to the club Wednesday evening, Nov. 7, at her home on W. Summer-st.

Mrs. Clifford Brandt entertained the Wednesday Afternoon bridge club Wednesday afternoon at her home at 228 Doty-st., Kaukauna. Prizes at bridge were won by Mrs. John Burke. Mrs. Harry Herzog and Mrs. I. E. Maxwell. Mrs. Burke, 1115 W. Fifth-st., will be hostess to the club next Wednesday.

Mrs. James Brown, 308 W. Atlantic-st., will be hostess to the Good Fair club Wednesday night at her home. Two tables of dice were in play and prizes were won by Mrs. William Albrecht, Mrs. Carl Roemer and Mrs. Anthony Berkens. Mrs. A. H. Falk, W. Commercial-st., will entertain the club in two weeks.

Mrs. Vern Ames, E. Pacific-st., entertained the Thursday Afternoon Bridge club Thursday afternoon at her home. Prizes were won by Mrs. Harry Cameron, Mrs. Erik I. Madison and Mrs. Wallace Grimm. Mrs. Walter Fox, 315 S. Pierce-ave., will be hostess to the club in two weeks.

Mrs. Howard Eberhardt, 212 N. Westminster, entertained her bridge club Thursday evening at her home. Prizes were won by Miss Clementine John and Mrs. Leo Krating. Mrs. Richard Johnson, 314 E. Hancock-st., will entertain the club next week.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS HOLD RALLY SUNDAY

An Institute for Sunday School workers of Evangelical churches in the Appleton district will be held at the First Evangelical church at Neenah Sunday. Practically all of the Sunday school teachers and officers of the Emanuel Evangelical church of this city will attend. Dr. E. W. Praetorius, Cleveland, Ohio, will be the principal speaker at the institute. Dr. Praetorius is general secretary of the Sunday School and Christian Endeavor of Evangelical church. He will be assisted by the Rev. R. J. Schramm, director of religious education of Evangelical churches of Wisconsin. The institute is one of a series of meetings which have been held in the Appleton district during the past month.

PARTIES

About 200 persons attended the Halloween party given by Chapters JM and DB Thursday evening at Trinity English Lutheran church.

The sub-auditorium was decorated with witches, cats and pumpkins and a witch in a cave served punch. There was a fortune teller, an air-port with airplane riding, a den of horrors, ghosts, and a real skeleton. Various games were played, such as rolling pumpkins, a parade of famous ghosts, a cat game and writing "last wills" which were read to the audience. A "Sale of Soles" was held at which the men bought the "soles" of the women and took them to supper.

Misses Edith Small, Margaret Thompson and Alice Wolf entertained 40 guests at a bridge dinner at the Candle Glow tea room Thursday evening. Prizes were won by Misses Esther Graef, Edna Benson, Catherine Small and Margaret O'Leary.

Miss Florence Schultz, 1404 N. Oneida-st., entertained two tables at bridge at her home Thursday night. Prizes were awarded to Misses Lila Schultz and Dorothy Belling.

A Halloween bridge was given Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Mary McDaniels, 824 W. Fifth-st., in honor of Miss Mary Hoolihan of Kaukauna, who will be married to Edward Kools of Appleton in November. Honors went to Misses Kolish and Miss Grace Brenzel. Out of town guests were Miss Mary McDaniels of Peoria, Ill., Miss Mercedes McDaniels of West Allis, the Misses Theresa Schuh, Dorothy Kolish, Georgina Laut and Mary Rose Walsh of the Kimberly public school faculty.

A Halloween program and candy social will be given Tuesday night, Oct. 30 at the Cedar Grove school. The program, to which the public has been invited, will open at 8:30. Miss Florence Vogt is the teacher. Miss Marie Klein, county health nurse, visited the school on Thursday and found health conditions fair.

Mrs. H. R. Loveland, E. Wisconsin-ave., was surprised Thursday night at her home by a group of friends. The occasion was the eleventh wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Loveland. Two tables of bridge were in play and prizes were won by Mrs. Lem Wilson and Miss Hilda Discher of Neenah.

The annual Halloween dancing party given by Fraternal Order of Eagles will be held Wednesday night, Oct. 31 at Eagle hall. The Valley Melody Entertainers will play for the party which is for Eagles and their friends. Miss Staudt, chairman of the committee in charge, has arranged a number of Halloween features and novelties.

Mrs. Leo Lesseloy, 324 E. Hancock-st., entertained at a theatre party Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Arthur Roth of Bay City, Mich., who is visiting relatives and friends in this city. Mrs. Roth before her marriage this summer was Miss Lila Peterson. Eight guests were present.

Pro Women Urged To Cast Vote

EVERY member of the Business and Professional Women's club of Appleton will be urged to vote on election day, Tuesday, Nov. 6 so that the club will have a 100 per cent vote. Members of a telephone squad will telephone each member of the club before and after election day. Dr. Eliza Culbertson is legislative chairman of the local club and in charge of the "get out the vote" campaign, which is a part of a national movement.

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs will give a prize of $150 to the State Federation which reports the highest percentage of its membership at the polls. Martha L. Conrole, national chairman of legislation, says, "We are a non-partisan organization and we are not asking you to vote for any particular organization. We are asking you to vote in order to reaffirm our faith in our ideals in this, the greatest nation in the world, this leader in human rights and happiness. Words fail me when I try to express the love which I, a business and professional woman, and all such women, should have for these United States, the land of promise and opportunity for women." Miss Leora Westlake is legislative chairman of the Wisconsin Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs.

CARD PARTIES

Twenty five tables of cards were in play at the open card party given by Delta chapter, Employees Mutual Benefit Association Thursday afternoon at Odd Fellow hall. Mrs. Frank Probst, Mrs. A. Myse and Mrs. John Boehm won prizes at schafkopf and Mrs. A. VanRyzin and Mrs. W. Steenis the prizes at bridge. Dice winners were Mrs. C. VanAble and Mrs. F. Volkman. Mrs. Herman Eggert conducted the apron sale and Mrs. John McCarter was in charge of the card party. Assisting Mrs. McCarter were Mrs. Roy McCarter, Mrs. Harry McCarter, Mrs. Gordon Larsen, Mrs. Wallace Mortenson, Mrs. Glen MacIlroy, Mrs. Alex Pierre and Mrs. William Nowell.

Bridge was played at 18 tables at the card party given by Valley Shrine Thursday afternoon at Masonic temple. Prizes at bridge were won by Mrs. E. L. Bolton, Mrs. Ida Hanson of Neenah and Mrs. Horace Collipe. Mrs. W. M. Taylor was chairman of the committee on arrangements, assisted by Mrs. L. M. Schindler, Mrs. Henrietta Barnes, Mrs. Laura Scholtz of Neenah, Mrs. A. Bullard of Menasha, Mrs. Henry Brauer and Mrs. Anna Krahn of Kaukauna.

Mrs. Michael Gayhart and Mrs. Joseph Dorn won the prizes at schafkopf at the open card party given Thursday afternoon by the Ladies Aid society of St. Joseph church at St. Joseph hall. Mrs. John Heinzkill won the prize at plumpuck. Ten tables were in play. Mrs. Leo Losse-Young and Mrs. Fred Liethen were in charge of the party.

Labor Leader Is Out With Facts About Troubles

Taylor Says He Lay Helpless For Twenty-nine Months. Sargon Puts Him on His Feet a Well Man.

"If anyone wants to know what I think about Sargon just send them to see me," said Sargon Taylor, 1202 West 26th St., Minneapolis, Minn., recently. Mr. Taylor is a well known labor leader, and for years was active in organization work of various unions in this section.

"For twenty-nine months," he continued, "I was laid up with what I thought was neuritis. The pains in my arms were so severe at times I couldn't raise them half way up to my head. My legs also became affected so I couldn't walk. I couldn't even dress myself without help. I tell you I suffered torture day and night."

In addition to this I had stomach trouble. I had no appetite, and the little I ate disagreed with me, and made me sick. I was so nervous and upset I couldn't get a good night's sleep. It seemed like my whole system was poisoned. I just ached all over from head to foot.

"I spent lots of money for medicines and treatments, but nothing did me any good, and I was going down hill and losing weight rapidly."

"A friend of mine recommended Sargon to me, and I want to say that four bottles have made me feel like a new man. I haven't an ache or pain about me. I eat like a hungry boy and my food agrees with me perfectly. I have gained six pounds and am just full of new life and energy. I tell you Sargon is wonderful!"

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills are the greatest laxative I ever took. They do their work thoroughly without griping or causing any other discomfort—something I cannot say for any other laxative I've ever found."

"I have thousands of friends in the Twin-Cities who know that a statement from me means facts, and I just wish it was so everyone of them could see this statement and learn about Sargon."

Sargon may be obtained in Appleton from Voigt's Drug Store.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Prizes at stunts and games at the Halloween party which entertained members of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin of St. Mary church Thursday night at Columbia hall were won by Miss Mary Masfield, Miss Myrtle Farrell and Miss Marie McDaniels. Thirty persons were present at the party which followed a short business session. Miss Margaret Heckle was in charge of the arrangements. A Thanksgiving party will be given by the Sodality in November with Miss Blanche Lemke in charge.

About 250 persons attended the program given by the pupils of Zion Lutheran school Thursday night at the school hall. The program of readings, musical numbers, playlets, drills and songs will be repeated Friday night at the school. Those who took part were Ray Haase, Victor Krull, Ruth Haase, Virginia Bauman, Lester Belling, and Corleton Koch and pupils of the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grades.

The Rev. R. J. Schramm, director of religious education of Evangelical churches of Wisconsin, will occupy the pulpit of the Emanuel Evangelical church Sunday morning. The Rev. Mr. Schramm will give an account of the World's convention of Sunday School workers held in Los Angeles, Calif., last summer.

LODGE NEWS

A large delegation of Fraternal Order of Eagles will attend the annual meeting of District No. 4 of class initiation will take place for candidates of the various series of lodges included in the district. Those cities represented in the district are Sturgeon Bay, Marinette, Green Bay, Manitowoc, Neenah, Menasha, Chillicothe, Appleton, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac.

Regular business was transacted at the meeting of Equitable Fraternal Union Thursday night at Odd Fellow hall. The meeting was the regular bi-monthly meeting.

Fifty members were present at the meeting of Knights of Pythias Thursday night at Castle hall. Rank of page was conferred on a class of candidates. A social hour and refreshments followed the business session.

A number of Odd Fellows of this city are going to attend the meeting of Goethe lodge of Odd Fellows Saturday night at Fond du Lac. A degree team of 40 men from Lockwood, O., will confer the second degree on a class of candidates.

MISSION CLUB STUDIES FIRST LESSON IN BOOK

The first lesson in the study book, friends of Africa, was presented by Mrs. W. F. Berg at the monthly meeting and rally day of the Women's Missionary society of Emmanuel Evangelical church Thursday afternoon at the church. Sixty members were present. Mrs. George Breitrick was chairman of the program and explained the purpose of the rally day meeting.

The society voted to observe donation day by sending canned goods and money to the hospital which the church supports at Monroe. Numbers of the program were devotionals led by Mrs. O. Salberlich, and Mrs. O. Salberlich and Mrs. Walter Olsson; instrumental music by Mrs. O. Polzin and Mrs. Edward Petzneck; a reading by Miss Aronell Blake; vocal solo, Like a Father by Maude Harwood.

Mrs. Walter Olsson was chairman of the refreshment committee and she was assisted by Mrs. O. Salberlich, Mrs. A. Zimdars, Miss Christina Wolfmeyer and Mrs. G. E. Reichert. A feature of the meeting was a mock thank offering convention in which seven members participated.

The fire department, was called out about 8:30 Thursday evening when a children's playhouse on W. Rogers-ave caught fire. The source of the blaze was not known but the firemen put it out in a few minutes and there was little damage. The property is owned by Miles Meidam.

POPULATION MUST BE REMEMBERED IN REGIONAL PLANNING

People Must Be Considered Before Highways, Etc., Speaker Reminds

In regional planning, population is the most important item to be considered, and although all other elements such as highways, water supply, and sewage disposal are basic, the people should first be considered, Robert Kinery, general manager of the Chicago Region Planning association, told about 75 people gathered in the Appleton Vocational school in the second annual conference of Wisconsin City and Regional Planning association, Thursday evening.

The session started with a banquet in the Crystal room of Conway hotel at 6:30 in the evening. Approximately 60 people were present. The 120th Field Artillery band, under direction of E. E. Mumm, played during the banquet. It was announced at the dinner that the second speaker of the third session, Burt Williams, Milwaukee, who was to talk on Wisconsin's Natural Heritage of Streams and Woods, was detained in Milwaukee. Following the banquet the group went to the vocational school.

Mr. Kinery presented the Chicago plan of regional planning to the group and illustrated his talk with colored slides which indicated the growth and development of the project. He told about the expansion of the Chicago region, including the northwest portion of Indiana and the southeast section of Wisconsin as included in the plan.

He said that their plan was divided into four basic elements, highways, parks, water supply, and sewage disposal. The various county, village, city, and town heads were organized into committees and each was included in a separate department for solving the various basic divisions.

The final topic dealt with by Mr. Kinery was highways. He traced the development of the highway system in Illinois and illustrated the various kinds of slides. He told about the new Chicago plan of one

GOVERNOR DENIES FOUR PARDON APPLICATIONS

Madison—(AP)—Denial of four applications for pardon was announced in the governor's office today. Those denied clemency were all convicted in Milwaukee county municipal court. They were:

James Ousley, convicted on April 21, 1929, of the crime of rape and sentenced to the Wisconsin State Prison for thirty years.

John Clayton, convicted Nov. 24, 1920, murder in first degree and sentenced to state prison for life.

Walter Kinias, convicted Nov. 4, 1927, assault and robbery, sentenced to the state prison for 3 to 20 years.

Fred Schultz, convicted April 11, 1918, of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to the state prison for life.

AWARD ROOSEVELT MEDAL TO 3 FOR UNUSUAL SERVICE

Hughes, Lindbergh, and Chapman Will Receive Honors Oct. 27

New York (AP)—A scientist in a field in which Theodore Roosevelt found one of his chief enjoyments is, with a jurist and an aviator, to be honored October 27 with the Roosevelt medal for distinguished service.

Charles Evans Hughes, recently named to the world court; Charles A. Lindbergh, pilot and technical aviation advisor, and Frank M. Chapman, curator of ornithology at the American Museum of Natural History, New York, since 1908, are those who will receive the medals from James R. Garfield, president of the Roosevelt Memorial association.

The awards will be made at a banquet in the old Roosevelt residence in East 20th street, where 70 years ago the late president was born. He was a lover of wild life, an explorer and historian.

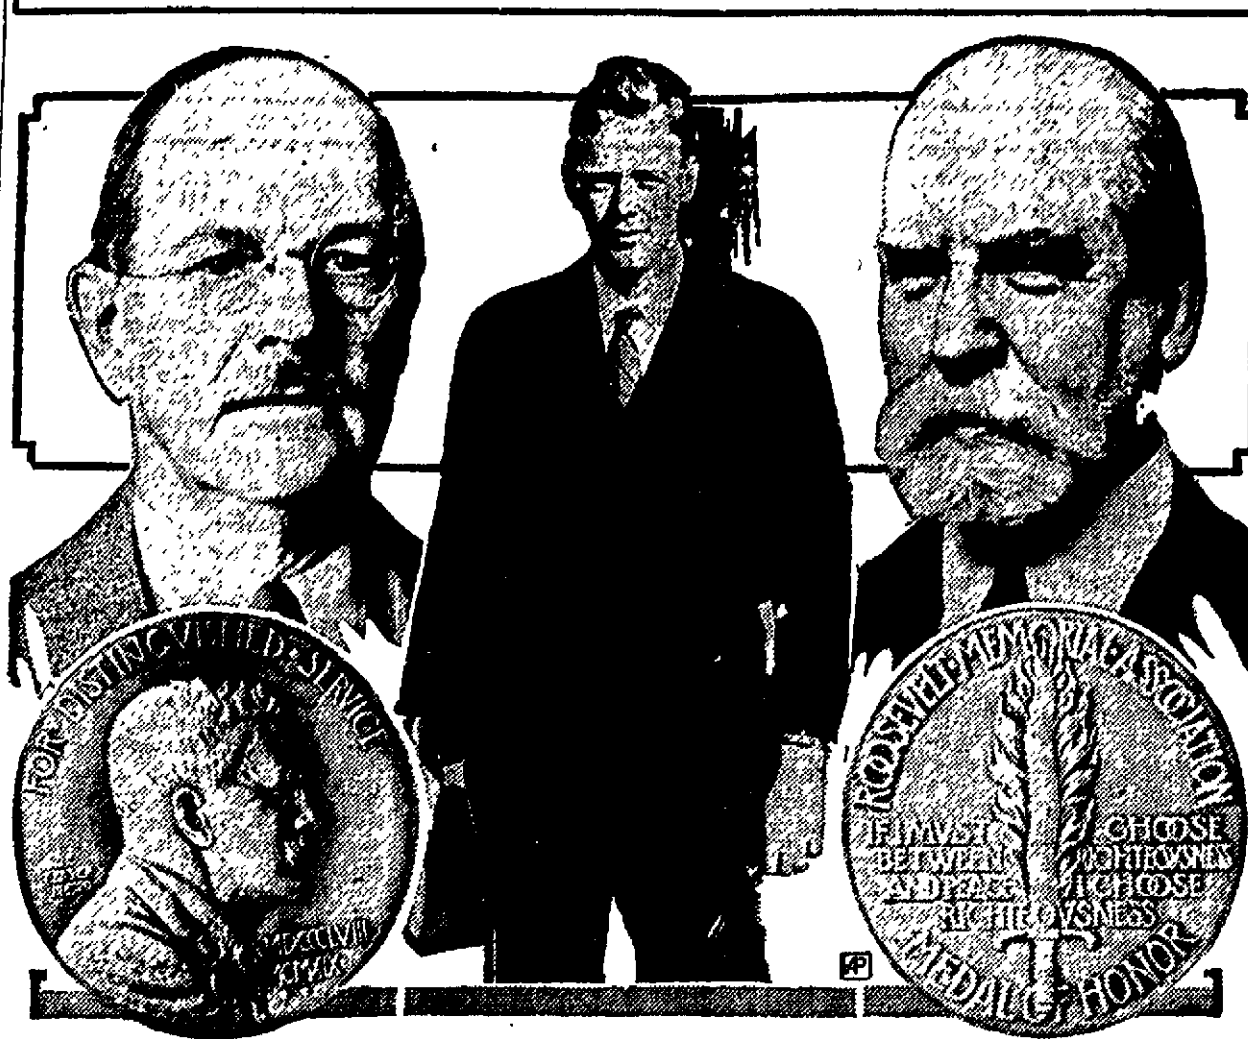

It is no new thing for a jurist to receive this medal. John Bassett Moore, authority on international law and predecessor of Mr. Hughes on the world court, received it last year, and in 1925 Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes was the recipient.

So also have men concerned with wild life won the award. Among them have been Dan Beard, whose mission has been to introduce boys to wild life and the outdoors; George Bird Grinnell, author, hunter and friend to Indians; and Gifford Pinchot, leader in the national movement for conservation of forests.

Colonel Lindbergh, however, will be the first aviator to receive the Roosevelt medal. Of him Mr. Garfield says, "To a generation, hearing on all sides that money is the standard of success, and that the way to achievement and fame lies through aggressive self-seeking publicity and the cultivation of the polite vices, Charles Lindbergh, living cleanly, scorned publicity, putting aside offers of untold wealth came and achieved such a triumph as no young man in the world's history ever achieved before."

The medals, awarded annually, are three inches in diameter and of solid gold. They show the head of Roosevelt on one side and on the other a flaming sword with the motto, "If I must choose between righteousness and peace, I choose righteousness," James Earle Fraser designed them.

Hughes, Lindbergh, and Chapman to Be Honored

Specifically, Lindbergh is to be honored for his example to modern youth; Hughes for his administration of public office and development of public and international law; and Chapman for his studies of American bird life, which have taken him frequently through North and Central America.

Herbert Hoover and General John J. Pershing, with Mr. Moore, received the medals last year.

SHE WAITS ON "DEAD" BROTHER
When Betty Powell, a waitress in a restaurant at Cardiff, Wales, started to wait on a man, she recognized him as her brother whom she had mourned as dead for 12 years. The brother, now a private in the Royal Army Service Corps, had been reported in 1916 as missing. On his arrival in Cardiff he visited the restaurant where he had formerly worked. He had traveled all over the world, he said, in the past 12 years.

COST REDUCED Almost One-Third on Loans $10 to $300

The Household Finance Corporation, by reason of large volume of business, efficient management, and favorable credit facilities, attained after fifty years of operation, is now making a very substantial reduction in the cost of loans up to $300.

You can borrow from us for about one-third less than we formerly charged, and about one-third less than the maximum lawful rate. For example, total cost on $50 for one month is $1.25; for five months, paid in five equal monthly payments, is $3.75. All other amounts up to $300 at same proportionate rate.

If you have a loan elsewhere, let us explain our new reduced rate and tell you how much you will save by borrowing from us. You get the money without delay, return it in small monthly payments, arranged to suit your convenience. Each payment of principal reduces the interest.

No Endorsers. No one need know. Our service is personal and confidential. We do not notify your employer, neither do we make inquiries of your friends, relatives or tradespeople.

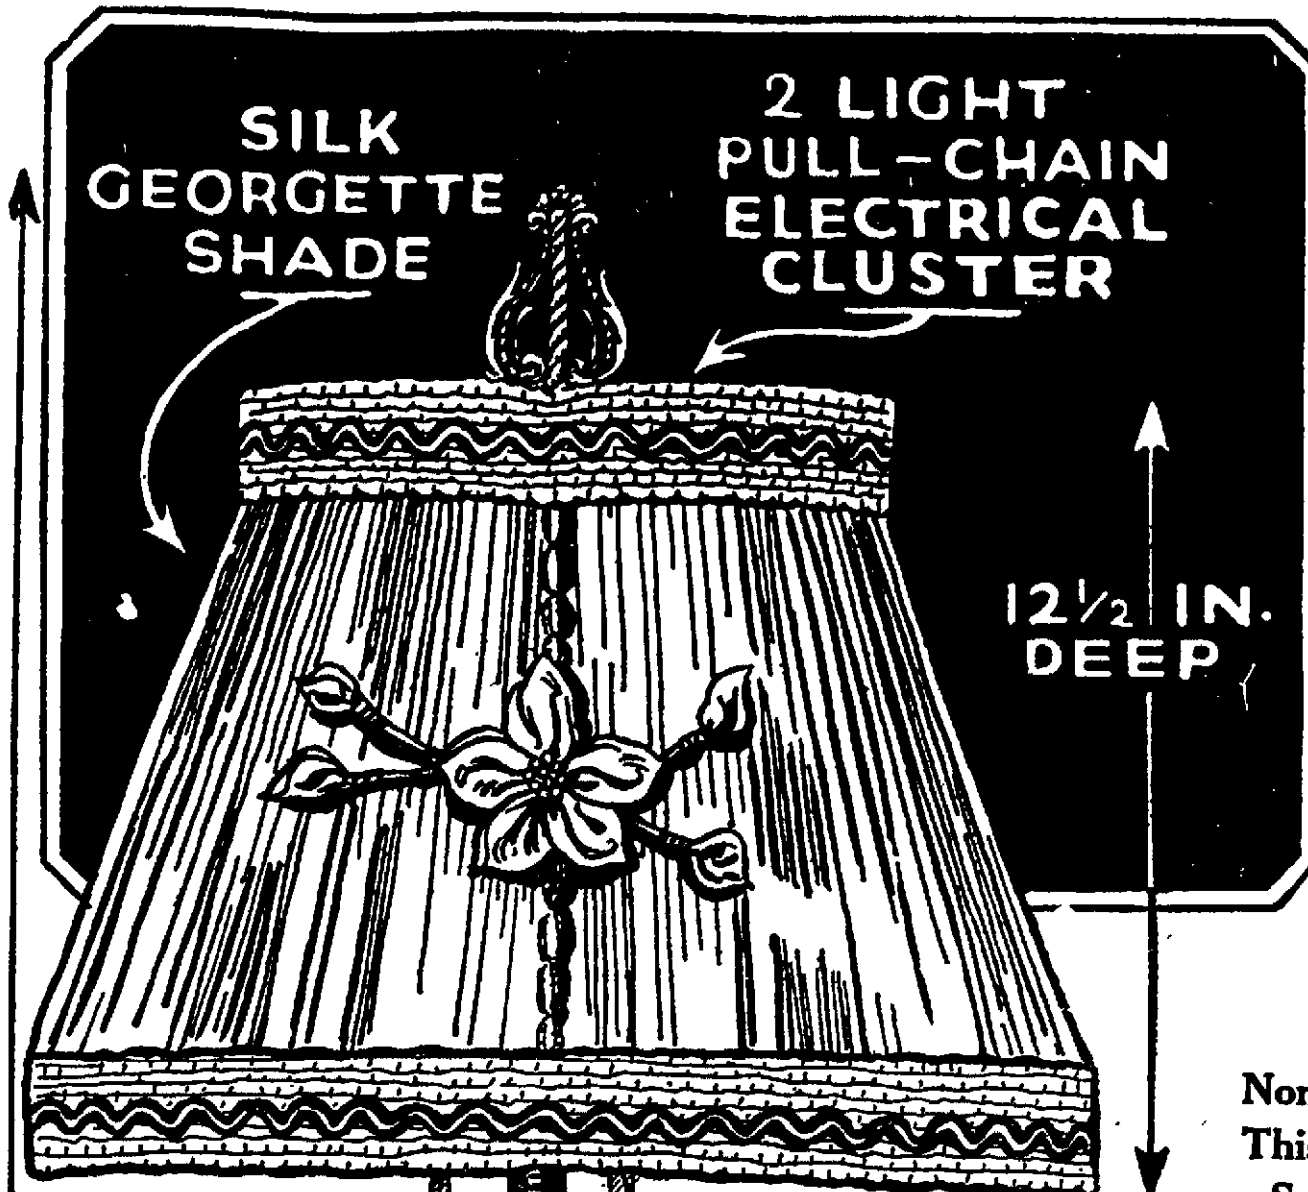

Loans made in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Little Chute and other nearby towns.

LAY CORNERSTONE OF COLLEGE GYM ON NOVEMBER 17

Ceremonies Will Be Part of Annual Homecoming Program

As a part of the homecoming program, the cornerstone of the new Lawrence gymnasium will be laid at 1:15 Saturday afternoon, Nov. 17, preceding the Lawrence-Carroll homecoming game.

Lewis M. Alexander, president of the board of trustees and one of the principal donors of the building which will bear his name, will lay the cornerstone. Appropriate documents of the college including a copy of the college catalogue and the 1928 Viking Ariel, which was dedicated to Mr. Alexander, will be placed in the vault of the stone. The ceremony will follow the alumni buffet luncheon which will be held at Brokaw hall from 12 to 1 o'clock.

According to Myron Kittleson, general chairman of the homecoming committee, arrangements have been made to have both the artillery and college bands take part in the homecoming parade which will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday, Nov. 17. The traditional mass meeting and torchlight parade will be held Friday night and will be followed by a frolic in the gymnasium. The library will be the headquarters for the alumni and registration will take place Saturday morning.

Plans for the homecoming celebration are under the direction of Blue Key and Pan-Hellenic. Heads of the various committees include John Walker, Victor Winkauf, Robert Gallagher, Alois Fischl, Ray Manning, Fred Schauer, and Lester Jacobson.

LATEST-STYLE CITY UNDER WAY

Exemplifying the latest styles in ornament and design, an entire new city is being constructed near Paris. All the modern ideas in buildings are to be included. The church is nearing completion, and it reveals the modern architectural tendencies. The main entrance is behind a single arch that spans almost the entire width of the structure. Figures used for decorations are very large, and the steeple is a tapering "shaft of angles."

STAGE And SCREEN

PARISIAN GAYETY IS CAUGHT BY DIRECTOR

All the gayety Paris with its colorful boulevards, cafes, artists' frolics and rendezvous has been successfully transplanted to the screen in "The Model from Montmartre," a Paramount picture which was produced in France featuring an all-star European cast including Ivan Petrovitch, Louise LaGrange, Nita Naldi and Maurice Comenge. The picture is now showing at Fischer's Appleton theatre last times today.

Such interesting spots in Paris as the Cafe Du Dome, known to all American tourists, and which is located in the heart of the Latin quarter; the Rue de la Paix; the annual Artist's Ball and also the Spring Carnival held at Nice, all contribute to the interesting background afforded in this production. Many localities have been used for the first time in a screen production.

"The Model from Montmartre" has been adapted to the screen from the story written originally for the screen by Henri Bataille, famous modern French author. It was directed by Leonce Perret, who won fame in America by his admirable work in piloting the American star, Gloria Swanson in "Madame Sans Gene" which was also produced in France.

Briefly, the story centers around the efforts of a poverty-stricken artist who is helped to win fame by his model with his winning of first prize at the Grand Palace. With fame, the two marry, and the young artist later becomes fascinated with the Princess de Chabran, a notorious character, and leaves his wife, who stood by him in his days of suffering. However, the artist is made to realize his mistake and how the story is brought to a climax makes it one of the most entertaining films of the cinematic season.

BELLE BENNETT PLAYS "MOTHER MACHREE"

"Mother Machree," Rida Johnson Young's world famous song and story that has stirred the hearts of the world, has been translated to the screen by Fox Films under the direction of John Ford and is shown at the Elite Theatre for the last time today.

Without doubt this photodrama will take its place beside Ford's other great productions, "The Iron Horse" and "3 Bad Men." A cast of stars includes Belle Bennett in the title role, Victor McLaglen, as the Kilkenny Giant, Nell Hamilton as the son of Mother Machree, Ethel Clayton and Philippe De Lacey, as the little son in the early sequences of the story. All interpret their various roles with poignant and whimsical realism.

NEW SCREEN COMEDY GOOD ENTERTAINMENT

"Plastered in Paris," the Fox comedy featuring Sammy Cohen, is the feature attraction at the Elite Theatre tomorrow and Sunday. Cohen, remembered as the amusing little Hebrew doughboy of "What Price Glory?" and "The Gay Retreat," is again seen in the role of a soldier, but only for a few moments, as most of the film is taken up with his adventures in Paris, along with a war buddy, where they go in search of a cure for Sammy's kleptomaniac (the result of being shell-shocked) and a cute little French girl that he had left behind. Jack Pennick plays the buddy and gets every bit of humor possible out of his role.

Prominent parts are also well taken by Lola Salvi, Ivan Linow, Albert Conti and Marion Byron.

"Plastered in Paris" is ideal screen fare for those who wish to scare away the blues. Don't miss it.

Pennsylvania Deer

Law Sets New Pace

BY R. A. CLAFLIN

What a howl of protest arose in Wisconsin when the one-buck law was first advocated. And you still hear the howl from those who hunt for meat instead of sport. I wonder what they will think of this: Pennsylvania has had a one-buck law since 1907. During the open season of that year only 200 deer were killed. In 1927, 15,000 bucks, having two or more points on at least one side, were legally shot! The law has been rigidly enforced in Pennsylvania for the sake of the game, instead of being a state department conducted to foster the selfish interests of a bunch of politicians.

If results of this magnitude can be obtained in a state so thickly populated as Pennsylvania is, the same results can be attained in Wisconsin if the side-stepping, too-casual manipulated politicians will let a law remain in force until results can be judged.

In the meantime in Pennsylvania the does and fawns have increased to unbelievable numbers. They have actually become a menace to the farmers and orchardists who have now justly demanded and obtained relief. Herds of does and fawns numbering 50 to 75 are commonly seen. This is not based on the statement of any one person, nor upon the statement of the farmers or hunters. It comes from the Board of Game Commissioners after long and careful investigation. And they are practical men who know game—not politicians appointed for an entirely different reason.

For the first time in over twenty years the bucks will be given a reprieve. This year the situation has been reversed. Does only will be shot legally during the first two weeks of December. It has become necessary, not only because the bucks have been too greatly decimated, but because the does have become too numerous.

There is not enough food for them and they are actually dying off in great numbers from starvation. It is estimated that 50,000 does will be legally shot this year. And they won't be missed. Instead of that, the number of deer will be reduced to a point where they will meet the demand of the hunters in a satisfactory way, and be able to find food enough to maintain themselves. That is conservation of the right kind, and in a state where natural cover is no more profuse than in Wisconsin, and which has a much greater population, 100,000 special deer licenses will be issued in Pennsylvania this year at a cost of $2.00 each. And they will be good only in the county for which issued. That is another real feature which Wisconsin might well copy.

The United States Biological Survey that with half of the number of does, which they claim average now about twenty five to every buck, and the increased number of bucks that will result from this new protection, the crop of fawns next year will be double that of the present time. Such results were attained only by years of experimentation with a one-buck law.

GIANT PARACHUTE PASSES TESTS TO LOWER AIRPLANES

Huge 'Chute Bears 1,600 Pound Weight Safely to Ground

Dayton, O.—(AP)—The Goliath of parachutes, designed to bear a plane disabled in flight and its passengers safely to earth, has gone through initial tests at Wright Field "with favorable and encouraging results. It has safely lowered a 1,600-pound weight.

Its designer, Major E. L. Hoffman, who was awarded the Collier Trophy last year in recognition of his work in the development of the man-carrying parachute, has described his latest tests with the plane-parachute as "every encouraging and favorable to further development."

Ground tests made with the use of force measuring instruments showed that a pull of 4,800 pounds was exerted by the giant 84-foot parachute when it opened as compared with a 2,000-pound pull of the 24-foot man-carrying parachute.

Major Hoffman plans to spend the winter months in further developing this Sampson of the air by working with tiny model parachutes, carefully designed to scale and placed in wind tunnel for observation. The Wright Field wind tunnels are capable of creating hurricanes of their own with a speed of from 100 to 500 miles an hour, so that the tiny models can be watched under all conditions experienced in actual flight.

The giant parachute was dropped twice from an airplane with a 1,600-pound bomb as a weight to show that the "chute was capable of holding an airplane filled with passengers and its engine. Since these tests were conducted, Major Hoffman has devised several possible methods for releasing the parachute from the plane when the disabled ship is but a short distance from the ground. Such devices would insure the deflation of the parachute and permit the plane to glide safely to earth undamaged. Actual tests with airplanes, manned by army test pilots, may be made in the spring if the new parachute continues to show favorable results in preliminary tests.

Staggering to the imagination is the size and lifting power of the great 'chute. It has a diameter of 84 feet; has 96 panels and 48 shroud lines. It resembles the ordinary man-carrying parachute which also was designed for the United States army by Major Hoffman, but is more than three times its size.

During one of the preliminary tests, Major Hoffman grabbed one of the ropes which run to the top of the device and was quickly lifted into the air by the enormous power of the opened parachute.

SCHMEDEMAN STRIKES AT OPPONENT'S COSTS

Prairie Du Chien.—(AP)—Large expenditures in behalf of the "publican candidate for governor" was brought through a desire to amend the income tax laws in interest of the rich according to Albert G. Schmedeman, Democratic candidate for governor, who spoke Thursday night.

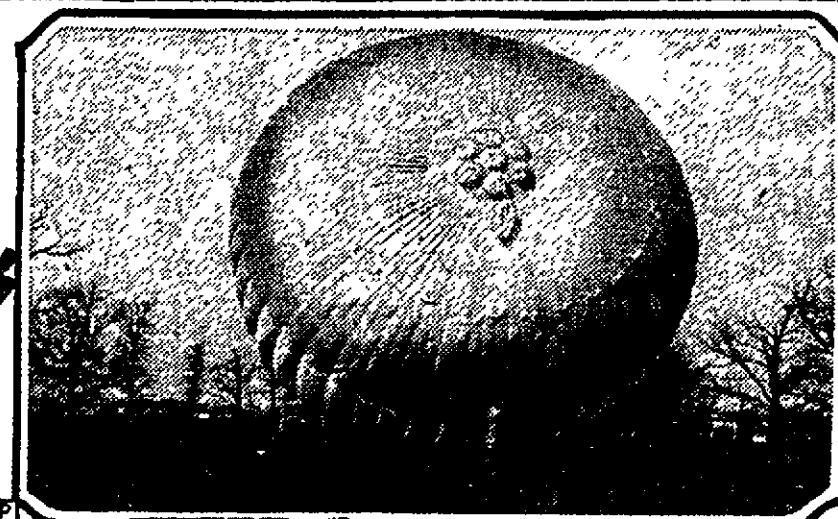

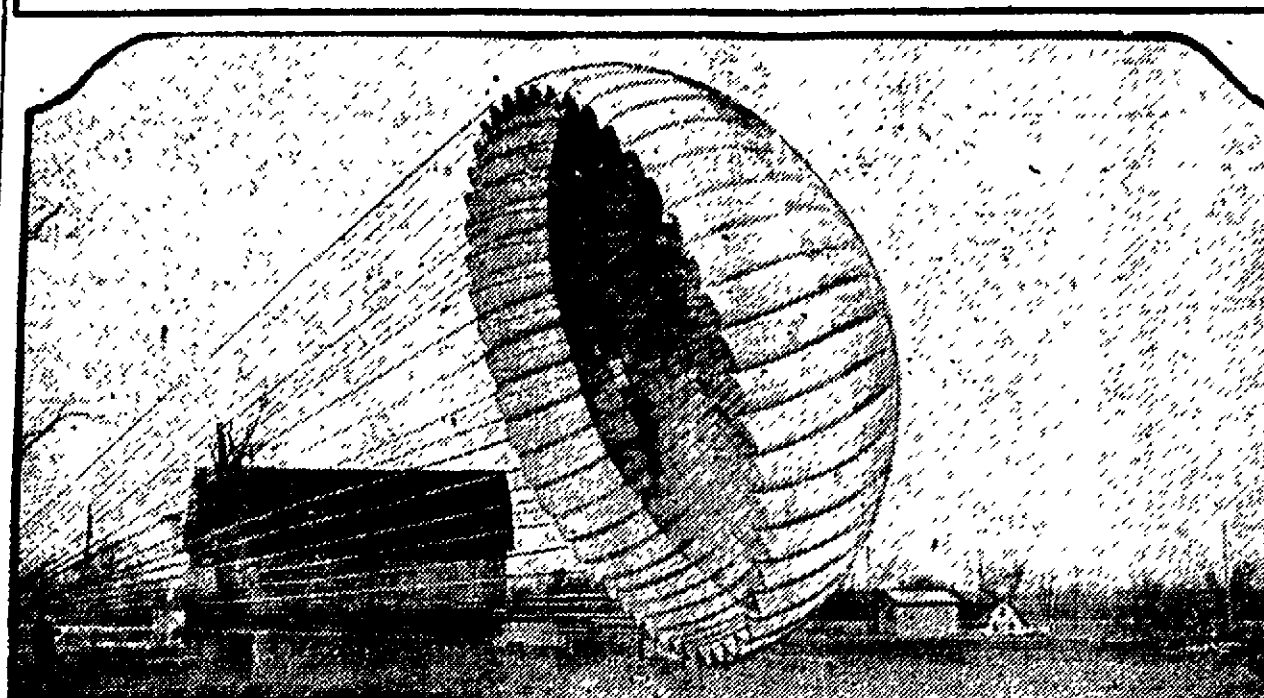

"Any candidate that contemplates changes in the tax laws is under obligation to at least reveal his intentions and the purposes of the changes he will recommend," the speaker said.

"It is no secret that the large material interests of this country are fostering a movement to abolish the federal income tax, and to enslave state income tax laws wherever they are effective. I make this statement at this time because these facts have a relationship in my mind to the expenditures of large sums of money in primary campaigns," Mr. Schmedeman added.

If elected, Mr. Schmedeman pledged recommendations to the legislature for making large expenditures impossible, either by a candidate, his committee, or his rich friends. The candidate is scheduled to give an address in LaCrosse Saturday night.

Plane Lowering 'Chute Passes First Tests

The great parachute to lower a disabled plane to earth, designed by Major E. L. Hoffman (inset), has successfully passed first tests at Wright Field by bearing a 1,600-pound weight to safety. These heretofore unpublished photographs show the size of the parachute (below) as compared to a man, and (above) to an ordinary airplane hangar. Major Hoffman says planes manned by army aviators may be used in tests next spring.

Smith Battles Hoover For New England's 30 Votes

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of several stories outlining the political situation in various sections during the closing days of the campaign.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—Maine has 6 electoral votes, New Hampshire 4, Vermont 3, Massachusetts 18, Rhode Island 5 and Connecticut 7.
Herbert Hoover will carry Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. But Alfred E. Smith is giving him a hard fight for New England's remaining 30 votes, hoping to beat down Hoover's victories in the towns with heavy city majorities. On the eve of Smith's personal visit to this battleground, it appeared that the Democratic candidate had a slight edge in Rhode Island, that Hoover had the better chance in Connecticut and that Massachusetts was a horse race.

If Smith has any chance at all in the first three states mentioned it lies in New Hampshire. But it is not a bright chance and the Democrats will be surprised if they win the state of Senator George Moses.

Massachusetts is one of those states which Smith is almost compelled to win if he is to be elected. It is much easier to imagine Hoover winning without it, although his managers have done plenty of worrying there.

The Republicans count on the villages and small towns to vote more heavily than ever for their candidate, spurred by the issues of religion and prohibition. The impossibility of determining the strength of the wet vote and the dry vote and the effect of religion is the principal reason why political experts are all puzzled about Massachusetts.

The Bay State in 1924 gave Coolidge a majority of 280,000 over the combined Davis and LaFollette vote. Since that time conditions affecting a presidential election have changed, so that no majority of anywhere near such proportions is in sight this year. Among the factors encouraging Democrats are the continued depression in the textile industry; the strength of Senator David I. Walsh, who is up again for reelection after licking President Coolidge's friend, William M. Butler, in 1926, the fact that many voters are immigrants or children of immigrants and some Republican factionalism.

The Democrats were careful to nominate a Protestant for governor, inasmuch as Smith and Walsh are both Catholics. The population of the state is more than a third Catholic and the Democrats claim that they will have this year the normal Republican vote of the Italian, French and Portuguese elements, because the religious issue was promoted against Smith.

Forty Harvard professors, including Felix Frankfurter and F. W. Taussig, have declared for Smith. It does not appear that President Coolidge's influence in his own state will have any great effect on the result.

Such factors as these, favoring Smith, must be cited in order to show how he can hope to overturn normally large Republican majorities. The Republicans reply that many wets will vote for Hoover, holding the foreign vote in line and that the women and the churches can be depended upon to get out an enormous vote against Smith.

Basic conditions in Rhode Island and Connecticut are not dissimilar from those in Massachusetts. Over a third of Connecticut's population is Catholic and nearly half of Rhode Island's. The tariff is an important issue in these states as well as in Massachusetts.

Rhode Island is wet. No state has a larger proportion of immigrant stock. Congressman Monast is quoted as telling a Republican group that "we here of the state are giving up better beer than we are getting today." The Democratic answer seems to be that the price is too high.

The Democrats have nominated a candidate of French descent for governor and the Republicans another to oppose Senator Peter Gerry. Senator Metcalf and Fred Peck are fighting each other for control of the G. O. P. organization. The French vote probably will decide the fight between Smith and Hoover.

Rhode Island is normally Republican in presidential elections by about 35,000. Meanwhile, Democrats expect Smith's New England trip to clinch the state for him.

Republicans are counting on the small town vote to hold Connecticut, which voted Republican by 136,000 in 1924. The state is regarded as leaning to Hoover.

CONCERT GIVEN IN CAVERN
With choral society and a band drawn from 50 towns and villages, a concert was recently given in the famous subterranean caves of Postumia, 50 miles from Trieste, Italy. A large audience gathered for the event in the vast natural Mythological Hall in the center of the subterranean galleries. The hall is nearly a quarter of a mile in circumference and its dome, rising nearly 300 feet, is decorated with crystals of huge size. Fantastically-shaped stalactites like veils and curtains, hang over the various passages of approach. The caverns of Postumia extend under the earth for nearly 20 miles, and one of the features is a subterranean river.

The British film, "The Battles of Coroneo and the Falkland Islands," is having great success in Berlin.

National Committeeman J. Henry Rohrbach, who opposed Hoover before the Kansas City convention, appears still in full control of the state machine and anxious to carry it for the national ticket.

Democratic Committeeman Thomas J. Spillacy and Augustine Loneragan, nominated to run against Senator McLeary this year, are not exactly political buddies, but both are strong admirers of Smith and are working hard for him.

Senators Dill (Dem. Wash.), Howell (Rep. Nebra.) and Johnson (Rep. Calif.).

Senator LaFollette's statements regarding the presidential race are the first he has made public here in his home city, although his senatorial mate, John J. Blaine, also Progressive, has openly advocated the election of Governor Smith.

"The issues I have mentioned are in the presidential campaign not because of the courage or patriotism of either of the old parties but because the Progressive Republican and Progressive Democrats cooperating as a group in congress have forced them out in the open and compelled their consideration at the polls," the statement said.

HEALTH BOARD MAN ASKS COOPERATION OF CITY PLANNERS

Frank R. King Stresses Importance of Preserving State's Beauty

Stressing the importance of preserving the beauty of Wisconsin's lakes, Frank R. King of the Wisconsin State Board of Health, speaking at the Thursday afternoon session of the Wisconsin City and Regional Planning association at Conway Hotel, pleaded for cooperation by realtors and city planners with the state board. The subject of his talk was Regulating Lakeland Subdivision.

In the absence of statutory regulations, much lake shore platting was done in an indifferent manner until the 1927 state Legislature adopted an amendment to the statutes requiring approval of plans by the State Board of Health prior to recording with register of deeds, he explained.

"The conservation of nature's gifts stands foremost in importance at the present time among all our state-wide activities," he said. "Wisconsin is blessed with upwards of 3,000 lakes. It is estimated that we have upwards of 2,000 recorded lake plots, commonly referred to as subdivisions; the total building lots so plotted is estimated at 100,000 and our summer lake dwelling population at 200,000."

The aim of the state board of health in the supervision of lake and stream platting is "prevention rather than cure," he pointed out. Indifferent or improper platting should be discouraged and even prohibited, if necessary, he maintained.

OPPOSES SMALL PLATS

"The state board of health joins in the opinion of experienced subdivision developers that it is unsafe from a health standpoint to plat lands into small parcels producing congestion and great risk to water supplies and other sanitary essentials," he said. "This board therefore holds that good public policy requires that all such lots should not be less than 50 by 125 feet or equivalent areas. Under certain favorable conditions plats of different dimensions may meet the requirements. These restrictions are designed to safeguard the public health as well as the shores of our lakes and streams and to promote the best development of our growing summer resort, tourist and vacation business."

One of the advantages of lake and stream plat dwelling is the abundance of fresh air, sunshine, natural scenery and freedom from disturbing city noises, but too often these advantages are offset by undesirable platting—lots so small as to make for congestion, making safe water supply and proper waste disposal difficult to obtain, he explained.

He urged the planners to see that park and planning boards should exercise their authority and refuse to approve of plats that do not meet the minimum standards prescribed in the regulations of the state board of health.

He particularly stressed the importance of maintaining a good water supply. The popular mind has for a long time clung with some persistence to the idea that running water, if not always pure, will at least purify itself in a dozen miles or so while flowing along a stream, and that sewage and household liquid waste passing through 25 feet or more of earth will purify sufficiently so as to not pollute the ground drinking water supply, he pointed out. This is not always true, however, and disastrous results often follow devoted adherence to such an idea, he claimed.

SURVEY LAKE LAND!

"Town boards should make a survey of their unplatted lake and stream land, select and set aside such lands as are not suitable for platting and, if possible, acquire them for public use as parks and playgrounds," he said. "This in time much of our unsuitable swampy low lands adjacent to our lakes may be reclaimed, planted to trees, and made into useful beauty spots, and become a valuable asset to the community."

The afternoon session was opened by C. B. Whittall, secretary, Board of Public Land Commissioners, Milwaukee, who discussed A Definition of City and Region Planning.

Town and city planning was first started in the United States by landscape architects, who took over the work from what they learned of the Garden City in Great Britain, he brought out. It was the landscape architects who were responsible for city planning, and much of the success of the work in this country is due to them.

"The future welfare of the larger cities is now entirely dependent upon decentralization, or moving out from the center of the city," he said. "There is plenty of room left to do this, the only question facing the planners being how to do it. In days gone by it was necessary to concentrate the population in the center. Concentration is now gone despite the fact that the practice still continues."

"To produce decentralization, the region beyond must be made attractive. The accomplishment of this goal is difficult, consequently there has been more and more talk of regional planning in addition to city planning."

PRaises Kohler Village

He mentioned Kohler as a good example of a model "layout." Similar undertakings to that of the Kohler organization is what large cities want many of their industries to do according to Mr. Whittall.

"Efficiency in industry, culture and social intercourse, is the reason for congestion in cities," he said. "Town concentration has gone beyond an economical and efficient point, however, and that is the reason for city planning."

Pointing out that there is a particular need of subdivision control in the southeastern section of the state, Ray E. Behrens, assistant engineer, Milwaukee Regional Planning department, discussed Regulating Land Subdivision. The situation has become acute in this part of the state because of the heavy demand for property along the shores of Lake Michigan, the construction of new roads, and the presence of the transportation lines between Milwaukee and Chicago, according to Mr. Behrens.

Land subdivision means division for sale, he explained, and there are two methods of subdivision. One is the recorded plat, where maps, etc., are provided. The other consists of maps and bounds platting, that is selling the parcels of land from the main plat, with no description recorded in the register of deeds office.

FOUR BUYER TYPES

Talking on How Planning Affects Real Estate Values, Perry O. Powell, secretary, Wisconsin State Real Estate Board, described the four types of real estate purchasers. They are the user, the investor, the operator-investor and the speculator, pure and simple.

Answering the question, does zoning establish values? he answered that it does in new districts, but does not have so much of an effect in older districts. Street and highway widening also increases the value of land, as does the establishment of playgrounds. He stated, however, that the grouping of public building and grounds does not have such a noticeable increase.

In the absence of Gilbert Clegg, playground engineer, Milwaukee, M. Breivogel read a paper prepared by the American Playground Association. He pointed out that the minimum area for playgrounds should be 25 square feet for every child in the city.

The afternoon session was closed by Marshall G. Simonds, superintendent of city parks, Green Bay, with a discussion on parks.

"Children need a chance for health, the main road to happiness and playgrounds are one of the chief health producing factors for the child," he said. "Cities should do everything they possibly can to furnish playgrounds. It is their duty to their growing citizens."

WHERE WORKS, FROSH

Mauch Chunk, Pa.—This borough saved some money and freshmen in the local high school learned the meaning of "where works," recently. The seniors got the happy thought, recalled the lower classmen and put

WINS FIRST PRIZE

MRS. RHODA CARRICK carries off highest award at Baltimore Food Show

In a recent contest, conducted by the Housewives Alliance at the Baltimore Food Show, Mrs. Rhoda Carrick of Mt. Washington, Maryland, was awarded first prize for her bread baking and Bread Recipe.

Inasmuch as the premier cooks of the state were entered in this contest, the honor accorded Mrs. Carrick is indeed conspicuous.

Mrs. Carrick, while modestly acknowledging this tribute to her ability, attributed her successful prize baking almost entirely to the use of Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Flour. Every batch of which is "Kitchen-tested" at the mill in a home oven with home recipes before it is sent to you.

Coming from a cook of such undisputed prowess as Mrs. Carrick, housewives interested in their baking will do well to follow her recommendation as to the best flour to use.

Bran muffins

WAIT until you see those muffins as they come from the oven. Wonderfully light and fluffy — never soggy. And when you break one open and let a lump of butter melt in that tender texture, get ready for a taste experience such as you never had before. No other muffin ever had such a rich, nut-like flavor.

The fine thing about eating these wonderful muffins is the health they bring you. For that cupful of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN helps supply your eliminative system with bulk and fiber that prevents constipation. So many foods in our diet — meat, eggs, milk, sugar, fats — lack this necessary roughage.

But muffins are not the only food where you can get healthful and tasty results by adding ALL-BRAN. Put it in dressings. Sprinkle it in soups. Mix it in griddle cake batter. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is equally effective for milk or cream, fruits or honey added.

Grocers everywhere sell Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Use it and you'll free yourself from constipation. Also from the use of habit-forming cathartics. For Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works as nature works. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Guaranteed! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

An economy idea long and in food, now applied to soap

KWIKSOLV has taught women a new way to judge soap. One that you will want to adopt in your buying, too. Kwiksolv is soap in condensed form ... a Palmolive triumph. Just as 60% water is removed its cleansing action. Thus the soap is left free to do soap's big job, which is to clean.

Condensed soap will win you as a dirtremover. Badly stained clothes, the soil-line of cuffs and collars, Kwiksolv brings these to gleaming whiteness with a speed that will be new to you. Use this condensed soap just as you would any other: for dishes, cleaning, laundry. It keeps your hands soft and white, powerful detergent though it is.

Now you needn't be out of soap
"every few minutes." The Kwiksolv package lasts and lasts. The savings it brings are too great to be ignored. And the way it lightens your work will delight
you. At all grocers'.

Our laboratories regard Kwiksolv as their greatest triumph in soap-making

Appleton Post-Crescent Classified Advertising Information

All ads are restricted to their proper classifications and to the regular Appleton Post-Crescent. Daily rate per line for consecutive insertions:

One day	..... 15
Three days	..... 45
Six days	..... 90
Minimum charge, 60c.

Advertising ordered for irregular insertions takes the one time rate. Rate for ads taken for less than basis of two lines. Count 5 average words to a line.

Charged ads will be received by telephone and if paid at office within six days from the first day of insertion cash rate will be allowed. Ads ordered for three days or six days and stopped before expiration will only be charged the amount of time the ad appeared and adjustment made at the rate earned. Special rate for yearly advertising.

Publisher reserves the right to edit or reject any classified advertisement.

TELLS PLANNERS HOW CITY SOLVED ZONING PROBLEMS

Attorney L. Hugo Keller Opens Friday Session of Annual Convention

An account of how Appleton has solved its zoning problems was offered by Attorney L. Hugo Keller, Friday morning before the second annual conference of the Wisconsin City and Regional Planning Association at Conway Hotel. His subject was Zoning of Small Cities.

Admitting that one of the most serious problems was the question of whether apartment buildings should be permitted in the residential district, he told how the council had, by ordinance, put final decision into its own hands.

"Under the uses permitted in the residential district we had the usual provisions found in most zoning ordinances, to-wit, that only single family dwellings or two family dwellings were permitted," he said. "When many requests were made of the building inspector for permits to build apartment houses, under the existing law it was impossible for him to issue the permit."

"It was manifest to our council that there were numerous sites in the residential district upon which apartment buildings could be erected without any serious objection. Upon inquiry and examination into what other municipalities provided, we discovered that some cities subdivided their residential district and created one very restricted district.

"In such a district no buildings housing more than a single family were permitted. In our city we seemed it highly inadvisable to follow that procedure.

ADOPT NEW ORDINANCE

"It seemed likely that not more than three or four would ever be built. To divide the residential district into more and less restricted districts would place an arbitrary value upon real estate, which was wholly unwarranted."

According to the ordinance finally adopted by the council, anyone desiring to build a structure which will house more than two families, shall make written application to the council, he explained. The council will then refer the application, together with the sketch, to the city plan commission, which will return its recommendation to the council.

The council shall not vote on granting the application until public notice, printed in the official newspaper of the city at least three times within 10 days preceding said meeting, shall be given. At the following meeting of the council that body shall hear any objections or arguments in favor of the proposed structure.

If the owners of 20 per cent of the frontage within the block on the street where the proposed building is to be erected, or structurally altered, or of the frontage immediately in the rear thereof, or directly opposite thereto, shall protest in writing, signed and acknowledged, the granting of the permit shall require a three-fourths vote of all the members of the council, he stated.

REDUCED SETBACK LINES

Referring to the problem of setback lines, he outlined how the line had been reduced from 25 to 20 feet, and permits nothing except an open steps in front of the setback line. Since the adoption of this ordinance, there have been no more violations, according to Mr. Keller.

Difficulty with signboards and fences was disposed of by adoption of the following measure.

"No fence shall be placed or erected on any premises in the residential district that shall exceed four feet in height."

In conclusion, he said:

"While zoning is in its infancy, and I might add in its experimental stage, the people of Appleton have accepted its principle. It is the only sure guide of the physical development of the community. To ensure its success it must remain in harmony with the spirit of our institutions. Cities are not only streets, parks, houses, stores and factories, but cities are the people that live in them."

C. E. SOCIETY TO HEAR TALK BY MISS CUTHBERT

Miss Marion Cuthbert, dean of women at Talladega college, Alabama, and missionary from the local Episcopal church, will speak at the meeting of members of the Christian Endeavor society of the church, Sunday evening. Members of the society also will attend on a Harvest party, Nov. 2, at which all young people of the church and Congregational young people at Lawrence will be invited to attend.

BIRTHS

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gerlach, 702 N. Oneida-st., on Monday.

A son, Donald Harvey, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Miller of Milwaukee on Sunday, Oct. 21. Mrs. Miller formerly was Miss Freda Landert of Appleton.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. Tuttrup, 527 N. Drew-st., at St. Elizabeth hospital Friday.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Kamps, 930 W. Lorain-st., at St. Elizabeth hospital, Friday.

MERCURY DROPS TO BELOW FREEZING POINT

Friday morning was the coldest this year, the mercury registering 29 degrees above zero at 6 o'clock.

Small creeks and ponds were covered with ice, according to reports. Rain and warmer weather is due to arrive here by Saturday, the weatherman says.

His predictions for the next 24 hours: Showers are probable throughout the middle west.

Fair weather will prevail in the upper and lower lake regions for the next 24 hours, he says. Winds in the upper lake regions are in the east and southeast and in the lower regions they are in the north and northwest. The mercury registered 45 degrees above zero at 12 o'clock Friday noon.

DEATHS

EDWARD DALEY

Word has been received here of the death of Edward Daley at Chicago last week. Mr. and Mrs. Daley were former residents of Appleton, moving to Chicago a number of years ago.

MRS. GERTRUDE NIENHAUS

Mrs. Gertrude Nienhaus, 72, died in this city Thursday morning after a long illness.

Survivors are one niece, Mrs. Gustave Bernat, Appleton; and one nephew, Anthony J. Neuhaus, Menasha.

The body will be taken from the Schommer funeral home to the Bernat home at 510 E. Lincoln-st. Friday afternoon. Funeral services will be held at 8 o'clock Saturday morning at the home and at 8:30 at Sacred Heart church, with the Rev. F. L. Ruessman in charge. Burial will be in the Catholic cemetery at Little Chute.

VAN RYZIN FUNERAL

The funeral of Leo Van Ryzin, who was killed in an auto accident near Detroit, was held at 9:30 Friday morning at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Van Ryzin, Sr., 420 W. Packard-st., and at 10 o'clock at St. Joseph church. Burial was in St. Joseph cemetery.

Delegates of the Catholic order of Foresters and Catholic Knights of Wisconsin attended the funeral. Bearers were Joseph Diener, George Schlemmer, William Doerfler, John Hamm, Frank Stoegebauer, and Joseph Yungwirth.

WATER MAINS ARE LAID ON TWO MORE STREETS

Work of laying water mains on N. Outagamie-st. between Lawrence-st. and College-ave., and Spruce-st. between Lawrence and Eighth-sts., was completed this week, according to Arthur Dimick, secretary of the water commission. Approximately 300 feet of main was laid on each street.

Although the season is rather far advanced, approximately 4,000 feet remains to be laid before cold weather sets in, Mr. Dimick reported. This remaining work has all been authorized by the common council. There is approximately 2,300 feet to be laid on Seymour-st., 800 feet on W. Spruce-st. and 775 feet on W. Wisconsin-ave.

About 26,500 feet of main already has been laid this season.

"Y" WILL KEEP LOBBY OPEN ALL DAY SUNDAY

The board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. voted to keep the men's department lobby open all day Sunday in the morning at a meeting of the association held at 1:30 Thursday afternoon. The decision followed a request made by dormitory men who were unable to have phone service after Sunday morning. It was also impossible to have their friends call for them at the building. The lobby will be open for a reading and rest room but no activities will be allowed, the board decided.

A report on the membership drive was presented and also a report on an insurance inspection tour through the building. Inspectors reported the building in sound condition, according to G. F. Werner, general secretary. Various other business matters were transacted.

TUTTLE PRESS BOWLERS DOWN INTERLAKE TEAM

The Tuttle Press bowling team defeated the Interlake Pulp and Paper company team four out of three games in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial Bowling league on the association alleys at 7:30 Thursday evening. The Interlake leggers took the first game by 35 pins, but lost the second frame by 63 pins. The last frame was lost by 41 pins. Bradenbury was high man for the Interlake team and Bialkowski was high man for the Tuttle Press team.

GROCERY STORE, LUNCH ROOM IS OPENED HERE

Elmer Kling and Russell Brazill have opened a combined grocery store and lunch room in the building formerly occupied by George Miller. Mr. Kling moved out of his old quarters last week and opened a new restaurant on E. College-ave. in the building formerly occupied by the Peter Van Rooy saloon.

AUTOMOBILE AND TRUCK DAMAGED IN COLLISION

An automobile and truck were slightly damaged about 2:30 Thursday afternoon in a collision at the corner of N. Morrison-st. and E. Wisconsin-ave. The car was driven by Herman Kamps, 1200 S. Lawrence-st. and it was owned by the Jahnske Rental company. Mr. Kamps was driving north on Morrison-st. and collided with a small truck owned and driven by Albert Steeter, 897 W. Wisconsin-ave., Kaukauna. The front end of both machines were slightly damaged.

BRADFORD TELLS ZONERS HOW CITY PLAN WORKS HERE

Appleton Doesn't Need Apartment Building, Badger Planners Told

No movement ever has taken such a hold on the country as the move to beautify cities and districts through zoning and city planning. Francis Bradford, member of the Appleton city planning commission, told delegates to the Wisconsin City and Regional Planning association meeting here Friday morning. Almost 50 per cent of the cities of the country now have a city plan of some kind, he said.

However, city planning as such is not entirely practical unless it is put into effect in undeveloped cities of from three to ten thousand persons, he said, because the cost is prohibitive and because education on the advantages of a city plan have not reached the stage where people believe in them, even in their own cases.

Appleton has had this experience, Mr. Bradford stated recalling that eight years ago, Prof. Leonard C. Smith, a city planner, started work here that took the greater part of two years time. He arranged for a civic center, union depots and many other improvements that would make the city one of the most beautiful in the country.

COSTS TOO MUCH

When the cost of the plans was considered it was found the $300,000 needed to start the project would be prohibitive. Removal of railway tracks also was refused because of the great cost and because the lines had been down in some cases for 70 years.

It is possible to build toward the original goal, according to Mr. Bradford but it will take a long time and strict adherence to the letter of the laws designed to bring about the ideally planned city.

The speaker then launched into a discussion of conditions here that have been a barrier to zoning the city as it should be. One, he said is the fraternity house, a problem which probably did not confront many other cities. The fraternity house deprecates the value of all property within hearing distance of it he said, and despite the fact Appleton has sought a remedy it has found none.

Why the zoning commission has refused to permit apartment houses in the residential sections of the city also was explained to the delegates, the speaker using a recent case as his example.

People can buy newly built homes in any part of the city at convenient terms he said and need not apartment. The purpose of keeping districts is because they deprecate the value of residence property near them; the fact that children do not have an opportunity for sunshine, fresh air and a chance to play; because as the apartment building depreciates the class of tenant of tenant becomes lower, and because of the traffic problem with cars, and delivery trucks.

He also discussed the action of the local plan commission in disapproving erection of a ten story building on College-ave. The commissioners felt that business men who had not objected to its construction had failed to visualize what a ten story building would do to other business blocks and that as a compromise measure the commission agreed to permit a 100 foot building with a special set back for each additional foot in height, a last attempt to protect other property on the street.

The suggestion of the commission was placed on file by the city council, he said.

EDUCATE PEOPLE

Education of the people, the aldermen first, is the only way to get strict adherence to the zoning laws. As soon as someone can find a way to get people out to discussions, to get them to become intimately interested in the problems of zoning, and get them to realize that only by zoning will their property be protected from depreciation resulting from someone else's gain, can education be completed.

Plats and their acceptance by cities fitting them in with the zoning plan of the city, also was discussed.

OFFICERS OF STUDENT COUNCIL ARE ELECTED

Lillian Oslinga was elected president of the student council of the McKinley Junior high school at a meeting Tuesday. Marvin Greene was chosen vice-president; Theresa Roller, secretary; and Miss Catharine Ditzler, faculty member, treasurer. Arrangements for an all-school party to be given Nov. 5 were made.

Badger Briefs

Milwaukee—(AP)—Mrs. Viola Miller, 23, who with her two children, Robert, 3 and Arline, 13 months, was injured by a gasoline explosion in her kitchen Thursday afternoon, died of burns at County hospital Friday morning. It was said that the child will recover. The accident occurred while Mrs. Miller was cleaning clothes with the explosive.

Green Bay—(AP)—Federal prohibition agents, led by W. Frank Cunningham, administrator for Wisconsin, raided another soft drink parlor here late Wednesday. It was the fourth here this week.

Chippewa Falls—(AP)—Joseph F. Wilson, 66, who, as a lumberman played an important part in the building of Tomahawk, Wis., and Cloquet, Minn., was buried at Eau Claire late Thursday afternoon, following services here.

PANNECK WILL TALK AT CHIROPRACTOR MEETING

Dr. J. A. Panneck of this city, state chairman of the board of the Chiropractic health bureau, will deliver an address on One Hundred Percent Cooperation at the meeting of the chiropractors of the Northeastern district at the Beaumont hotel, Green Bay, on Sunday. The meeting, called to perfect the organization and elect delegates to the state convention at Madison the first week of November, will be attended by the chiropractors of several districts.

Dr. M. Delano, Waupaca, will talk on the Future of Chiropractic. The meeting will be called to order by Dr. P. J. Murphy, Green Bay, president of the Northeastern district.

NOTICES OF PAVING ASSESSMENTS ISSUED

Letters notifying property owners on Wisconsin-ave and Summit-st. of special assessments for paving were mailed Friday by Fred E. Bachman, city treasurer. The assessments must be paid by Nov. 10 or they will be placed into a bond and made payable in the tax roll, one-fifth each year for five consecutive years with interest at 6 per cent, the treasurer informed the owners.

Guy Barlow, instructor at Roosevelt Junior high school is ill at his home in Oshkosh.

by Mr. Bradford, special emphasis being laid on the tendency of platters to cut down on streets in the interest of an additional lot.

The courts of this country all will be found in accord with the spirit of zoning and planning. Mr. Bradford concluded, stating he had investigated many cases all over the country and found that to be the tendency. A city plan should be lived up to and a city made to grow to it, he concluded.

Charles W. Babcock, assistant city attorney of Milwaukee, spoke on the Legal Aspects of Zoning. He warned the gathering that he thought the great building boom experienced in the country will soon end and that zoning would not become so great a problem. Should that happen, he suggested the association might deteriorate, something that should be watched.

Many of the difficulties in zoning are legal, Mr. Babcock stated, because there is no cooperation between the groups which zone the country districts and those which zone the city. If amendments to zoning laws are placed in professional hands rather than in those of unexperienced persons as usually found on city councils and similar groups, legal difficulties can be avoided.

Markets

STRONG BUYING ON NEW YORK MARKET

Holiday Business Prospects
Encourage Trading in Mercantile Issues

New York—(AP)—Price movements were extremely irregular at the opening of Friday's stock market. Western Union opened 1 1/2 points higher at 184, a new high record; railroads again advanced about 1 1/2 points. St. Louis Southwestern, Victor Talking Machine, Montgomery Ward and American Can showed initial declines of a point or more.

Strong buying support apparently had been proved overnight as a result of the reactionary price movement which set in Thursday. Pools were again at work on a large scale with new high records established by Pure Oil, Kennecott Copper and Jordan Shovel. Western Union quickly extended its gain to 6 1/2 points by touching 185, or approximately 50 points above the year's low.

R. H. Macy ran up 7 1/2 points to a new high at 172 1/2. Wright Aeronautical, Curtiss, General Motors and General Motors and Greene Canoe advanced 2 points or more. American Smelting, Fox Film and Century Ribbon were heavily traded. Foreign exchanges opened steady with sterling cables unchanged at $4.

The possibility of record breaking holiday business was believed to have been proved overnight as the large turn over in the merchandise group, many of which touched the highest figures in their history. Montgomery Ward was up 11 points with advances of 3 point or more occurring in other members of the group. Western Union which sold at 230 and 18 1/2, touched 240 and 18 1/2, and made five purchases in the hope that favorable legislation would even-ventually make a closer working arrangement.

PRICES ON FRUIT MARKET ARE SAME, DEALERS INDICATE

Large Variety of Fresh Vegetables Available to Housewives

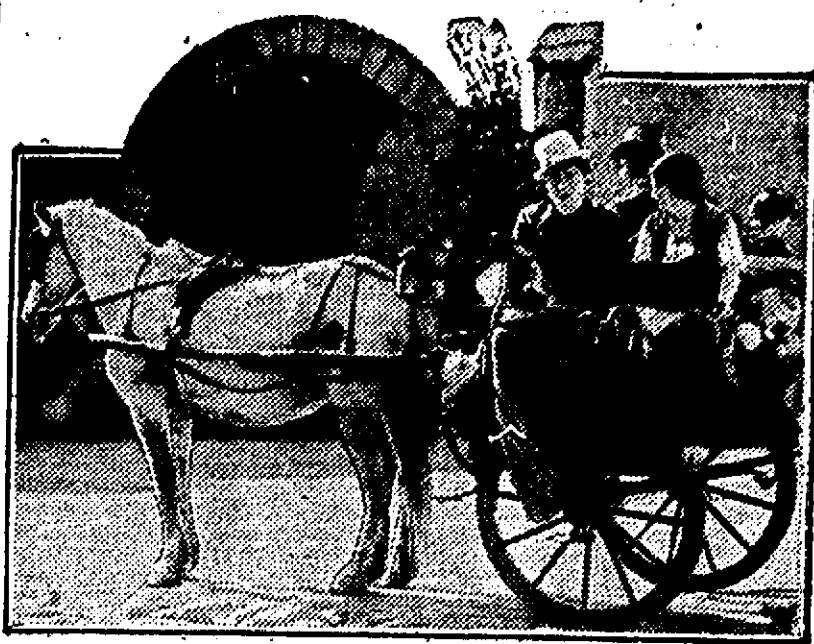

There is very little change on the fruit and vegetable market this week, and housewives will find a large variety of fresh vegetables from which to choose when they visit local stands to stock the family larder for the weekend. Prices are about the same and only one or two vegetables have increased in price because of the closing season.

The vegetable market is quoted as follows: Green beans, 20 to 25 cents a bunch; new carrots, 8 to 10 cents a bunch; new beets, 8 to 10 cents a bunch; celery, 10 to 20 cents a stalk; head lettuce, 15 to 20 cents a head; radishes, 5 and 10 cents a bunch; green onions, 5 and 10 cents a bunch; spinach, 20 cents a bunch; cucumbers, 25 and 30 cents each; new cabbage, 5 cents a pound; tomatoes, 25 cents a pound; new potatoes, 5 cents a pound green peppers, 5 and 10 cents each; cauliflower, 25 to 45 cents a head; garlic, 35 cents a pound; silver skin onions, 10 cents a pound; chives, 25 cents a pot; honeydews, 20 to 45 cents each; parsley, 10 cents a bunch; Spanish onions, 15 cents a pound; rutabagas, 5 cents a pound; sweet potatoes, 5 and 10 cents a pound; lima beans, 25 cents a pound; vegetables oysters, 15 cents a pound; squash, 5 cents a pound and mushrooms, 30 cents a pound.

Fresh watercress are on the market this week and can be obtained at 10 cents a bunch. Parsnips are selling at 8 and 10 cents a bunch and celery root is retailing at three for 25 cents. Other vegetables are quoted as follows: Red cabbage, 7 cents a pound; Persian melons, 65 and 75 cents each; pie pumpkin, 10 and 20 cents each; endives, 15 cents each; and brussel sprouts, 35 cents a quart.

The fruit market is quoted as follows: Limes, 50 cents a dozen; coconuts, 10 to 20 cents each; California oranges, 35 cents to $1.25 a dozen; bananas, three and four pounds for 25 cents; lemons, 40 and 50 cents a dozen; pears, 40 cents a dozen; cranberries, 25 cents a pound; apples, 5 and 10 cents a pound; grape fruit, 10 to 25 cents each; blue grapes, 20 cents a basket, green grapes, 20 cents a pound; quince, 8 cents each, and canning pears, 35 cents a dozen.

BROWN DERBIES SOUGHT, CLOTHIERS REPORTING

Whether or not Al Smith is more popular in Appleton than Herbert C. Hoover, it is a fact that clothing stores here are experiencing a sharp demand for brown derbies.

One local store announced a few days ago that it had about 20 brown derbies of the vintage of 1900 or so and that as they were unsalable it would give them away. Scarcely half a day passed and the derbies had been cleared out. Other stores followed suit and then the demand became so brisk that some dealers timidly ordered a few derbies to be sold, and now some of the more ardent Smith admirers among the clothing dealers are laying in a regular supply of brown derbies.

"Healed Like Magic"

Detroit, Mich.—"My boy was covered with eczema and I seemed powerless to relieve him. I had spent about $100.00 for various prescribed treatments, but none of them did him any good. Finally I sent for samples of Resinol Soap and Ointment and they proved to me that this was the treatment my child needed. I bought the Soap and Ointment from my druggist, and after using them as directed, the trouble healed like magic." (Signed) Thos. Saunders.

Thousands of mothers have found the soothing, healing action of Resinol ideal for keeping baby's skin clear and normal. Many wonder at the QUICKNESS of its action. For adults, too! Try it. At all druggists.

TEACHER BOOSTS ARTIST COURSE

Walsh Calls Program to Be Offered Here This Winter Superior

Commenting on the quality of the Community Artist Series, J. R. Walsh of Appleton high school said Friday: "Appleton is the most fortunate city I know of in respect to its Artist Course. The quality of the five numbers offered is superior throughout and Ponselle, Johnson and Segovia are the unique leaders of their respective classes, wherever music is presented the world over. Such a course under professional management would cost fifteen dollars."

The first number of this year's series will be held Nov. 9, with Edward Johnson, lyric romantic tenor, giving the program. The next number will be the Toscha Seidel trio on Nov. 26, followed by Alexander Brailowsky, noted pianist, on Feb. 6. Andres Segovia, great Spanish Guitarist, will appear Feb. 15, and on March 8, Rose Ponselle, the highlight of the entire series, will sing.

FILE FIRST GENERAL ELECTION ACCOUNT

Madison—(AP)—The first of the general election expense accounts have been filed with the secretary of state by A. D. S. Gillett, secretary of the committee furthering the candidacy of Herbert Hoover in the 11th Congressional district of the state.

Mr. Gillett reported donations amounting to $1,000 from R. K. Wilde, Hoover financial agent in the state, from which, up to Oct. 23, there had been spent $352.42. These expenses were largely for speakers' travel and incidentals. He reported outstanding expenses of organizers and telegraph and telephone tolls, without listing any specified amount, the charges being as yet unknown.

Season tickets for the course can be obtained at Lawrence conservatory of music, which is sponsoring the event. According to Dean Carl J. Waterman, there are several sets of good seats still available.

UTILITIES NEITHER DEMONS NOR ANGELS

State Association President Speaks Before Commercial Section

Wausau—(AP)—The public utilities are neither great, fire-spitting demons nor halo-topped angels, said C. R. Phenicle, Green Bay, president of the Wisconsin Utilities association, in a speech here before the convention of the commercial section of the group here.

He discussed at length the state and federal investigations into public utilities.

He said the utilities have been given en their "day in court" by the state legislature's interim committee investigating water power use and electric costs and that the Interstate commerce commission has promised them that they may present "their side of the case." When this chance comes, the utilities will prove that they are "not so bad," he intimated.

Pending that presentation, Mr. Phenicle continued, "no one can accurately judge the facts."

"We find ourselves assailed by contradictory opinions and statements, charges, countercharges, commendation and criticism. By some we are pictured as the disposers of nature's handiwork and ruthlessly usurpers of the wealth and rights belonging to all. By others, we are pictured as farseeing, conscientious and faithful to our trust. Perhaps the truth lies somewhere between the extremes

CATHOLIC CHURCHES TO OBSERVE FEAST DAY

The Feast of Jesus the King, celebrated annually in Catholic churches the last Sunday in October, will be observed in St. Joseph Catholic church Sunday. This feast day is comparatively new, having been instituted just three years ago by Pope Pius XI.

In the evening a special service in observance of All Souls' day will be held. The service is being held on Sunday instead of Friday, which is All Souls' day, because of conflict with the close of the 40 hours of devotion period.

HARD SURFACE ROAD SYSTEM NEEDED BY STATE SAYS BUETOW

Engineer at District Conferences Tells Highway Men Need of Roads

Madison —(P)— Wisconsin's need, in the matter of highways at the present time, is "an adequately built system of hard surfaced highway reaching all parts of the state, starting some place and going some place," in the opinion of W. C. Buetow, state highway engineer. Mr. Buetow is telling conferences of highway commissioners and engineers, these fall days, in their meetings to discuss the next few years' highway plans, that traffic in the state is not adequately served and that the state is slipping from its high rank in the highway "game."

"The need is not one of fifty years hence," said Mr. Buetow, in opening the first conference in Madison, "but one that the present generation is demanding to enjoy and use for profit."

In his opinion "such a system should comprise approximately 5,000 miles of the present 10,000 mile highway system."

"Sufficient money will have to be provided for this work because the sums now collected for highway construction and distributed to 71 counties, towns and cities cannot be concentrated on such a system of which I speak and should not be. Whatever means are provided for the collection of the necessary sum to build this system should not be looked upon by the traveling public as an added burden, but as an investment with dividends returned many times over the cost in cheaper and safer transportation," Mr. Buetow concluded.

WANT QUICK ACTION

C. R. Weymouth, deputy state highway engineer, whose suggestions followed those of Mr. Buetow, holds that if legislative action approving the necessity for a system of hard surfaced highways was to be forthcoming soon, action on the layout of the system, should be arrived at through a joint legislative and highway committee, this committee to lay out about 500 miles by 1929 when a sufficient sum of money should have been accumulated through whatever source the legislature provides to build the first 500 miles, which would be quite an auspicious start," he declared. This joint committee will also lay out the remainder of the 5,000 mile system by the end of 1930.

Mr. Weymouth has presented the county highway officials a tentative draft of suggestion for proper legislation by the next legislature looking forward to the provision of thru-hard surfaced highways. This provides for a budget plan, definitely laying out a ten year program to finance and complete such a 5,000 mile system. This same tentative draft is being discussed at all divisional meetings in an attempt by the highway commission and department to obtain the reaction of those persons in the state who are now intimately and officially connected with the building and maintenance of the present highway program.

LAUD PROTECTION OF NATION'S BREAD

Insects Destroy 5 Per Cent of Grain and Milled Products in Country

Ithaca, N. Y. —(P)— One small section of the insect foes of man is estimated to spoil nearly 5 per cent of the grain and milled products of this country alone which otherwise would become food for the table.

The story of how science and the milling industry and farmers are combating this insidious increasing success was told in a paper by George A. Dean and Gilbert Shenk before the Fourth International Congress of Entomology, which convened at Cornell University. The entomologist gathered at this congress from 34 nations to relate their almost endless skirmishes with insect enemies. Mr. Dean is entomologist of the Kansas State Agricultural college, and Mr. Shenk is assistant entomologist, bureau of entomology, U. S. department of agriculture.

Gas and heat are the two agencies checking the insect raids on grain products. Mr. Dean named gases which are under test, but said that hydrocyanic acid gas has been found effective.

Maintaining a temperature of 120 to 125 degrees Fahrenheit in mills for 10 to 12 hours effectively destroys all the insect life sought, provided the heated air is fanned or otherwise completely distributed. This degree of heat, Mr. Dean says, does no injury to flour.

INITIATE SIX INTO FELLOWSHIP CLUB

Six new members were initiated into the Oxford Fellowship club, Lawrence service organization, at the meeting of the group held recently at the home of Dr. J. R. Denyes. They are: Wayne Vincent, Robert Middleton, James Platz, Lloyd Towle, Howard MacMahon, and Lyle Stevenson.

The annual fall retreat of the Oxford men was set for Nov. 3 and 4 at Dr. H. J. Root's cottage on Lake Winnepigosis. It was also decided that Nov. 11 would be the date for the sending out of the first deputization team of the year.

VOICE TEACHER SINGS AT DAILY CONVOCATION

Miss Gracie Farrell, voice instructor at the Lawrence conservatory of music, sang several selections at convocation Wednesday. They were: "Blackbird Song," Scott's "Norwegian Echo Song," by Thrane; "Red Red Rose" by Cottrill and "In Italy" by Boyd, an encore. She was accompanied by Elizabeth Thompson at the piano.

REMOVED DELINQUENTS OF INCOME TAX RETURNS

Notices were being mailed this week by Leo Toonen, income tax assessor for Waupaca and Outagamie counties, to residents of both counties who failed to file income tax returns. These returns must be made out and returned to Mr. Toonen before March 15 of this year. The delinquents are being checked up now by making an examination of the wage lists from the various employers in the two counties. All single men who earn more than $800 and married men who earn more than $1,600 must file returns regardless of whether they must pay a tax or not. Mr. Toonen said that all delinquents, whether they owe a tax or not, must pay a penalty of $5 fixed by state law.

The Royal Aero Club of England is seeking to learn who made the first flight in a heavier-than-air machine in the British Isles.

BARRICADE ON TRACKS HALTS RAILROAD TRAIN

A southbound train was halted at the Chicago and Northwestern railroad crossing on E. Wisconsin-ave. about 1 o'clock Thursday morning after an unidentified driver placed a heavy barricade used to block the road to automobile traffic across the tracks. The car went over a pile of dirt approximately six feet high after the driver placed the barricade across the tracks, proceeded on his way.

Railroad officials were wondering Thursday morning how a machine could be driven over the dirt pile without tipping over. An investigation probably will be made, according to officials.

TRAINING MUST BEGIN WHEN CHILD IS TWO

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

WHAT do you consider the chief points in training a young child? I was asked recently.

Instantly a whole carload of things popped into my head. It was difficult to answer the question at once. So I temporized by saying, "The thing that would make a likeable child."

"And what do you call a likeable child?"

"A kind and courteous child, one who is selfish enough to think of other people and their rights, a child who is quickly obedient without being too dependent, and a child who is truthful. I think that would be as nearly a perfect child as you could wish. But above all things, he must not be priggish or too self-satisfied. A few 'don't's' would have to be included in the description of his virtues. For child training consists almost as much as 'don't's' as 'do's'."

The next question was, "When do you think child training should begin?"

"About two days after he's born," I answered promptly, "when his regular feeding times begin. It is strange how close an affinity exists between regularity of habit, physical discipline, and acting later on. A baby physically trained and disciplined, as far as babies can be, and later on bred to the regular habits of eating, sleeping, exercising, and cleanliness, will not have to be taught much about obedience. The seeds of it are already there."

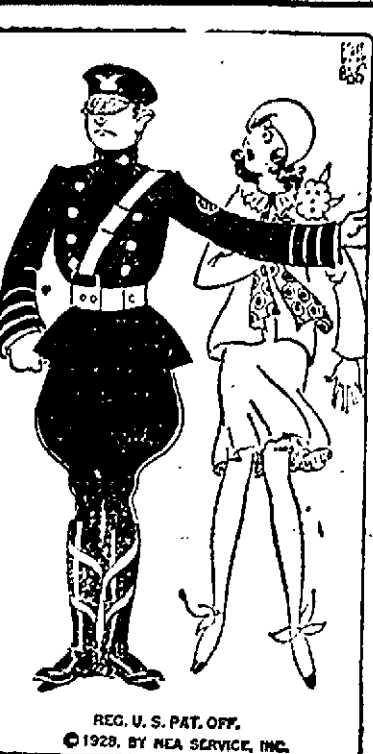

"Early commands should be few, but obedience should be insisted on from the beginning."

The next question was, "What qualities should a parent possess in order to obtain the best results in child training?"

"The very qualities they are trying to instill in their children," I replied. "You cannot make cold lead out of tin. If parents want truthful children they must be truthful. If they want obedient children, they must be obedient—that is, as obedience is required of adults. Adults must obey the rules set by society for the good of the human race. They must obey these laws, and all natural law and moral law."

"If parents wish their children to be kind and courteous, they must be kind and courteous. If they wish their children to respect the rights of others, they must do the same thing themselves. It is merely a case of practicing what they preach."

"The cuffs are rated as jewelry in the fashion world, but French women are using them as the only trimming on afternoon dresses designed expressly for the ornaments."

BREAKFAST—Stewed prunes, cereal, cream, baked French toast, syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Liver and bacon sandwiches, head lettuce with French dressing, lemon sponge, milk, tea.

DINNER—Stuffed pork tenderloin, cinnamon apples, sweet potatoes, delicious, buttered broccoli, frozen ginger pears, milk, coffee.

Clever planning often makes it possible to serve practically the same meals to both juniors and grown-ups. Children under school age should not be served the dinner meat since they had specially prepared liver and bacon for their luncheon.

SWEET POTATOES DELICIOUS

Three or four sweet potatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup hot milk, 1 tablespoon brown sugar.

It will take from 1 to 1-2 pound sweet potatoes to serve four persons. Scrub and boil until tender. Remove skins and put through vegetable ricer. Add salt butter, sugar and hot milk and mix thoroughly. Put again through ricer into a buttered baking dish. Put into a hot oven just long enough to make very hot and serve from baking dish.

Sinner

By Anne Austin

Somewhat that Thursday evening date with George Pruitt wasn't going off quite so gaily as Crystal had planned. Maybe he was a little disgusted with her for having refused to tear up Vera Castle's letter about Mlle. Eloise Dumont. He'd told her to write Vera, hadn't he? Then why be so squeamish when Vera revealed the fact that Mademoiselle had been fired from Bradley.

So it was rather a relief when Tony came charging noisily into Falth's house, by way of the hospitably open front door and straight on into the dimly lighted sun parlor.

"More light, neckers, more light!" Tony demanded with mock disapproval. Then, as George obligingly turned on another lamp, "Thanks! I just wanted to see how George Pruitt looks when he blushes! I've never seen you blush, darling. But then—you've never made love to me! What is wrong with this picture?" and she took an exaggeratedly coy pose before George. "Never mind Tony, sweet!" she laughed, as George started to rise gallantly and prove that there was nothing wrong with the charming picture that Tony made.

"You know why I love you, George Pruitt? Because you've never made love to me! Now puzzle that out while I break some sad news to Crystal. . . . Darling," she cried dramatically to her chum, "Peg's got the party bug something awful! That social secretary, Miss Grosvenor, put ideas into poor Peg's fuddled little noodle, and Peg insists that she's got to 'carry on' socially—oh, not the way you mean, George! . . . 'Carry on' is one of Miss Grosvenor's British expressions."

"But what's the bad news?" Crystal demanded, making pretty gestures of suspense and excitement—for, as always, Tony, quite unintentionally, put her in the your mother wants to have a party. For you?" "That was her original idea, to sort of offset the tea invitations for my fluke engagement. It broke her heart to have to cancel them. But I simply couldn't see a party for myself in the old Tarver homestead, built in the year of Our Lord 1928. So it's going to be a Peg and Pat party—evening. Bridge, and ladies' magazine refreshments and dancing. Radio. Peg wanted to hire a small orchestra, so to be absolutely correct, but I told her it's the thing now to dance by radio. It isn't 'correct' any more to swank, and that society editor, who calls herself 'Soclety Butterfly,' has made it quite plain that the nouveau riche Tarvers must be very humble and know their place, if Stanton's cream is to tolerate them at all. . . . Though the Lord knows we aren't nouveau riche or any other kind of riche. "Anyway, Crys, Peg's going to throw a party and she wants you and me to stand by—little rays of sunshine, refreshment waitresses, etc. Are you game?" "I think it's just dear of her to want me!" Crystal said with genuine warmth and gratitude. "But Tony, just one request from your fellow middle-aged crowd, isn't it? . . . Then I move you get your mother to invite Mademoiselle Eloise Dumont." "Are you crazy?" Tony demanded indignantly. "No—just cunning. I've got a deep-laid scheme," Crystal told Tony, then glanced challengingly at George Pruitt.

NEXT: Mlle. Eloise has an unpleasant half hour.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY. THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

N OW, off we go!" the big whale cried. His mouth was open wide and all the Tynmites crouched together, just a wee bit scared. The whale had saved them from the sea, but they were puzzled as could be. It didn't seem they realized how lucky they had fared. "A place like this is something new. Why, he could bite us all in two, if he'd decide to close his mouth," said Clowny, with a frown. "And, if he'd take a real deep breath, I fear, 'twould blow us all to death. Oh, my, I wish we all were in some funny little town."

The whale then started swimming fast. The monstrous waves were skimming past. It was a very thrilling ride, the Tynmites agreed. "The wave sprays seem just like a shower. We're traveling miles and miles per hour," said Scouty. "I am sure that I have never seen such speed."

On, on they went across the sea, away far as any eye could see.

The whale's mouth stayed wide open. He was kind to them, no doubt. Then Carpy said, "As long as this keeps up there's naught to go amiss. But, if he starts to close his mouth, I surely will jump out."

"Oh, look!" cried Scouty. "There's a ship. Perhaps we soon can end this trip. The whale is heading straight that way. I wonder who's on board?" The whale then spouted water high. It almost seemed to touch the sky. Then, as he spouted once again, his monstrous nostrils roared.

By this time they were near the ship. The Tynmites saw a long rope zip out through the air and land upon the whale, who made a fuss. The rope, however, caught him tight and Clowny shouted, "We're all right. The men upon the little boat are going to rescue us."

(The Tynmites jump into the sea in the next story.)

FIDAC AUXILIARY AT INSTALLATION BY POST AND UNIT

Mrs. Macauley Tells of Plans—Department Auxiliary Head Also Present

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Mrs. Adeline Macauley of Menominee, past national president of the American Legion Auxiliary and recently elected international Fidac auxiliary president, and Mrs. R. B. McCoy, department president of the American Legion Auxiliary, state of Wisconsin, were guests of honor at the annual installation of officers of the Norris-Spencer Post and Unit held at Legion Hall Thursday evening. Mrs. Ruth Manske, eighth district committee woman, acted as installing officer for the auxiliary unit, and Dr. A. Christofferson of Waupaca, acted as installing officer for the post. Newly installed officers of the post are: commander, Dr. Melvin A. Borchardt; first vice commander, Frank Meyers; second vice commander, Clarence Walker; historian, Dr. F. S. Loes; adjutant, Raymond Pahl; service officer, D. E. Egan; chaplain, Gus Furest; athletic officer, Arthur Lash; secretary, Leonard Borchardt and John Baker; assistant adjutant and financial officer, Carlton Reuter.

Auxiliary officers are Lillian Lash, president; Helen Egan, first vice president; Martha Borchardt, second vice president; Mary Loes, chaplain; Freda Elmer, historian; Gertrude Leeman, treasurer; Dorothy Smith, secretary; Ruth Manske, past president; Belle Furest, first sergeant-at-arms; Florence Pahl, second sergeant-at-arms; Mable Schoenrock, sentinel; Mary Thersens, publicity director; Emma Putnam and Gertrude Spurr, musicians. Following the installation ceremonies, vocal selections were given by E. C. Berglund and Miss Ruth Thiel. Alton Engel accompanied them at the piano and also played two piano solos. Favors were presented to the guests of honor and to Mrs. Ruth Manske, who returned Thursday evening from San Antonio, Texas, where she represented the eighth district of the Auxiliary at this state of the national convention. Presentation of favors was made by Rosemary McDaniels, Cordell Meyers and Patricia Egan, members of the junior auxiliary.

DISCUSSES FIDAC
Mrs. Macauley spoke briefly on the organization of Fidac, an international organization of men of all nations who fought in the world war. The word Fidac means the world peace program of the American Legion, and its work is controlled by men of high government positions who served in the great war. The auxiliary membership includes women of national and international fame.

"The ties of comradeship among the veterans of the World War will lead to an amicable settlement through Fidac," stated the distinguished guest. "The international relationship cannot be worked out and righted in one generation. It will be the result of a perfect understanding among nations in generations to come." The idea of total disarmament was contemplated by some American people, she said, is futile for the countries over there, situated as they are, surrounded by unfriendly and quarrelsome neighbors.

"America is true from this contention and is independent. We do not need preparedness but they do," emphasized Mrs. Macauley. Until the time comes when a relationship of perfect peace comes, let us all be prepared. The American Legion and its Auxiliary are recognized and are the most powerful organization in the world. Service men and women of all nations are active in this organization and distinguished officials of these countries are included among its leaders. Fidac has been in organization for about four years and its international congress has become an annual affair. At the congress held this summer at Rumania, it was the wish of the allied nations that an American be their leader."

Mrs. Macauley, who was attending the conference as America's representative was chosen as president. She will leave in the near future for Paris where she will have headquarters. This office is financed by the American Legion of this country. Mrs. Macauley plans to be abroad on official duty for a year. The next congress will be held in Serbia in 1929.

GLADYS NICKOLI HURT IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Whoever Is Elected, We Are All Going To Be Saved

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—This is a campaign of offsets.

It appears that there are, after all, enough issues kicking around to tangle up with each other and to prevent the voters from making any clear-cut decision this year on anything.

If Hoover wins, President Coolidge's friends will say the nation has endorsed the Coolidge administration and other Republicans will say the tariff and prosperity decided everything. The Anti-Saloon League will say the nation has voted dry. The Ku Klux Klan will insist that America would take only a Protestant president and someone else will have the nerve to say that the farmer is pretty well satisfied after all.

The consensus at numerous afternoon teas will be that a majority demands dignity in the White House and the public utilities will claim it's a great victory for them.

Employees in the Department of Commerce will explain that the voters recognized the greatest man in the world and the Democrats will say it proves that the electorate is deplorably dumb.

If Smith wins it will be said by some that the voters have repudiated the Coolidge administration, that they decided the Republicans had no monopoly on prosperity, that the country has made a mass protest against prohibition, that it's a tremendous victory for tolerance, that the liberals and progressives put him over, that Al's personality combined with his record was the main factor and so on. The Republicans will bemoan the supposition that an ungrateful nation has gone crazy.

There will be any number of explanations no matter which way it turns out, because some of us think we must save the country from Tammany and the pope and others think we've got to turn out the plutocracy and Andy Mellon. In any event, we're bound to be saved from something.

A fundamental question is whether the various convictions, prejudices and superstitions now held by large groups of voters will result in a trend one way or the other or whether one factor is just going to offset another so that in the aggregate they won't make much difference.

Take the religious issue, which appears to figure in the campaign in nearly every state. Smith may lose several states simply because of his religion. Correspondents touring the country are unanimous in treating that issue as a factor wherever they go.

On the other hand, it also appears likely that religious attacks on Smith have solidified Catholic voters behind him, improving his chances of carrying large cities and industrial states where there are large Catholic populations. Arguments have begun as to whether the religious issue will do more harm than good to Smith.

Will the dry character of most western farm states offset the discontent among them? How many farmers will vote according to their prohibition views and how many according to their views on the president?

PLAN DISCUSSIONS FOR TRAFFIC CLASS

Group Will Talk About Description of Shipments from Different Views

The second meeting of persons taking the traffic study course being sponsored by the traffic division of Appleton chamber of commerce will be held Monday evening at chamber offices, according to Roy Wort, traffic manager of the chamber. The first meeting was held Monday evening.

Proper description of shipments will be discussed by the group, the topic having been divided into several subjects such as, importance of understanding, importance of proper description, articles known by trade names, describing and classifying freight, abbreviations and ditto marks, returned articles and general conclusions on the subjects. Twenty persons attended the first meeting but an increased attendance is expected at Monday's session.

COPS TO PATROL ROADS AS LONG AS POSSIBLE

Outagamie-co motorcycle officers will continue to patrol the roads in the county probably until Jan. 1 if weather conditions permit, according to A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner. However if snow and ice should make the roads impassable the highway committee will probably order the officers off the road earlier. City motorcycle officers, according to Police Chief George T. Prim, will remain at work as long as weather permits.

ASSOCIATION TO HOLD PRIZE LETTER CONTEST

A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, has received word from John N. Callahan, state superintendent, of a $10,000 prize letter writing contest of the International Baby Chick association on Why It Pays to Buy Chicks from Hatcheries. A. A. Brown, of the state department of markets and a member of the association, has announced that prizes will range from $25 to $5,000 for the best letters.

Poison Blood Causes High Blood Pressure

Madison—High blood pressure is a direct result of the contraction of the arterial walls, usually caused by a diseased condition of the organs or by the influence of poison in the blood, the health committee of the Wisconsin State Medical Society declares in a bulletin.

The committee stresses the importance of keeping up a normal blood circulation and emphasizes the need of finding out why blood pressure in a certain case has increased and then striving to correct the cause as far as possible. The committee emphasizes the need of moderation in all things to permit the heart and blood vessels to perform their tasks under the least handicap.

"The normal systolic pressure is about 120 for the male at twenty years of age. In women it is approximately five points less," the committee says. "It ordinarily increases about half a point per year of age so that the average normal for a man of sixty is about 140. This is accounted for by the fact that the arteries tend to become less elastic as we grow older. High blood pressure means that this average normal is definitely and persistently increased by at least fifteen points."

"It has been demonstrated that these increases are due to changes in the heart and blood vessels either from diseased conditions in these organs or by the influence of toxins or poisons in the blood which cause the arterial walls to contract. These toxins may result from acute or chronic infections; may come from intoxications as the long continued over-use of alcohol, tea or coffee; or may be produced by excesses in eating when more food is taken than can be used by the body. It is believed, too, that overwork, both mental and physical at times has a tendency to raise blood pressure

"High blood pressure, therefore, is usually but a symptom of a diseased or disordered condition in the body and should be studied and treated from that standpoint. However, there is one apparent exception. Occasionally, more often in young adults, high blood pressure is discovered for which no cause can be ascertained after most painstaking examinations and tests. This is termed 'essential hypertension'—hypertension being the word used by physicians for blood pressure. Many doctors consider this a true disease in itself, for which is no specific treatment other than the simple hygienic measures mentioned later. It is rarely that individuals with this type of hypertension experience any unusual symptoms or discomfort."

"As can readily be imagined if high arterial tension persists, the arteries themselves later may become diseased and various results as arterio-sclerosis or hardening of the arteries; chronic kidney disease and enlarged heart appear."

"Just what can be done to prevent this condition known as high blood pressure? Obviously the answer is to discover and eliminate as far as possible the underlying causes. The periodic health examination, especially from early adult life on, during which chronic infections such as those of the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder or pelvic organs may be noted and treated is of the greatest value in the prevention of hypertension."

Dr. Eckener at Chicago Banquet

It must have been a good story that Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, was telling Mayor "Big Bill" Thompson of Chicago when this picture was taken at the banquet Chicago gave the Zeppelin party. Bill seems interested, and Lady Drummond Hay, passenger on the dirigible in its trans-ocean flight, is smiling too.

David Lawrence to forecast the election FOR THE POST-CRESCENT

After the most intensive investigation of the sentiment in the pivotal states which he has made in his nearly twenty years successful political reporting, David Lawrence will write a special series of six dispatches for The Post-Crescent on the eve of the election.

On Friday, November 2, he will forecast the presidential election and on Saturday the congressional election.

This series of six dispatches will record the results of searching study of the situation in the doubtful territory. David Lawrence has rubbed elbows with every class. He has weighed the claims of one party against the concessions of the other.

He will trace the trends and isolate the determining factors up to the very edge of the balloting and record his opinions based on the judgment born of a long training and backed by a reputation for successful prediction from the days when he called the turn on the Wilson victory in 1912.

Highs Conceded Chance Against Oshkosh Eleven

Shieldsmen Coached To Stop Tadyeh And Crowd

Game Will Be Biggest High School Attraction on Local Field

The stage for the biggest high school game on the local field this fall is set, and the players now are resting, preparatory to the attempt of Appleton high gridgers, collectively, to steal the show from Amy Tadyeh and his running mate, Barlow, representing Oshkosh high school and considered one of the best football eleven in the valley conference. The game will start at 2:15.

Appleton high gridgers went through their last rehearsal Friday evening, a bit of signal practice and a skill session on the ways and means of stopping the fast stepping Sawdust city backfield. Thursday evening's session was much of the same nature, the earlier part of the week having been given over to scrimmage with the seconds using Oshkosh formations.

Although picked to lose Saturday, the highs may upset the dope bucket and play the game of their lives. Persons who have followed the team closely realize that while the local youngsters don't seem to carry the ball with any great amount of precision they can stop most anything to come their way, and that their goal line has been crossed but once, by Sheboygan last week.

While much of the week's drill has been against second stringers who were supposed to imitate Tadyeh, Shields also has taken a few minutes off to teach the men a few new plays which give indication of working if given only half a chance. The plays depend on open field running as characterized by Berg, Crane and Kuntz.

Coach Shields has little to feel happy about as Saturday morning rolls around. He'll have Popp back at fullback but the big fellow has been having trouble with his ankles again and if one goes bad on him Saturday it will mean much to the Orange and Black Popp's plunging tactics for the extra yard or two that means a first down will be sorely needed Saturday.

A couple linemen who haven't been in a suit all week because of illness also are worrying Shields but he's hoping they'll be able to play Saturday. The men are Brettrick who has been ailing for several days and on Thursday still was running a fever. Minschmidt, a tackle and reserve lineman in general, also has been missing because of illness while Elias, end, has a cold that is slowing him up to a point where he's almost useless.

Indications are that the starting backfield will be Berg, quarter, Crane and Kuntz, halves and Popp, fullback. In the line Tink Ryan will play center, Bobby Elias, left, and Downer or Winters, guards, Abraham, Minschmidt, and Kranhold, tackles, and DeYoung, Elias or Schaefer, ends.

The Oshkosh eleven is coming up here with its band, according to reports and several hundred students. The Sawdust city fans have the championship bug, this year, and they're supporting their team to the limit.

BADGER HARRIERS TO RUN AGAINST MICHIGAN

Madison (AP)—With the first defeat since 1923 chalked up against them, the University of Wisconsin cross country team will meet the team representing the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday morning. It will be the first dual meet between the two schools in several years and will be run over the Wolverines 3 1/2 mile course.

Although defeated 27 to 30 by Indiana Saturday at Evansville at a meet in which Northwestern also was entered, the Badgers showed consistency and although Fields, Clapham and Lees, Indiana stars tied first place, Wisconsin runners finished in the next five places and then took 10th, 13th, 14th and 15th.

In Dixon and Dilley, Coach T. E. Jones has uncovered two capable sophomores, distance runners and with Capt. Bill Burgess, Fink and Fulson, has three other men who

Coaching Again

Dr. Al Sharpe, for many years coach of Yale and Cornell football teams, has gone back after an absence of eight years to his first love—football. Dr. Sharpe is at Washington University at St. Louis under a five-year contract as athletic director, and is coaching the football team of that institution this year. He hopes to build for the future at Washington this year and perhaps in a year or two, be able to meet the strongest competition in the middle west.

LAWRENCE FROSH PLAY AT OSHKOSH

Meet State Teacher's College Yearlings on Homecoming Card

Lawrence college freshmen will play their second and last competitive game Saturday when they hook up with Oshkosh normal frosh at Oshkosh, as part of the state teacher's homecoming celebration.

The local yearlings have been scrimmaging among themselves all week and perfecting their plays. They have shown great strength against the varsity eleven but when they take the field in real competition seem to fall victims of stage fright.

Among the men taking the trip Saturday, according to Coach Joseph Trepanier are Smith, Hessler, McMahon and Hall, ends; Froelich, Hilbert, Amundson, tackles, Swager, Jansen, Babcock, guards, Franzen, Melcher, centers, Schier and Van Bloemen, quarter, Lund, fullback, and Stroebel, Ryan and Flitey, half backs.

TENNIS WITH A "STING" London—A wasp has the distinction of having held up a championship tennis tournament at Scarborough. He worried one of the women players until she stopped long enough to chase the insect from the court—to the great delight of spectators.

may be counted to finish near the front. Three places on the 10-men team are undetermined and the coach will run Blair, Hoffman, Eggers, Goldworthy, Schroeder and Ickle in a time trial to find the best three.

A dual meet at Iowa City, Nov. 17 and the western conference championship, a title the Badgers have held for four years, at Madison, Nov. 24, are the other events on the cross country program.

DAYTON "11" HAS STRONG LINEUP

Graham, Guard, Considered One of Best Pro Players in Game

Green Bay—Sometimes football games which are rated so highly in the pre-game dope or which have not the earmarks of great games such as are usually played by old rivals such as the Packers and Bears, are sometimes far better exhibitions of football than are expected and it looks as if the game here Sunday between the Dayton Triangles and the Packers will be one of those games. Looking over the dope in general it would not be at all surprising if the game was one of the very best of the season locally.

In the first place Dayton has a list of players comparing favorably with that of any team in the league. Every one of them are fighters, and when they are beaten it is not because they have failed to carry the fight to their opponents or because any of them have failed to give their best to win. Most of the games this season the Triangles have played their opponents on nearly even terms but always seemed unable to get the breaks necessary to win close games. The players on the Dayton squad claim that they are almost fed up on bad breaks and figure that things are apt to be coming their way against the Packers and if so are quite confident of their ability to beat the Big Bay Blues.

Fans here last season rated Graham, the stocky guard as about the best man in the league at that position because of his great play in the game last year. Kinderlein, the center, although not a big husky of the type of Barpe or Traflet is one of the most aggressive centers in the league and makes up in this respect what he may lack in size. Earl Britton, fullback, who did much to make Red Grange famous, when they teamed together at Illinois, by providing interference for the famous Wheaton Iceman, is still very formidable in this particular respect and his kicking is also of the spectacular type. He is apt to give Lewellen quite a run for kicking honors in the game Sunday. He is also a great passer and last season caused the Packers plenty of trouble in breaking up the aerial game.

Also, if advance dope is worth anything, there is apt to be a lot of passes unleashed by both teams which will tend to make the game unusually spectacular. Last week the Packers allowed the Bears to complete quite a few passes for good gains and as Dayton had a scout in the stands he probably made note of this fact for word coming from the Ohio city indicates that they are putting in a lot of time polishing up their aerial game. For a long time the Packers have been noted as the greatest forward passing team in the country and if they follow their usual style of play this week and Dayton also takes to the air in an effort to achieve a victory there is likely to be a lot of thrills in the game before the final whistle shrills.

The game will start at 2 o'clock sharp and reservations can be made as usual.

THISTY TAKES 31 BADGERS ON TRIP

Davidson Who Starred on Reserve Team Is With Squad

Madison (AP)—To the tune of "On Wisconsin" played by the university band, and variety locomotives and skyrockets of a thousand cheering students, the University of Wisconsin football team of 31 players left late Thursday afternoon for Ann Arbor, Mich., for the annual game with the Michigan Wolverines Saturday. The Badgers left without Gene Rose, Racine, half back, and Joe Kresky, Marquette, guard, who were suspended for disciplinary reasons early this week. The 31 men left determined to break the hold Michigan has held on the Badgers since 1899, and for the first time in several years left as the favorites, confident, but not overly so.

In their last practice, the Cardinals went through a dummy scrimmage working on a defense for the Wolverine attack. Later, they ran through a signal drill stressing the attack which pulled them to a tie against Purdue last Saturday.

Cosch Thistlethwaite has made one important shift in his line, but refused to make the move public until game time Saturday afternoon. The starting backfield is problematical.

The Badgers stayed in Chicago overnight and Friday morning finished their trek to the Wolverine lair where they were to take their final workout Friday afternoon. The squad then was to go to Ypsilanti, away from the distractions of Ann Arbor, until game time Saturday.

Noticeable changes in those making the trip was that Oman, half back, and Horvitz, tackle, were left to play with the "B" team against the Michigan Reserves here Saturday, and Red Davidson, who starred at half back last week against Oshkosh normal, and Herman McKesko, giant tackle, took their places.

Those making the trip were: Backs—Bartholomew, Behr, Cuisinier, Davidson, Hayes, Lusby, Price, H. Smith, K. Smith, Rehbohl, and Oberdorfer. Linemen—Backus, Binish, Casey, Connor, Conroy, Cooke, Davies, Gantenbein, Kelsaer, Labratovich, McKaskle, Miller, Parks, Shoemaker, L. Smith, Stevens, Wagner and Wagner.

Feature in Weekend Games

Football contests on Oct. 27, the last Saturday of the month, will be the football followers what the Fourth of July is to baseball enthusiasts. Battles that day will mark the midway point of the season. Some of the outstanding pairings for the day are Army-Yale, Minnesota-Iowa, and Virginia-Vanderbilt. Others are Princeton-Cornell, Dartmouth-Harvard, Syracuse-Penn State, Georgia Tech-North Carolina, Nebraska-Missouri, and Washington-Oregon Aggies.

Badger Grid Squads All Swing Into Action

Outstanding state football games Saturday, October 27. (With scores when teams met in 1927.)

Beloit-Lawrence (19) vs. Beloit (6). Wauskeha-Ripon (9) vs. Carroll (12). Worcester, Mass.—Marquette (12) vs. Holy Cross (6).

Marquette, Mich.—Northland (12) vs. Marquette Teachers (0). Ann Arbor, Mich.—Wisconsin (0) vs. Michigan (14). Madison—Michigan "B" vs. Wisconsin "B".

Oshkosh—LaCrosse Teachers (13) vs. Oshkosh Teachers (0). Superior-Stout (8) vs. Superior Teachers (21). Wheaton, Ill.—Wis. Mines vs. Wheaton. Milwaukee-Platteville Teachers (0) vs. Milwaukee Normal (12).

ers and a scoreless tie with North Dakota State, are to meet Stout Institute of Menomonie Saturday. The Menomonie eleven played a 6 to 6 tie with LaCrosse Teachers, defeated last Saturday by Superior Teachers 26 to 0, and will go into the game the underdog.

Oshkosh Teachers, conquerors of Lawrence college, Appleton, in an early season game, but defeated by the Wisconsin "B" team, will meet the LaCrosse Teachers at Oshkosh.

The Oshkosh eleven is undefeated in the State Teachers conference. Beloit college will celebrate its homecoming with its traditional battle with Lawrence college. Beloit, handicapped by a small squad, has done well, defeating Mt. Morris (11), college and Northwestern college, Watertown, and losing 7 to 0 to North Central college, Naperville, Ill., and 20 to 12 to Knox college, Galesburg, Ill. After getting away to a poor start, the Vikings of Appleton have found themselves as shown by their 15 to 7 victory over Lake Forest college last week.

Carroll college, defeated by Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Ia., last Saturday, but state collegiate champion and undefeated in Wisconsin, is to meet an ancient foe in Ripon at Wauskeha Saturday.

Marquette, which appears to be an "in and out" with a stinging defeat administered by the Drake Bulldogs two weeks ago, and a 26 to 0 victory over the Oklahoma Aggies last Saturday, will travel East to uphold a Midwestern prestige and attempt to down Holy Cross of Worcester, Mass., for the second successive year. The Hilltoppers arrived in the East Friday and worked out on the playing field.

Northland college, Ashtabula, journey to Marquette, Mich., to meet the Teachers college team, while the School of Mines at Platteville is in Wheaton, Ill., for a game with Wheaton college.

Milwaukee Normal, soundly trounced last week by River Falls

Having fared pretty well in our first attempt to pick grid scores we respectfully submit the following opinions on Saturday's games.

Lawrence 14, Beloit 6. Oshkosh 19, Appleton 6. East Green Bay 30, Marinette 0. Fond du Lac 19, Manitowish 0. Carroll 20, Ripon 7. Wisconsin 13, Michigan 7. Purdue 13, Chicago 6. Notre Dame 6, Drake 0. Illinois 13, Northwestern 0. Marquette 13, Holy Cross 0. Minnesota 7, Iowa 7. Harvard 14, Dartmouth 7. Pennsylvania 10, Navy 0. Ohio State 14, Indiana 10. Princeton 10, Cornell 0. Yale 10, Army 7.

Friend, Olio Kuschie who piles his trade on the Milwaukee Journal dashed over to Madison in great haste the other afternoon and asked Thistlethwaite in a point blank manner about Rose and Kresky. Thistlethwaite told him the men had been suspended indefinitely but not necessarily for the remainder of the season. Thus Olio clears up a mystery which other boys haven't been able to fathom, not even Sir Roudy of the State Journal.

Friends of Bobby Testwilde, Sheboygan, who cavorted on local grids, cage floors and around the fairways of Butte des Morts country club when he still was going to school in the Chair city will be interested to know he's making quite a name for himself as a grid player at Seward more. Although weighing about 145 pounds he's scampering around the green with the best of them and in a recent game, Philadelphia sport scribes painted all kinds of pictures of his abilities.

The Lawrence Vikings go forth to cop their first state conference game Saturday afternoon at Beloit. The Vikings should win if they elect to start playing football in the first half instead of waiting until the second. They've got the stuff both physically and mentally. All they need is a little going over before the fracas to get them started on a romp for the afternoon.

There are no big games carded for this section of the state Saturday so that high school battles will be the big drawing card. If you want to see a battle royal go out to Whitling field and watch Appleton high try and stop Tadyeh and Barlow of the Sawdust city eleven. Those Orange and Gold players haven't shown much while carrying the ball but they won't let anyone run off with the field Saturday. It'll be a mighty interesting game to say the least.

PILLARS OF 7,000 TONS London—The deepest dock wall in the world will necessitate the construction of 78 concrete pillars weighing 7,000 tons each. The wall will be 3,800 feet long. It was started two years ago, and it is estimated that $65,000,000 will be spent in its construction during the next 25 years.

GOOD SUGGESTION; VIKES MIGHT START SIMILAR MOVEMENT

Milwaukee—A sport columnist in the Marquette Tribune, student newspaper at Marquette university, suggests that varsity athletic swimmers be awarded to the coaches of Marquette's various major teams. He points out that all the football coaches have been with the Golden Avalanche for seven years successfully, and that the track and hockey teams have won championships. It is possible that the idea will be considered by the athletic board.

MARQUETTE BASKETEERS LED BY SWEDE GEBERT

Milwaukee—Although Marquette university athletic authorities have not as yet announced Marquette's complete 1928-29 varsity basketball schedule, it is known that the blue and gold quintet again will face a stiff campaign.

Creighton, Notre Dame, Drake, Michigan State and several other midwestern schools will be met and arrangements have been made for a game with the University of Iowa at Moline, Ill., Friday night, Dec. 21. The contest with Sam Barry's Hawk-eyes will feature the opening of a new high school at Moline.

Marquette will be captained in basketball by Walter (Swede) Gebert, a guard and halfback and captain on this year's football team. Gebert is the first Marquette athlete to captain two varsity teams in the same school year.

According to law civilians not only may, but must, arrest anyone whom they see committing a felony. The arrested person must be handed over to a policeman at the first opportunity.

Teachers, is aiming at a comeback and expects to make the Platteville teachers college the victim.

Around The Sport World

WHAT WILL HAPPEN TO JOE?

WITH all the talk about the transfer of Rogers Hornsby to Chicago—and it is certain that he will be transferred—there has arisen a sideline discussion as to what will happen to Joe McCarthy, manager of the Cubs, when Hornsby goes to work for him.

Hornsby, for no just reason what, ever, has the reputation of being a professional climber. It was said that he undermined Branch Rickey as manager of the Cardinals, that he was digging under McGraw when he was fired from the Giants, that he greased the boards for Jack Slatery in Boston and that he will work for no man.

Those aware of the facts know that Hornsby could be indicated only on circumstantial evidence and that he didn't do any personal job-getting. NOTHING WILL HAPPEN. It is quite certain that Hornsby will play ball if he goes to Chicago because he has played ball under any and all circumstances and that he will continue to play ball under McCarthy.

In this connection it is interesting to learn that negotiations were started by the Chicago officials because McCarthy told them that he wanted Hornsby and he asked that Hornsby be secured if the ball club didn't have to be wrecked to get him. This surely indicates that McCarthy has no fear that Hornsby will

GO OUT AND GET 'EM

It is understood that William Wrigley, who plays with the Cubs as a hobby, called his staff together and wanted to know why it was not looking for profit and who had a great love of his fans, could not get a pennant winner.

And his staff in chorus answered: "We need a second baseman and a good right-handed hitter." "Go and get them if a half million will do it," the boss said. "All the better, who is he?" And the answer was—"HORNSBY."

The negotiations then started. McCarthy said he was afraid that Boston would demand players that would weaken the club in other positions and would not take cash left the Boston customers get mad.

And Wrigley told them to spare the players they could, if they had to and not stop at any price demanded.

BARNEY SUSPICIOUS At the same time the negotiations started for Hornsby, Pittsburgh was sounded out about Glenn Wright and Barney Dreyfuss was willing to talk business until he heard about the Hornsby affair. He said no loud voice but the Chicago men are trying to convince him that they want Wright to be used in a deal.

RIPON READY FOR CARROLL PIONEERS
Redmen Build Defense for Bizer and Armstrong's Passes
Ripon—(P)—Facing Carroll college in the Little Four conference opener Saturday the Ripon college Redmen were to run through a final signal drill Friday to close a week's strenuous practice for the game, which is expected to be the toughest of the season.
Thursday the squad labored through the longest and most exacting workout in three weeks. It included "back to fundamentals" followed by a defensive scrimmage against the reserves while the yearlings furnished the opposition in an hour's offensive drill.
Although scouting is prohibited, the Redmen expect Coach Armstrong's gridiron to depend on an aerial attack for which they have built up a strong defense in the week's rehearsals. Led by Capt. Bizer, the Pioneers have employed a passing offense to win their early season games, and Coach Doehling's eleven probably will use overhead tricks to conquer Carroll at its own game.

COUNTY MILL TAX MORE THAN $50,000
Total State Mill Tax of $2,399,461.77 Made Public by Dammann
Madison—(P)—County apportionments of the state mill tax of $2,399,461.77 were made public Wednesday by the office of the secretary of state, Milwaukee, with the largest assessed valuation, had the largest portion of the tax, $696,713.
Dane's assessment amounted to $120,786.74; and other counties were taxed as follows:
Ashland $227.41, Brown $48,201.06, Calumet $17,177.09, Chippewa $24,249.88, Clark $22,467.97, Door $19,917.90, Douglas $4,656.93, Dunn $19,709.13, Eau Claire $26,833.34, Fond du Lac $49,768.76, Green $22,588.89, Green Lake $12,331.54, Jefferson $42,101.13, Kenosha $68,392.83, Kewaunee $13,168.43, La Crosse $31,729.31, Langlade $11,445.32, Lincoln $14,250.47, Manitowish $50,363.44, Marathon $51,084.40, Marinette $15,157.59, Monroe $17,609.46, Oconto $11,761.71, Oneida $3,482.97, Outagamie $51,065.60, Ozaukee $15,204.57, Portage $16,853.27, Racine $35,925.22, Rock $58,557.14, Shawano $17,199.40, Sheboygan $6,428.99, Trempealeau $16,310.06, Walworth $36,031.39, Washington $22,415.91, Waukesha $39,364.65, Waupaca $22,948.23, Winnebago $37,842.89, Wood $26,987.22.

MAYORAL NECKLACE IN STYLE
Huge necklaces, such as are worn by the chief officials of cities of England, have come into vogue in Europe. The most popular are composed of large gold links chained together with an occasional colored stone. One was worn at the Riviera recently by Princess Jean de Faucigny-Lucinge to set off her costume of emerald green silk sailor trousers and white shirt with green suspenders to match.
MALTA BUSY, RENTS SOAR
Malta, with its Mediterranean scenery and climate, is attracting such crowds this season that habitations have become scarce. As a result rents of furnished houses and apartments have been doubled in the past year. Among the visitors are many rich Americans. British naval officers stationed there are having the hardest time because their salaries barely pay for the expenses of themselves and families.
IT'S MR. AND MRS. DOG NOW
The dog has come into his own in England since the advent of dog racing, and some enthusiasts have started that fashion of calling their pets by the dignified prefix of "Mr." and "Mrs." Viscountess Curzon dislikes to be parted from her Mr. Guppy, and Lord Stovense is proud of his Mrs. Smith. One pet once was known as Bonzo, but now refuses to answer except to Mr. Bonzo.
VENICE HONORS VERONESE
Venice recently celebrated the 400th anniversary of the birth of the great painter, Paul Veronese. The city was gaily decorated, and dancing and singing were enjoyed in the Square of St. Mark's while other festivities were held in many parts of the city. Among those who took part was the young Crown Prince Umberto of Italy, who journeyed to Venice for the event.

Ingwersen Has His Big Chance Saturday
Chicago—(P)—The day of opportunity appears to have come at last for weary Burt Ingwersen of Iowa.
Thousands of alumni, who jeered him and demanded his resignation as Iowa coach after last year's dismal record on the gridiron, are now cheering him. Saturday the largest crowd that ever saw a football game at Iowa is expected to watch his big eleven tackle the colossus of the north, Minnesota, in the outstanding battle of the Big Ten's card.
For the first time in years, Iowa City and Iowa were literally jostled Friday in anticipation of the battle between the two undefeated eleven. Should the Hawkeyes win, it will be probably the most glorious homecoming in Iowa's history for alumni and Ingwersen.
Both eleven were to go through final practice on Iowa field Friday. Both teams were in good condition, especially the two rival line busters, "Big Chief" McLain of Iowa and Bronko Nagurski of the Gophers. A slashing line duel is expected to feature the battle of the Big Ten behemoths.
Four other Big Ten teams also began their invasions of foreign fields Friday. Wisconsin had 31 men at Michigan, Northwestern was at Illinois, Ohio State was enroute to Indiana and Purdue's Bollermakers invaded Chicago.
Northwestern's passing attack bothered Coach Bob Zupke and his Illinois considerably and they spent their last drill Thursday throwing up earthworks to smother it. The purple and three full teams at Champaign bent on spoiling the Illinois homecoming and its championship hopes.
Virtually every Ohio State player was in condition as the undefeated Buckeyes invaded Indiana. Coach Wilce's men have improved rapidly during the week and are expected to play a trifle plainer football against the Hoosiers than they did against Michigan and Northwestern. Indiana has spent this week developing a defense to stop the invaders.
Michigan, like Northwestern and Chicago, expected to set back Wisconsin with an aerial attack. The Badgers left Madison without Gene Rose, halfback, and Joe Kresky, guard, who were chastised for disciplinary reasons. Coach Glen Thistlethwaite announced he would send a different lineup against the Wolverines Saturday.
With all its players in top form, Purdue was confident of giving Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg and his Maroons their third straight conference licking. But Stagg kept working his men and polishing up a passing attack, having learned how successful Wisconsin worked passes against Purdue last week.

WHIRLWIND

BY ELEANOR EARLY

THIS HAS HAPPENED

SYBIL THORNE, lovely and notorious, believes herself the most miserable of girls. JOHN LAWRENCE, her youthful lover, missing in action. TAD, her adored brother, engaged to VALERIE WEST, a frivolous creature. And now her beloved father desperately ill and breaking his heart.

But Sybil has a devoted admirer—CRAIG NEWHALL, most eligible bachelor in Boston. Craig persuades her one sunny afternoon to leave her father and drive with him through the country.

For months Sybil and Craig have had a sort of an affair. "Just because a girl likes to pet with a man it's no sign she loves him," affirms Sybil. "And though she has permitted Craig's caresses and understood his infatuation she is genuinely surprised when he asks her to marry him."

CHAPTER V
"Oh, Craig, Craig, Angel Simpleton!" Sybil grasped his coat lapels in both hands and, pulling him to her, kissed him and pushed him away again. "Blessed and adorable fool!"

"I'd be awfully good to you," he promised, and taking her hand, raised it to his lips to make a bracelet of kisses for her wrist. Craig did that. Sometimes it was necklaces, and sometimes it was bracelets. Whenever it was a necklace, there was a very particular kiss to nestle in the little hollow of her throat.

Ceremonial kisses, like strands of sacred stones. Cool and chaste as pearls. "Kiss me on the lips," she said. "Kiss me on the lips," she said. And when he had, she sighed happily, and leaned against his shoulder.

"Darling," she told him. "I should have let you—now I don't know quite what I was going to say. Don't touch me again until I've finished. Your technique isn't conducive to reasoning. And getting married, Craig, is sort of serious. Now listen—in the first place, I'd make a wretched wife. No domestic accomplishment—no social graces—"

"Now you listen," Craig put his hand over her mouth to make her listen. "I don't want a cook, or a professional hostess, or anything like that. I did go to an employment agency. I want a girl to love and pet and make a fuss over. Budgets and lashes and things aren't my idea of marriage. I'm not pining a little woman to run a vacuum and shake a wicked mop."

"I want a mistress," all wonder and a wild desire. A girl with crimson lips to kiss, and skin that's soft and sweet to touch. That's what I'm asking you, sweetheart."

Sybil thrilled appreciatively. "But there's my past," she protested. "They say I'm a bit wild, Craigie. Fickle and hard as nails, and a notorious petter."

"Well, I'm no white-haired boy myself," he admitted, and smiled at her absurdly. "But, Craigie, you're a catch! Just try proposing to another girl in town. My dear, you'd be surprised! They'd simply jump at you. And here you are—throwing yourself away on me! Craig—it's—preposterous!" And, tumbling for a handkerchief, she wiped her eyes. "Dear wind," she said, "makes my eyes water."

"Oh, well, it's nothing to cry about," Craig patted her hand lamely. "Gee, you're a funny kid, Sybil. Anybody'd think, to hear you talk, Galahad had just proposed to Mary Magdalene. Think it over, dearest. I don't want to rush you into anything. But when Tad gets married, you're going to be very lonely. And you'll need someone to cling to."

"You don't mean that, Craig," she corrected, "not about Tad. I mean it's daddy you're thinking about. You're afraid, when he dies, I'll go crazy again. Like when John died. And you're just wonderful enough to want to save me all you can. Grief and loneliness and everything."

"I suppose you're afraid I'll take to cocktails and affairs and get myself talked about some more. You think I'll try to forget, running round with every Tom, Dick and Harry. You think—"

"I think," he told her, "that you're a luxurious little barbarian—that's what I think. I think you need someone to love. I after you. And I'm begging for the job. Oh, Sybil, you adorable child, with your hardboiled ways! Come, and let me baby you, and keep you from all that's hard and cold and hurtful. She leaned against him gratefully. "I feel like this girl in the comic sheets, Craig. This is so sudden." "You darling!" he cried, and moved to take her in his arms. "Just a minute. Just a minute." With both hands she waved him away. "Sit still like a good little boy. The lady of your heart must ponder."

"But you're so deliberate!" he protested. "You told me to think it over," she reminded him. And over his shoulder, as he drew away, she saw another figure. Pathetically boyish. With the sun on his hair, and the light of love in his eyes. A phantom in khaki. And she saw his mouth grow hurt, as she gazed. And his outstretched arms drop to his sides.

Could she break faith with the dead? She thought of him as she had had left him an hour ago. And he seemed to her more pitiful even than John, who had died in his youth with his heart full of love and dreams.

It must be dreadfully hard to grow old, and die. Particularly when you knew that Death was only around the corner, lurking—waiting—ready to spring, and to choke. John had been spared all that. He never knew. Oh, the blessedness of never knowing!

Six months ago her father was so strong and happy. Robustly alive, florid and laughing; and his little light mustache bristled and looked full of life.

Six months ago he had made a frightening change. His eyes—they used to be bright and China blue. They were dull now and swimming in tears so they made her think, with a lump in her throat, of blue bells under water. His face was drawn and wan. Pain had left its mark and the horror of death. His mustache had grown white and looked limp and dejected. Sometimes he knaved savagely on its ends.

She remembered what he had said that afternoon. "I want to see you happily married." It was the first time he had ever said it, but, before today, she had read the desire in his eyes. Sometimes when they talked of Tad's marriage, sometimes when she told him the wedding plans of other girls; when children came to visit them or when they talked together of little houses and gardens.

"Daddy'd be so happy," she reflected, and a warm, lovely feeling filled her heart. How his dear eyes would brighten. But there was John. John. John. His name beat like a drum in her ears. So that she put her hands to her temples, to keep him away. Poor little boy. It was so long, long ago. A sort of dream—the way he had loved her, and the way they had talked and planned. How he loved her!

But he wouldn't if he were alive today, she told herself. "He cared so fearfully then, because I was young and good, and he was young and good too. There isn't that kind of love when a girl gets to be 22 and knows life. Love at 19 is a beautiful illusion."

Sometimes Sybil felt as if she had died with John Lawrence and been reincarnated within herself, and, having died, had gone on living. So that there had been two Sybil Thorne—and one was dead. Perhaps the girl John loved wandered with him in Elysian fields—or slept by his side in a soldier's grave. And this girl Craig wanted to marry—she wasn't really the girl John Lawrence loved. Then what if she did marry Craig? And bore him children? John Lawrence wouldn't care. What do the dead want with bodies? "Crimson lips to kiss and skin to touch."

Shivering, she turned to Craig. "You know about my sweetheart," she told him. "John Lawrence, who was killed in the war. There's never been anybody else but John—not really. I love John, Craig—love him still."

She put her hand on her heart. "I mean it's here I love him. And that's silly and sentimental most likely. It's a state of mind I suppose—that sort of love. It's not like—like passion. Maybe it's not so healthy. But there it is."

"I love you too, Craig. And—of course there's my body, Craig. Whatever's happened to my soul, there's still that. Sometimes I think bodies don't count very much. But probably they do. . . . Could you be satisfied, Craig, with a girl whose love was—was—sort of divided?"

Happily she paused. It was hard getting it into words. And Craig caught her hands that fluttered so fleetly, and kissed her tear-drenched eyes. "I should never," he murmured, "be jealous of a dead man."

"Then," she said, "I will marry you." "Oh, my God!" he cried, and took her in his arms and smothered her with his caresses. "When, Sybil, when?"

"Right away," she told him. "Whenever you choose." And she smiled very sweetly upon him because she was thinking of her father. But of course Craig did not listen to Craig's proposal? There's tragedy in the next chapter, and, on the heels of Death, a marriage feast draws near.

know that. He only knew she looked transfixed. "Now take me home," she commanded. "I want to tell daddy."

It was dark when they reached the house. One of those soft, moist darknesses of early Spring. Piercing the dampness—throwing strange, blurred radiance—a row of cars stood at the curb, their dimmed lights glowing sepulchral. Sybil pointed a shaking finger. "Dr. Parker!" she whispered. "Daddy's doctor. And those other cars, and the house all lighted up. . . . Daddy's dead, Craig."

She clutched his shoulder in a spasm of agonized terror. Her face grew white and frozen. The door opened and a great arc of yellow light spread from the hall over the lawn. "They're coming, Craig—the doctors. They've left. Daddy because he's dead."

Perhaps the girl John loved wandered with him in Elysian fields—or slept by his side in a soldier's grave. And this girl Craig wanted to marry—she wasn't really the girl John Lawrence loved. Then what if she did marry Craig? And bore him children? John Lawrence wouldn't care. What do the dead want with bodies? "Crimson lips to kiss and skin to touch."

Shivering, she turned to Craig. "You know about my sweetheart," she told him. "John Lawrence, who was killed in the war. There's never been anybody else but John—not really. I love John, Craig—love him still."

She put her hand on her heart. "I mean it's here I love him. And that's silly and sentimental most likely. It's a state of mind I suppose—that sort of love. It's not like—like passion. Maybe it's not so healthy. But there it is."

"I love you too, Craig. And—of course there's my body, Craig. Whatever's happened to my soul, there's still that. Sometimes I think bodies don't count very much. But probably they do. . . . Could you be satisfied, Craig, with a girl whose love was—was—sort of divided?"

Happily she paused. It was hard getting it into words. And Craig caught her hands that fluttered so fleetly, and kissed her tear-drenched eyes. "I should never," he murmured, "be jealous of a dead man."

"Then," she said, "I will marry you." "Oh, my God!" he cried, and took her in his arms and smothered her with his caresses. "When, Sybil, when?"

"Right away," she told him. "Whenever you choose." And she smiled very sweetly upon him because she was thinking of her father. But of course Craig did not

Moslems In Holy Land Have Highest Birth Rate

Jerusalem—(AP)—According to the latest census returns, the Holy Land stands high on the list of the countries with a large child population. In 1925, the Palestinian birth rate figure stood at 493 to every 10,000 inhabitants, whilst Egypt, known for its high birth rate and with a far lower percentage of European population, only registered 428 births for the same year and the same number of inhabitants, and even Russia with its populous families had a birth rate of but 409.

The Palestinian birth figure is almost three times that of Sweden which only averages 175 births to every 10,000 of the population, and is more than two and a half times that of its Mandatory, Great Britain with its 133 births to every 1,000 of the population. Moreover, the Palestinian birth rate is over double that of the United States, which stands at 228 per 10,000 of the country's population. But even compared with Italy and Japan, both countries with a high birth rate the Holy Land retains its lead.

Nor is the high figure for 1925 merely accidental. The preceding birth rate of 513 per 10,000 of the population, a figure that was even eclipsed in 1926, when it rose to 534. It was only in 1927 that there was a slight decline, to 504 per 10,000.

Principally, it is the Moslem section of the population that is responsible for this high birth rate which, in their case, reached the figure of 561 per 10,000 last year, with the Christian and Jewish sections following at a considerable interval with 389 and 351 births respectively to every 10,000.

ATWATER KENT RADIO

- and why

RECEIVER No. 2,000,000 has passed its final tests with honor in the fifteen-acre Atwater Kent factory. It is a Model 40—the compact 1929 all-electric which is going now into more homes than any other radio. . . . It took four years to make the first million Atwater Kent receivers. It has taken less than two years to make the second million. The demand for these fine, dependable instruments has doubled in two years.

Yes, and in the past year it has trebled. Last week 33,000 families, with many kinds to choose from, decided to let Atwater Kent Radio tell them whether it's Hoover or Smith on election night. . . . Mere bigness of the Atwater Kent factory, mere ability to produce a great many sets, wouldn't make 2,000,000 sets sell. There must be something else. There is something else. It was summed up by a man who said: "Atwater Kent started out with the intention of making fine radio, of making it by modern methods so that the price could be kept low, and of making it so carefully that every Atwater Kent set when placed in a home would make everybody who heard it want to have one like it. . . . That was his intention—he has stuck to it."

The result of six years of "sticking to it" you will find in the 1929 Atwater Kent all-electric—every one a blood brother of the 2,000,000th set—at any Atwater Kent dealer's NOW.

RIVER NAVIGATION HEAVY LAST MONTH, ENGINEER REPORTS

Traffic Totalling 476,660 Tons Much Heavier Than Same Month in 1927

Navigation on the Fox river between De Pere and Portage was heavier in September than in the same month a year ago, according to A. F. Everett, government engineer. The heaviest traffic was reported between the locks at De Pere and Menasha. There was very little traffic on the river above the locks at Menasha, although it was much heavier than a year ago. During the past month the locks between De Pere and Portage were opened 3,197 times, while last year during September they were opened 3,336 times. Approximately 476,660 tons of freight passed through the locks last month, while a year ago 458,237 tons of freight was transported from De Pere to points along the river. The passenger traffic showed the greatest increase during the past month as compared to the same month a year ago. Seven hundred and forty seven passengers passed through the locks during September while a year ago 236 passengers were transported. The increase of 511 passengers is due to the number of boat excursions conducted by various societies in the valley during the past month, according to Mr. Everett. Commercial fishermen navigating the river between De Pere and Kimberly also account for the increase.

Stage Fright Greatest Trial Of Prima Donna

BY ADELAIDE KEER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
New York — (P) — A plate of spaghetti in a restaurant across the street was the nearest Rosa Ponselle, who will sing in Appleton, Wis., this winter, came to the Metropolitan opera house until Verdi's opera "La Forza del Destino"—The Force of Destiny—tossed her before its footlights.

Today, ten years later, she ranks among the foremost prima donnas of the world. Monday evening, Oct. 29, she will open the Metropolitan's season in "L'Amore del Tre Re (The Love of Three Kings)."

Miss Ponselle was fairly catapulted from vaudeville to opera. One day the Italian girl was singing "An Old Fashioned Wife" in variety theaters; six months later trilling the arias of grand opera.

Before that even vaudeville had been a high rung in her ladder of ambition. And the building of that ladder's steps had come hard. The church choir, a village motion picture theatre, the vaudeville stage—each in the face of her father's opposition. Ponselle, padre, had no sympathy with women in careers.

When she found herself in the robes of Leonora for her debut in "La Forza del Destino," she dropped on her knees before the crucifix in her dressing room, a tiny cross clasped in one hand. And that habit remains today. Rosa Ponselle never leaves her dressing room without spending those few minutes on her knees before the crucifix. Never steps on the stage without a small image of the cross about her somewhere. Never leaves the wings without making its sign.

Appearance before the footlights does not end the singer's difficulties. State fright is her greatest trial. The first strains of the overture bring ice to her veins, palsy to her knees. A hundred times she paces the length of her dressing room until her cue is sounded.

Singing, she declares, "is both my greatest suffering and my greatest enjoyment."

Even the fall of the final curtain fails to end that nervous strain. Lying in bed at night she goes over

John sez he wants to back out now. Oh, maybe you forgot I had a bet to give John a wheelbarrel ride on College ave. from arew to walnutstreet. If Hoover is elected. If Smiths win I get the ride. The loser must stop every block and holler hurra for Smith—or visa versa.
now Johns got cold feet and wants to call the bet off and I don't know what to do becuz everybody tells me smith is gonna win.

and over the performance. She reviews an aria, repeats a gesture, recalls the color of a single tone to see where it might have been improved.

It is dawn often before she drops asleep. For that reason it is generally noon before she wakes. Then comes lemon juice and hot water served in a big thick china cup, followed by a light breakfast and a stroll along Riverside Drive, her chauffeur zig-zagging a limousine along behind in order not to lose her.

Operas of the old school, particularly Verdi's, are her favorites. "They are real music," she believes, "sustained and sweet. And if music is not musical what's the use of it?"

MAYOR IS INVITED TO CITY OFFICIALS TOUR

Mayor A. C. Rule has received an invitation to sail with the American Cities Officials Tour on March 9 for the Fourth International Congress of Cities at Seville, which opens March 19. The Congress was postponed until this date at the desire of the Spanish government so that it would open coincidentally with the Ibero American Exposition at Seville.

The meeting of the Congress of Cities offers municipal authorities an opportunity of focusing international attention on the work of their particular cities, it is pointed out by C. P. Mills, tour director.

The invitation will be referred to the common council.

SCHUBERT WEEK MAY BE OBSERVED HERE

Notified of his appointment as honor chairman of Schubert Week in this city, Mayor Albert C. Rule has been asked by the Schubert Centennial to arrange for civic exercises in Appleton during the week of Nov. 18 to 25. Mayor Rule is urged to appoint program chairman.

More than 1,000 cities in the United States will take part in the observance, according to the letter received from the Schubert Centennial. The matter will be referred to the common council.

PROFESSORS TO HOLD COURSES AT GREEN BAY

Two courses by Lawrence college professors will be offered at the Green Bay Y. M. C. A. evening school this winter. Prof. A. L. Frazzette of the public speaking department will give a course in public speaking, and Prof. W. L. Crow of the political science department will teach business law.

The school will open Nov. 3, and each of the courses will continue for 17 weeks, meeting on Thursday evening of each week. The public speaking course will be for beginners and also for those who took the same subject in last year's school. The course in business law is so arranged that it will be of benefit to those who took the course in credits and collections last year.

STATE TOURIST TRADE MUCH GREATER IN 1928

Madison—(P)—Tourist travel in Wisconsin this year was from two to three times as great as in 1927, said A. Trac, national executive for the National Parks Highway Association, before the organization's state committee here. He took credit for a great portion of this increase for his organization, which circulated Wisconsin folders and circulars in all middle-western cities this year, as well as in 76 other cities and 21 states and Canada. He said the Madison headquarters cared for 2,463 tourists between July 18 and Sept. 15.

Wadham's 370 —the Year-Round High Test

"370" is the one gasoline that in the right way carries summer starting and summer running straight through the winter.

In the right way, because its quick-starting qualities—known and conceded as long as Wadham's can be remembered—are due to the natural explosiveness of its pure power elements. That is, no light material, useless for power, has been injected to help take the spark at the cost of useful load-carrying.

In the right way it maintains summer running the year round, because it never has dead heavy kerosenish elements — doubly hard to fight against in winter — such as are employed to make up bulk in common gas.

In the right way, because its winter running never has to contend with such dead heavy, incompletely exploding kerosenish elements as are always used by common gas to fill out bulk at the lowest cost of production.

After its quick start, note its quicker warm-up — full power without waiting! That gives the sharpest proof of why it's always Southland with 370. Even on Klondike days.

Our Presidents

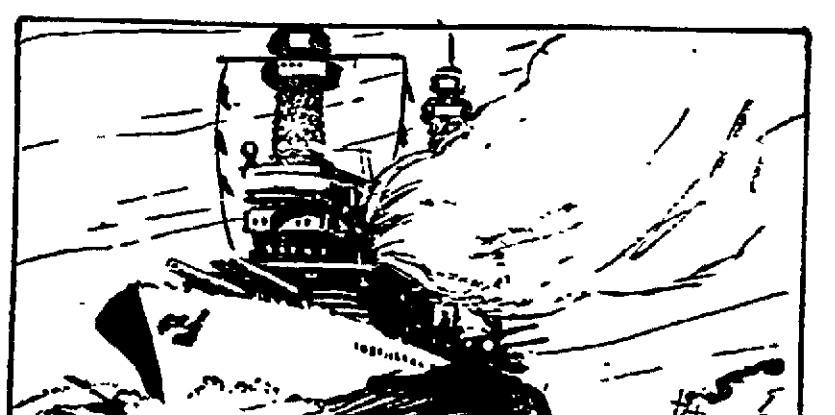

Wilson, in 1912, was feared as too independent by many party leaders, but had a host of firm friends at the Democratic convention. He was nominated only after a bitter struggle, on the forty-sixth ballot. The Republican party was divided between Taft and Roosevelt, and Wilson received 435 electoral votes to 88 for Roosevelt and 8 for Taft.

The seventeenth amendment, making United States senators elective by the people instead of by legislatures became part of the Constitution.

Trouble arose with Mexico over the ill-treatment of American citizens by bandits and we came very close to war. There was no regular government in Mexico at the time, and American bluejackets were sent down to protect Americans. General Pershing headed an expedition into Mexico in pursuit of the bandit Villa, who had raided American properties. (To Be Continued)

INDUSTRY SCHOOL ADDS ADDITIONAL COURSES TO WORK

Institution Honors Requests from Laboring Men for Extra Studies

Kaukauna—Men working in trades and industries in Kaukauna have shown a deep interest in the vocational school and requests have been made to Director W. T. Sullivan for additional courses. Beginning next week, three new classes will start work, and due to the heavy enrollment it will be limited to classes of men in trades.

Monday night a class in pattern making will begin work. The request for this class came from the Molach Machine and Foundry company and the enrollment will be increased by a few men from the railroad shops. This class will be conducted by B. F. Wachholtz, proprietor of the Appleton Pattern Works. Mr. Wachholtz is an expert pattern maker and a trained teacher. Additional tools and equipment have been ordered and everything will be in readiness for the opening night. The class will meet twice a week on Monday and Wednesday evening in the wood working shop of the Vocational school.

A request for a class in sheet metal pattern drafting has been filed by the men in the sheet metal trades in Kaukauna. A class is being organized and will begin work next week. Carl Bartsch, foreman of the sheet metal department for the Haas Hardware company and recognized as one of the best sheet metal layout men in the valley, will have charge of the class. Two meetings a week will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Anyone working at the sheet metal trade is eligible for the class. The class will meet in the drawing room of the Vocational school. There is room for only a few more in the class.

There will also be a class in auto mechanics beginning next week, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. This class will meet in the auto mechanics room in the High school building. The class will be in charge of a competent mechanic and ignition man and the enrollment will be restricted to men working in the auto repair trade.

Mr. Sullivan, director of the vocational school, advises all men interested in these courses to enroll at once. Enrollments may be made by telephone if the person cannot call at his office in the municipal building. Enrollments may also be made when the class starts.

LADIES BOWLING LEAGUE ROLLS WEEKLY MATCHES

Kaukauna—A. Thelen rolled 148 for high score in the Ladies Bowling league matches on Hilgenberg Alleys Thursday night. K. Jansen rolled high total score of 347. HIGH SCHOOL SQUAD TO MEET TWO RIVERS

Reports from River City indicate Team Will Rely on Passing

Kaukauna—With the team all ready for another win, Coach Elmer Ott will take his Kaukauna high school griders to Two Rivers Saturday for a Northeastern Wisconsin interschool conference game. Two Rivers is considered as one of the strongest teams in the conference this year. Last year Kaukauna met Two Rivers for the deciding game of the season, in which the local team won the league championship.

Reports from the river city show that they have a strong passing attack, and this is one of the places where the local team is nine too strong. With three veteran backfield men in the game, however, fans feel confident that the attack will be stopped. Esler, Miller and Luedtke are the veteran backfield men and should be able to stop any attempt of the Two Rivers team to win by an aerial route.

Only one regular is on the injured list at the present time. Luke VanLieshout was several cracked ribs, but they are almost as good as ever again and he may see action in the game Saturday.

DISTRICT MEETING OF K. OF C.'S IS CALLED

MODERN EDUCATION IS GUIDED GROWTH, ASSOCIATION HEARS

State President of Parent-teacher Association Is Speaker

Kaukauna—"Modern education is guided growth, and parenthood is the keynote to the Parent-Teacher association," said Mrs. George Zachow, state president of Parent-Teacher association of Milwaukee, in her address before the local Parent-Teacher association Thursday evening in the high school. She gave a history of the association and pointed out that it was started by mothers. Later the fathers joined and after that the teachers became involved until at the present time there is an organization in every state except Nevada.

She said the emblem of the association was the Oak tree. She also gave some subjects for programs for other meetings.

Mrs. Edward Zekind was elected president of the local association. The next meeting will be Nov. 23 in the high school. A report of the local boy scouts, which the association is sponsoring, was presented by Olin G. Dyer.

The meeting was opened with community singing, followed by the business meeting. A reading was presented by Miss Lucille Smith, high school dramatic teacher. The Men's Chorus sang a few numbers, and Mrs. G. Zachow's talk followed. Community singing ended the meeting, after which lunch was served.

WOMAN WRITER FINDS HEALTH ON DOORSTEP

Vincennes, Indiana—Down the centuries the cry—"The King is dead; long live the King"—has come to us as the ringing call of the unbroken reign of royalty. In this democratic day and age it has a strange sound. But Miss Maude Moran, 1306 Viro Street, poet and composer, has had occasion to use it in a very fitting manner—the change of an old habit for a new. She tells about it below:

"From childhood, I have been a slave to that dominating tyrant, King Caffeine. When other children asked for milk or candy I demanded caffeine. The habit, thus formed, grew stronger every passing year and increasingly greater quantities were required to satisfy me.

"I am a composer of music and writer of verse, which is usually written to order. I used the brain-stimulating effect of caffeine to keep me pitched to the highest key of mental activity. Of course, I had to pay the price of such immoderate indulgence. Nervousness and insomnia caused spiritual depression and my poems and melodies took on a melancholy tone which detracted much from their suitable qualities. Sometimes, I worked on into the wee small hours of the morning because I dreamed going to bed, knowing that I would be unable to sleep.

"Thinking my brain work was the cause of my sleeplessness, I never once blamed caffeine until a small sample of Postum was left at my door. I prepared the sample according to directions and it tasted so good, I purchased a large-sized package the next day. I continued using Postum

Instead of caffeine and soon my nerves were in fine shape and I could sleep, for which I am devoutly thankful.

"The result is Old King Caffeine has been dethroned and young King Postum reigns in his stead and I am one of his most loyal and devoted subjects."

Take your own case!

Probably, like Miss Moran, you have blamed overwork as the cause of your sleeplessness or nervousness. You have never thought to look into your diet—to suspect that much less than the well-known caffeine you take with your meals could be the source of jangled nerves and sleepless nights.

Try this test—then decide! Make Postum your mealtime drink for thirty days; in place of coffee. Millions prefer Postum's rich flavor to that of any other mealtime drink.

Postum is made of roasted whole wheat and bran. A drink without a trace of any artificial stimulant. Nothing to attack nerves and heart, to cause sleeplessness or indigestion.

Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, prepared instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, made by boiling. Both cost much less than other mealtime drinks—only one-half cent a cup. Order today—start your 30-day test!

25 JOIN NEW BOYS' CLUB AT KIMBERLY

Bunk Houses Used for Road Construction Donated to Organization

Special to Post-Crescent

Kimberly—A Boys' club has been organized in this village. Practically all of the boys in the high school have become members, the enrollment now numbers 25. The club will be largely recreational and interesting activities have already been planned. The Kimberly-Clark corporation has donated bunk houses formerly occupied by groups of workers engaged in road construction to the club and at the present time the boys are engaged in salvaging the lumber from the buildings. When that work is complete they will construct a building for club purposes near Sunset Point. At present the buildings are erected by George Berger and Joseph E. Roberts. Once the buildings are erected Mr. Berger will be in charge of the boys one night a week, Paul Loschmidt, another; Dud Courchane a third, and the members of the Wm. Verhagen American Legion post will take charge of the boys once a week. At all times the recreational activities and club work will be under the supervision of some responsible person.

GIRL COCKTAIL CHAMPION

girl in her teens was adjudged the best cocktail mixer in a contest held recently at Biarritz, France. It was a society event, and there were more than 100 entries. The vote was for the most original flavors. The work stood behind a bar and mixed their entrées as rapidly as possible, passing them to the spectators, who voted on the merits of each concoction. Some of the judges became rosy in their decisions as the contest and sampling progressed. The prize was a miniature cocktail bar to be fitted in an automobile.

ITALIANS MAKE AUTO-ENGLISH

In announcing the November international automobile rally on the Italian Riviera, the Italians devised a new "English." In the book of rules in English they announced that the "completeness value" of the prizes totaled 50,000 lire, and the "participants" must arrive on November 10, but the really Big Event would be the "defilement" of the machines taking part on the following day. At the same time a Riviera newspaper mentioned that among those present at a dinner party was the well-known English literary gentleman M.M. Somers et Maugham.

2 PRACTITIONERS BEFORE HIGH COURT FAILED POLITICALLY

Davis and Hughes Were Both Defeated for Presidential Office

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Washington—It is a noteworthy circumstance that the two leading practitioners before the supreme court of the United States are men defeated in a presidential election, one a democrat and the other a republican.

John W. Davis, whose presidential hopes were smothered under the Coolidge landslide four years ago, is rated as the leader among court. Second only to Davis in the number of cases in which he appears as counsel is Charles Evans Hughes, who left the bench in 1916 to make the race for the White House against Woodrow Wilson.

DAVIS PLEADINGS BRIEF
Davis has established a remarkable record for supreme court work. Hardly a week goes by when the court is in session that does not see him down from New York to present an argument. He also is credited by court attaches with habits of brevity in argument to which they are not accustomed.

Under rules of court an hour is allowed each side for oral argument of cases on the regular docket, subject, of course, to extensions of time where deemed necessary by the court itself due to the intricacy of the matters involved or the number of parties joined in the proceeding.

Davis rarely takes up as much as half of the hour allotted to him, even where he has no other counsel with whom he must share that time. Hughes is not so concise, although he, too, is disinclined to string an argument out or wander into remote fields of reasoning.

This habit of brevity no doubt is appreciated by the justices. Their time is valuable and crowded to a degree that imposes heavy burdens on their advanced years. Many of the rules under which they operate and to which counsel are held rigidly are designed specifically to save unnecessary physical wear and tear on the members of this highest tribunal of American justice. A note attached to the printed book of rules, for example, requires that briefs shall be printed of a fixed size and or glazed paper, easily led to make for easy reading and in clear type "never smaller than small cap or 12-point" to relieve the eye strain. Other rules require a proper digest of every brief and the note adds of the judges:

"They must examine more than a thousand (briefs) each term, besides examining records."

CLERKS RELIEVE STRAIN
Law clerks of the justices help in the routine of getting cases ready for study by their respective chiefs. Chief Justice Taft and Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone each has formed the habit of taking a law honor graduate of his own alma mater into his office for a year as a stepping stone to the young lawyer's future at the bar. Yale men get the Taft billet, Harvard law graduates the Holmes and Brandeis clerkships and Columbia is similarly favored by Justice Stone.

Too quick a return to practice before the court of one of these former law clerks caused an amendment to the court rules this year forbidding their appearance in any capacity until two years have

FINISH CONSTRUCTION WORK ON EUREKA DAM

Work on the government dam at Eureka, situated about 25 miles above Oshkosh, has been completed, according to A. F. Everett, government engineer. The dam has been repaired by putting in new timber and stone reinforcements. The coffer dam used while operations were in progress will be removed this week.

COMMISSION MAY CLOSE SEASONS

Conservation Group May Not, However, Open Season on Any Game

Madison—(AP)—The Wisconsin conservation commission has power to close seasons on any species of animals, but cannot open seasons or shift them about.

L. E. Nagler, conservation director said he wished this emphasized. "The commission has the power to close seasons when it is readily necessary in order to secure perpetuation of a species or the maintenance of an adequate supply. But opening seasons is a legislative function, it is the changing of them," he said.

During the past few weeks the commission has been flooded with requests, petitions, and suggestions on opening seasons here or there or changing dates of some seasons.

Moving the deer season forward is one of the favorite subjects. It is opening during the first ten days of December, and many find fault with these dates in the communications. Two of the most prominent reasons are that it is difficult to reach the deer country at that time, and that with heavy snow the deer have already been herded for the winter, so it is almost slaughter to kill them.

The change is indicative of the scrupulous care taken by every member of the court to stand aloof from any case in which there could be the slightest suspicion of personal interest.

NERVOUS WOMAN FINDS RELIEF

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rose, Kansas—"I was so weak and nervous and had such a tired, worn-out feeling that I had to go to bed. Friends who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound told me how much good it had done them so I thought I would give it a trial. I could tell a difference after the first bottle. It has done me worlds of good. I am gaining in strength and recommending it and Lydia E. Pinkham's Pills for Constipation."—GOLDIE McFADDEN, Rose, Kansas.
